Demo Gets Nixon Nod To Court

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon nominated U.S. Appeals Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., a South Carolina Democrat, to the U.S. Supreme Court today succeeding Abe Fortas who resigned under fire.

The announcement was made by Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler at the White House press headquarters in Laguna Beach, 17 miles north of the Nixon compound here. Neither Haynsworth nor the President was present for the announcement.

Nixon's first court appointment was that of Chief Justice Warren Berger to replace the retiring Earl Warren. Berger was quickly confirmed by the Senate and took his place on the nation's highest bench before the court adjourned for the summer.

FORTAS DISCLOSURE

In his 12 years on the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals bench, which covers Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia and the Carolinas, Haynsworth has been frequently on the minority side of opinions.

In his early opinions, he indicated his belief that the Supreme Court had not intended that school desegregation should be compulsory. In later decisions he has modified this view.

HAYNSWORTH DIFFERS

Haynsworth also differed from his fellow justices who ruled that hospitals accepting federal, funds could not maintain segregated facilities.

By contrast he recently handed down a decision favorable to militant Negro civil rights advocate H. Rap Brown in an extradition case, and he once ruled against the North Carolina Dental Society which allowed white-only membership.

In the field of criminal arrests and prosecution Haynsworth has sided with the police. He said he favored more police power in the region of search and seizure.

But he also had said that prisoners should have greater rights in challenging their convictions through habeas corpus proceedings.

'BYRNES DEMOCRAT'

Haynsworth has been described as a "Jimmy Byrnes Democrat." He supported the presidential candidacy of Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956. Eisenhower appointed him to the appeals court in 1957 and he became chief judge of the Fourth Circuit Court in 1967.

Haynsworth was born Oct. 30, 1912, in Greenville, S.C., where he still resides. He graduated from Furman University and Harvard Law School and returned to Greenville in private practice. Before his appointment to the bench he was

A.F. To Discharge Guard; Relieves Chief Of Security

MAJ. DONALD H. TIDWELL

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

The Air Force will give a medical discharge to a mentally disturbed airman who guarded Hamilton Air Force Base's secret nuclear arsenal, military sources at Hamilton and in Washington, D.C., have told the Independent-Journal.

Meanwhile, the base commandant, Col. Michael J. Stublarec, removed Maj. Donald H. Tidwell from duty as the base's security chief. And it was learned that a high-ranking Hamilton commander flew to Washington during the weekend for talks with top Pentagon officials about the first public disclosures of the presence of nuclear weapons at the Marin base. A complete review of the base's security system also was under way.

"They blew it," a Pentagon source said of Hamilton officials. "There's no chance — absolutely no chance, baby — that they'll court-martial that guy (Sgt. Robert V. Ballou). The press would make a circus of it and the brass is already past the boiling point."

The disclosure of the nuclear weapons was made during a pretrial hearing for Ballou, 22, the Corvallis, Ore., airman who was diagnosed by an Army psychiatrist as a "passive agressive personality." He had been accused of assaulting a superior with a loaded and cocked carbine and a .38-caliber pistol.

Stublarec was due to get the transcript of Ballou's two-day hearing today or tomorrow along with recommendations of investigating officer John D. McQuaid Jr. on whether Ballou should face a court-martial.

Although Hamilton spokesmen said no decision would be made until after Stublarec studied the transcript and McQuaid's report, sources said the base commander is under heavy Pentagon pressure to rule against a court-martial and give Ballous a discharge.

Ballou's attorneys, Air Force Capt. Frederick T. Graham and Robert D. Carrow of Novato today formally asked Stublarec to grant Ballou a general discharge, which is neither honorable nor dishonorable and is made "for the convenience of the service."

Tidwell, 37-year-old security chief since February, testified at the hearing that he ignored the psychiatric recommendations on Ballou and two other airmen also guarding the nuclear storage area. He was relieved of command at a meeting of top Hamilton brass early Friday afternoon.

Houseguest Dies In Larkspur Blaze

Jeanne MacMillan, 50, was found at about 4:25 p.m. in the library of her six-bedroom home at 3 Walnut Avenue, and was apparently in a state of shock, according to Fire Chief William C. Shurtz.

For Mrs. MacMillan, it was the second tragedy in less than a year. Her husband, Bryce Lawrence MacMillan, salesman for a wholesale liquor firm, was killed last November in an auto accident on Highway 101 near Waldo Grade.

Cause of the $20,000 fire reported at 4:20 p.m., was still under investigation today, the chief said. It was believed to have started in a second-floor hallway.

They found Mrs. MacMillan in a corner of the library and asked if there were anyone else in the structure, the fire chief said. Mrs. MacMillan said she was the only one, that Poe had left at about 10 a.m.

Firemen searched the remainder of the building that was not on fire, then at about 7 p.m., found Poe's body fully clothed

Camille's Gulf Death Count At 15

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Hurricane Camille's death toll spiraled quickly to 15 today as daylight brought the full impact of the murderous Gulf storm's sweep across the Mississippi coast.

Mississippi Civil Defense Director Bill Harvey in Jackson said there were 10 known dead in Biloxi, two in Gulfport, two at Moss Point and one at Ocean Springs. All of the towns dot the coast along a long stretch of white sand beach.

A Coast Guard helicopter flew over the hurricane impact area this morning and reported the stretch from Long Beach, Miss., to Pass Christian, Miss. "is flattened."

None of the dead was identified and Civil Defense officials in Gulfport feared they would find "many more bodies" as the search deepens into the bay area back of Biloxi.

The Coast Guard also toured southeastern Louisiana, where Camille's 150 mile per hour winds first moved inland, and reported ships aground, levees broken and buildings destroyed.

The Red Cross reported housing 70,000 evacuees in shelters in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

There were reports of high water in the area south of New Orleans.

Gulfport and Biloxi, also difficult to reach by phone were without electricity, gas or drinking water. A Gulfport hospital reported treating about 50 persons, none apparently injured seriously.

"It looks pretty awful to me," a Columbia policeman said.

The storm spent most of its fury on the long strip of white beach along the Gulf Coast from Gulfport to Biloxi. Its eye moved inland before midnight and sent waves soaring over the highway and destroyed 40 of the 250 buildings on the big Naval Seabee Base north of Gulfport.

Biloxi Mayor Daniel Guice estimated damages during the night at $10 million to Biloxi. But after a daylight inspection this morning he said "that's a very conservative estimate."

There were also reports that could not be confirmd of flooding in Pascagoula, near the Alabama line, and fires in Bay St. Louis, on the other end of the coast near the Louisiana line. But the Jackson weather bureau said the two towns were hard hit and the town of Waveland, between New Orleans and Gulfport, was completely destroyed.

Pascagoula is the site of a big oil refinery and the Ingalls Shipbuilding Co., has a submarine building plant there. The nuclear submarine Puffer was commissioned at Pascagoula last week.

Alabama's thin Gulf strip and the northern Panhandle of Florida escaped the battering that had been expected. The storm swooped in from the Gulf, rumbled over the southeastern tip of Louisiana, skirted 60 miles east of New Orleans, then thundered into the Mississippi coast.

Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen made an air tour over southern parts of the state this morning to survey damage. There were reports that water from the Mississippi River lapped over a 12-foot levee at Buras, south of New Orleans.

Meanwhile, the season's fourth hurricane, Debbie, was cutting across the Atlantic along a path similar to Camille's, although Debbie was still far at sea.

Officials at the Nationla Hurricane Center in Miami reported Debbie's location near latitude 19.4 north, longitude 54.0, or less than 800 miles east of San Juan, P.R. She was packing winds of more than 100 miles per hour, but scientists said they planned to seed the hurricane with silver iodide in an experiment aimed at blunting her fury.

S. Africa's Blaiberg Rejects Heart, Dies

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) —Dr. Christiaan N. Banard confirmed today that Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the world's longest surviving heart graft patient, died because his heart failed under the onslaught of rejection.

Barnard told a news conference at Cape Town University School of Medicine the day after his famous patient died that results of an autopsy performed within hours of the 60-year-old retired dentist's death were not yet known, but final analysis would show that the cause of his death was rejection.

"We always felt that heart transplants were not a cure but a palliative," he said. "Eventually, the transplanted heart will be damaged so much by rejection that it will not be able to function any more."

In Blaiberg's case, his cardiac team slowed down the rejection process for 563 days.

"We feel now rather like a batsman who hopes he will not be out with the first ball . . . when he is eventually out he is sad about it, although he might have done much better than expected."

The death certificate said Blaiberg died of heart failure brought on by failure of his kidneys and pneumonia.

The certificate was signed by Dr. Marius Barnard, younger brother of the pioneer transplant surgeon who gave Blaiberg his new heart nineteen and one-half months ago on Jan. 2, 1968. The younger Barnard is also a member of the Groote Schuur Hospital heart transplant team.

Blaiberg died yesterday at 7:40 p.m.

Blaiberg is survived by his wife, Eileen, and a 21-year-old daughter, Jill.

Mrs. Blaiberg said her husband was not in pain at the time of his death.

"But he was suffering," she told newsmen. "He was feeling very uncomfortable. Yesterday he hardly ate anything and I left the hospital about 7 o'clock to go and make him some cold chicken consomme. I was just home when the hospital phoned me and told me that he had died. I could not believe it.

"He went suddenly. He just asked for a glass of water and died as he took it."

Blaiberg's funeral was to take place at a Cape Town crematorium late today with a rabbi of the Jewish Reform congregation conducting the service.

Mrs. Blaiberg wept as she told newsmen her husband's last words to her, less than an Marin's total assessed valuation, including the unincorporated area, has been set at $585.3, an increase of 4 per cent over the last fiscal year. Marin, though the 55th California county in area, is 21st in total assessed valuation out of 58.

Young Disappointed In Naming Of Southerner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whitney M. Young Jr., executivie director of the National Urban League, said today the appointment of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court was "disappointing" but he expressed hope that "the elevation to the highest court would broaden the judge's viewpoints."

Young said he had expected that President Richard M. Nixon "would appoint someone of more pronounced liberal credentials to maintain the balance on the court.

Stanford Heart Patient Lives Only 10 Hours

STANFORD (AP) — A Phoenix, Ariz., man lived only 10 hours after becoming Stanford University Hospital's 16th heart transplant patient.

Doctors said Herman Scales, 54, died yesterday.

Scales underwent a four and one-half hour operation late Saturday by a team of surgeons headed by Dr. Norman E. Shumway. The donor of the heart was not named.

After retiring as a Detroit nursing home operator last year, Scales moved with his wife to Phoenix.

Scales was the 142nd person in the world known to have received a heart transplant.

Caltech Seeking Radical Students

SAN PEDRO (UPI)—The California Institute of Technology would welcome more radical students because it is not as advanced politically and socially as many other schools, according to the director of admissions.

Peter Miller, back from a Pacific vacation, said one of the problems at Caltech is that most of the students are all very much alike.

"Intellectually it is terribly exciting, terriby stimulating, if you are an engineer or scientist," Miller said. "But if we could get a little more interest in political and social activities, it would make for a more lively campus."

Festival In New York Ends On Rocky Note—Two Die

WHITE LAKE, N.Y. (UPI) — Thousands of young people formed a sodden procession today leading from the Woodstock Music and Art Fair, the trouble-plagued weekend pop extravaganza.

Two young men died and scores of persons were injured during the festival, which began Friday. Raymond R. Mizsak, 17, of Trenton, N.J., was crushed Saturday as he lay in a sleeping bag in the path of a tractor. A youth still unidentified died yesterday at a hospital from drug overdose, thought to be heroin.

ENDS AT DAWN

The slow-moving persons in the vanguard, already haggard from the effects of an earlier rainstorm and shortages of food, water and other necessities, headed home to the accompaniment of music from the last concert, which continued on toward dawn today.

The police and promoters estimated 450,000 persons gathered here at the peak of the festival late Saturday and early yesterday. That assembly, three times the audience initially expected, overtaxed the half-completed facilities and made much of the weekend uncomfortable.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

The police reported on traffic conditions with cautious optimism early today. They restricted cars on all roads in this Catskill Mountains area, allowing only traffic heading away from the festival. Traffic was heavy but moving.

Many were expected to remain on the farm until midweek or later. Medical officials who set up first aid stations and a field hospital beneath a pink and white tent near the performing area said they would keep the facilities open.

Three thousand people were treated for assorted injuries during the fair. Four hundred suffered unfavorable reactions to drugs, including three young men in critical condition in a hospital. Most of the drug problems were "bad trips" from poor-quality LSD being sold in the area.

Search Switches To Canada For Mass Murder Suspect

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A manhunt for a red-haired suspect in the mass murders of actress Sharon Tate and four other persons spread through western Canada today.

Thomas Steven Harrigan, 23, was described as a "hippie type" and a known narcotics addict by Los Angeles police, who said he was wanted for murder.

Also sought were three other "hippie types" believtd traveling with Harrigan somewhere in the Canadian provinces of British Columbia and Alberta.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police were concentrating the dragnet around Edmonton, Alberta, although there was no indication why the group was thought to be in that area.

Homicide detectives would say only they are investigating the "narcotics aspects" of the perplexing case. However, reports mounted the grisly slayings were connected with drugs.

The Los Angeles Times reported that friends of the victims told detectives that narcotics were delivered to the home for the use of two of the victims, Polish film director Voityck Frokowsky, 37, and coffee heiress Abigail Folger, 26.

Israel Reports Heavy Toll From Saboteurs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab saboteurs and guerrillas have accounted for almost a third of Israeli's army fatalities since the 1967 war, army sources said here today.

In the period up to Aug. 9, 349 Israeli soldiers had been killed, including 110 by "the actions of terrorists" the informant said. Of 1,248 Israeli soldiers injured in action, one-third were wounded by Afab irregulars, they added.

The figures indicate the Arab irregulars who infiltrate Israeli-held territory from Jordan, Lebanon or Syria and others who strike in the refugee-packed Gaza Strip are having greater success than generally believed.

On the civilian side, 38 of 56 were killed by sabotage acts since the six-day war. And four-fifths of the 501 civilians wounded were the victims of sabotage attacks.

The army sources said there had been significant recent increase in the number of Arab sabotage attacks, but each day brings fresh reports of Israeli trucks being blown up by mines, hand grenades thrown at troops or irregulars firing rockets or mortars at Israeli settlements.

Israel is currently being taken to task at the United Nations for an air attack on Lebanon last week in which the Lebanese claim four villagers were killed. The Israelis say they were hitting back at Arab guerrilla camps which are responsible for dozens of recent sabotage acts on Israel's northern frontier.

In action yesterday, Israeli jets flew across the Suez Canal to silence Egyptian artillery, hit positions near the northern end of Great Bitter Lake and returned safely, the army reported.

A spokesman said: "The Egyptian shelling began at mid-afternoon and gradually increased in intensity. We tried to silence the Egyptian guns with return fire, but when that failed the planes were called in."

The army also announced that one soldier was killed when his military vehicle struck a mine in the occupied Golan Heights of Syria and another was wounded when a vehicle hit a mine in the Gaza Strip.

An Arab sabotage squad tried Saturday night to penetrate Israel in the northern Jordan River Valley, the spokesman said, but Israeli troops intercepted it and killed one guerrilla.

Plane Returns From Albania

ATHENS (AP) — An Olympic Airways plane returned to Athens yesterday with 24 passengers and three crew members aboard after a Greek doctor and his family forced the pilot to fly to Albania.

The family—Dr. Vassilis Tsironis, his wife, Barbara, and their two sons, 10 and 12—remained in Albania.

Passengers aboard the airliner when it was hijacked Saturday said Tsironis and his wife carried pistols and one of the boys pulled a knife as they entered the cockpit to take control of the plane. Albanian jet fighters met the plane as it crossed into Albania and forced it to land in a field near the port city of Vlore.

Penelope Tsakanikas of Astoria, N.Y., said Tsironis stepped out of the plane, fired two shots in the air and announced: "I am Dr. Vassilis Tsironis, and I have put you to this trouble in the name of democracy and freedom."

Miss Tsakanikas said the passengers were well treated in the Communist country and were taken on a tour of Vlore before their return flight.

Collins Will Hang Up His Spacesuit

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11 astronaut Michael Collins, the man who orbited the moon while his crewmates made history, says he is hanging up his spacesuit and will take a nonflying job in the space program if it's offered to him.

Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., another of the Apollo 11 crew and the second man to walk the moon, also casts doubt on his specific future plans.

The third crewman, Apollo 11 commander Neil A. Armstrong, says he would serve the space program "in any capacity," including space flight.

"Apollo 11 is my last flight," Collins said yesterday during a televised interview on the CBS program "Face The Nation."

"I think it's difficult to keep up year after year, to really approach the training, the living in simulators, with the zeal that you have to in order to do a good job," Collins said. "Of course there are a lot of encroachments on my family life which I have not enjoyed."

Collins said he intends to contribute whatever he can to the space program in another job, but the 38-year-old Air Force colonel said he didn't know what that would be.

Aldrin said he expects to continue in the program, but has not decided about going back into space.

"Whether I'll remain on flight status or not, I haven't had the opportunity to make that decision yet and we have not been in a rush in making up our mind as to what we'd like to do," he said.

Armstrong said he and Aldrin were determined to land on the moon despite alarms given out by their on-board computer during the final seconds of flight to the lunar surface, but they were ready to give it up if necessary.

"We were concerned primarily for the success of the flight," he said. "We did not want to come back without landing, but we were certainly willing to do that and that would certainly be much better than not to come back at all."

The Apollo 11 commander said he could not clear up a grammatical question about what his first words were as he set foot on the moon.

Listeners on the ground heard him say, "That's one small step for man." Armstrong said later he thought he said "a man."

"I can't confirm the words," he said. "I knew what my intentions were and I thought I said those words. I can't prove that."

Armstrong said he expects man to someday go to Mars and to other planets.

Mies van der Rohe, born in Aachen, Germany, was the last director of the famous Bauhaus School of Modern Design in Dessau and Berlin from 1930 to 1933.

HIGH RANKING

In the modern architectural field, Mies van der Rohe was ranked with Frank Lloyd Wright, architect of Marin County's civic center, Walter Gropius and Le Corbusier.

Although he had no formal education as an architect, he learned the rudiments of the profession from his father, a master mason.

'LESS IS MORE'

As an architect, his motto was "Less is more." He illustrated it with the sparse appearance of many of his buildings, using exposed steel and reinforced concrete skeletons, great expanses of glass and panels of brick.

Mies van der Rohe was appointed director of the Bauhaus in the latter part of 1930. Under pressure from the Nazis, he moved the Bauhaus from Dessau to Berlin in October 1932, and finally closed it in 1933.

ARMOUR INSTITUTE

He visited the United States in 1937 and was persuaded a year later by John A. Holabird, a Chicago architect, to join the Armour Institute faculty.

One of the outstanding architectural undertakings of his career was the design and construction of a new campus and buildings for the Illinois Institute of Technology on Chicago's south side.

Also in Chicago, he was architect of the Promontory Apartments, in which he used brick and glass in an exposed concrete frame, and the Lake Shore Drive Apartments, a pair of rectangular, glass and steel towers 25 stories high.

Highway Pile Up In San Rafael Hurts Six

Six persons were injured Saturday in a five-car tangle on northbound Highway 101, about 500 feet south of the San Rafael viaduct.

California Highway Patrol officers, in an incompleted report, said the pile up at 12:30 p.m. started when a car driven by Craig Lawrence Sullivan, 18, of 51 Lopez Street, San Francisco, swerved into the path of a car driven by Sheriff's Lt. Harvey Teague, 40, of 13 Lauren Avenue, Novato.

Injured were: Teague, who suffered a bruised forehead and neck pain; his daughter, Laurie, 10, cerebral concussion and bruised right knee, and three passengers in his car, Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax, 36, of 55 Grande Vista, Novato, bruised left shin and bruised forehead, and two of his children, Gary Hax, 10, bruised back, and Carol Hax, 9, bruised chin and black eye. They were treated at Marin General Hospital.

The sixth victim was Janice Yamaoka, 16, of 730 Pepper Road, Petaluma, a passenger in a pickup truck driven by Dennis Neil Yamaoka, 20, of 785 Liberty Road, Petaluma. She suffered a cerebral concussion, bruised forehead and bruised right knee and was admitted to Marin General Hospital.

Officers said that after the initial collission, Teague's car struck the guard rail. Then a car driven by Louise J. Evangelist, 40, of Daily City, swerved and collided with Yamaoka's pickup.

The pickup continued along and collided with Teague's car as it rebounded off the guard rail, and then a car driven by George Dewey Jackson, 70, of Desert Hot Springs, Riverside County, collided with Teague's car, officers reported. All cars were northbound.

Each gold brick in the federal depository at Fort Knox, Ky., weighs more than 27½ pounds and is valued at $14,000.

Weight, the base's chief legal officer.

In revealing the action on Tidwell, Stublarec said he was relieved pending an investigation, but sources high in the base's command structure said there was virtually no likelihood he would be put back in the sensitive position.

It was at the Friday meeting also that Hamilton officials ordered McQuaid to call a nuclear weapons specialist to testify that a berserk guard could not detonate a nuclear explosion at the base. It was the first public acknowledgement of the existence of the weapons, probably air-to-air missiles, and had Pentagon clearance "from the Secretary of Defense level," sources said.

Lynch, whose squadron would use the nuclear-tipped missiles, flew to Washington for a high-level huddle with Air Force officials immediately after the meeting, it was learned.

Pentagon sources also raised the possibility that Tidwell might face a court-martial for ignoring provisions of the Air Force's "human reliability program" which sets fitness standards for men in sensitive positions.

Carrow, who labeled Tidwell "incompetent" in his summation at the hearing, said the 17-year Air Force veteran had ignored several provisions of the program's manual, including one that calls for immediate removal from the program from anyone diagnosed as a passive aggressive personality.

Tidwell testified he was unaware of that provision and would have made a different decision if he had known what he was told at the hearing.

One of the other guards who was diagosed as unstable but still kept on duty is currently under psychiatric care and probably will be medically discharged. Tidwell testified at Ballou's hearing that the airman was "menatally sick." The third airman was discharged several weeks ago.

Hamilton officials insisted today that the base's security force — which is 64 slots short of its authorized strenth of 155 — was not undermanned. Tidwell had testified that the manpower squeeze was an "overriding factor" in keeping Ballou on duty, along with his conviction that the airman was "goldbricking."

Military officials said the base's security force could draw men from other areas in the base for police work.

Sources also said that an extra guard has been put on the nuclear munitions depot since the disclosures but this was not confirmed by Hamilton officials.

Tidwell had testified at the trial that he would rather have Ballou guarding the weapons than no guard at all. If the weapons were not guarded, he testified, "kooks from the Haight-Ashbury" would try to get at the weapons.

If Ballou did face a court-martial on the assault charge he could face up to three years in prison, a dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

Booking In Concealed Gun Probe

A 31-year-old San Rafael man was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday on suspicion of carrying a concealed weapon after the car he was driving collided with a parked car in San Rafael and he drove on, finally being stopped in San Anselmo, police reported today.

James Louis Rosson of 257 North San Pedro Road was also booked for investigation of drunken driving and for having no driver's license. Rosson posted $625 bail and is to appear in Municipal Court at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Rosson was stopped by San Anselmo police at 10:20 p.m. on Center Boulevard near Madrone Avenue after San Rafael police reported Rosson had struck a parked car at Center Boulevard and Pine Street. Rosson had what was believed to be a .45-caliber revolver in a brown paper bag, officers said.

Georgina M. Leary, a passenger in Rosson's car, was booked in jail on suspicion of being drunk in and about a vehicle, police said. Residing at the same address as Rosson, Miss Leary posted $615 bail and is to appear at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Municipal Court.

hour before he died, were: "Eileen, I am dying. I know I am going."

"I never believed he could really die," she said. "He always rallied and never gave up, but I knew then that he was nearing the end.

"That was the first time since his operation that he spoke of death and the first time that he admitted he was seriously ill.

The death of Blaiberg, the third human being to undergo a heart transplant, leaves 37 survivors among the 142 persons who have had such an operation.

The patient who has survived longest with another's heart now is Rev. Charles Boulogne, 56, a Roman Catholic priest who lives in a suburb of Paris. His transplant occurred on May 12, 1968.

The first transplant was also performed by Dr. Barnard on Dec. 3, 1967. The patient was Louis Washkansky, who lived only 17 days.

The second transplant, on an unidentified baby boy, took place in New York on Dec. 6, 1967. The infant died within hours.

Father Boulogne, who officiates regularly at Mass in a Paris monastery, said he learned of Blaiberg's death "with great pain."

Two Arrested At Oleander Park

Two youths were booked into Marin County Jail Saturday night on suspicion of ccontributing to the delinquency of a minor and possession of alcohol by a minor after they were found in Oleander Park, Terra Linda, with a gallon bottle of wine.

Deputies reported finding the youths and a 14-year-old Sacramento boy during a routine check of the park. The 14-year-old was booked at Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possession of alcohol by a minor.

Lamke and Lockabey were released on bail of $625 each to appear at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

senior partner in South Carolina's largest law firm.

Senate leaders said they expected little difficulty in having Haynsworth's nomination confirmed.

Fortas resigned from the court May 15 after it was disclosed he had accepted and kept for 11 months a $20,000 check from Wolfson's family foundation.

Fortas, long-time friend of Lyndon B. Johnson who appointed him to the court, said he had agreed with the foundation on a fee of $20,000 a year for life for his help in shaping its activities promoting community relations and racial and religious harmony.

Johnson nominated Fortas for Chief Justice of the United States last year to replace Warren, who expressed his decision to retire, but the nomination was blocked in the Senate and eventually withdrawn.

Yesterday, more than 3,500 antiwar demonstrators gathered outside the gate to the Western White House in an orderly protest against the Vietnam War.

The participants were instructed by the organizers to be peaceful and there were no arrests. Police in riot helmets were stationed along the street outside the Nixon compound.

The demonstrators chanted "Ho Chi Minh," "stop the war" and "Nixon is a pig." A few counter pickets were on hand with a sign reading, "Mr. President: we only demonstrate our admiration and respect."

Nixon could have seen the demonstration from a window of the home but it was not known whether he did.

He was under the section of the house where the roof had crashed in but was not burned, Shurtz said.

Mrs. MacMillan was taken to Marin General Hospital for observation, then released.

Poe was taken to the Chapel of the Hills Mortuary, San Anselmo where funeral is pending.

Born in Tennessee, Poe had lived 28 years in California, the last two years in Marin County. He was separated from his wife, Ruth, and last worked as a cook in Sausalito.

Twenty-five Larkspur firemen fought the blaze, which was brought under control in an hour, and were assisted by 10 firemen from the Kentfield Fire Department.

Damages were estimated by Shurtz at $15,000 to the structure and $5,000 to the contents. The upper story of the approximately 50-year-old building was completely destroyed while the lower floor was saved but suffered smoke and water damage.

The fire was difficult to fight, Shurtz said, because of rough terrain and because firemen had to carry fire hoses up about 100 steps.

Hoax Possible In Money Demand

San Rafael police today reported an extortion attempt Friday that may have been a hoax by an anonymous phone nut.

According to police, Richard Parasol of 129 Oakview Drive said he received a phone call that unless $10,000 was left at a designated place in San Francisco a friend of the caller would fire a rifle into Parasol's home from a hill beyond the house.

A search of the hillside by San Rafael police and a subsequent stakeout at the drop point in San Francisco turned up no one.

Sausalito To See New Handbill Law

An amended handbill ordinance will be presented to the Sausalito City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

The new ordinance will control distribution of commercial and advertising handbills, but would exempt other types of pamphlets. The city acted to change its ordinance after the arrest of a Corte Madera woman last month for handing out anti-ABM handbills without a permit. The city did not prosecute the case when it reached court.

The council will also set the final 1969-70 budget and city tax rate.

TREAT THE KIDS TO SHAKESPEARE!

And what better place to take them than to Forest Meadows Theatre in San Rafael, where Dominican College has built what is regarded as one of the most beautiful outdoor theatres in the world? (There's even a lake in front of the free-form stage!).

Browbeat the youngsters, then, into taking YOU, if you can't take them. You'll both be the better for it.

Bishop's Part In War Deaths Splits Church

BONN (UPI) — Twenty-five years after it occurred, the murder of 17 Italian civilians by retreating German soldiers is driving a wedge into the already disuinted Roman Catholic Church in Germany.

The rift existed before a weekly news magazine, Der Spiegel, disclosed the role that auxiliary Bishop Matthias Defregger played in the massacre in Filetto, a village north of Rome, on June 7, 1944.

As a result of the row that followed the magazine's report and the hierarchy's awkward treatment of it, the wedge has been driven deeper.

FRESH IMPETUS

Demands by young priests and the laity for more "codetermination," for a more democratic selection of bishops and management of church affairs have been given fresh impetus.

Defregger's removal was demanded by men who themselves later resigned under pressure from the hierarchy, leading in turn to statements in some quarters that the affair had escalated into a crisis of confidence in Cardinal Julius Doepfner of Munich.

Prelate Anton Maier, spokesman for the ordinariat in Munich, has confirmed that Doepfner neglected to inform either the papal nuncio in Bonn or the Vatican of Defregger's involvement in the Filetto incident when proposing him for auxiliary bishop.

REPORTED INCENSED

Archbishop Coraddo Bafile, the papal nuncio in the German capital, is reported incensed by Doepfner's omission. Bafile was born and raised in the l'Aquila district in which Filetto is located.

The Defregger affair is only the latest in a series of debates that have shaken the Catholic Church in Germany during the last decade.

A curious aspect of the development is that while the German cardinals were considered leaders of the liberal element during the second Ecumenical Congress in Rome, in Germany they are considered conservative and sometimes reactionary.

He admitted that as a captain of intelligence in a German division, he had passed on an order to kill Italian civilians in retaliation for the shooting by partisans of four German soldiers.

Only a man who had served as an officer in combat was fit to judge his actions in any case, Defregger concluded.

Those who defend Defregger say even if he did do wrong in Filetto, that should not prevent him becoming an auxiliary bishop now, just as the Roman Saul, persecutor of Jews, became St. Paul.

Defreggers depreciators retort thate is one difference, in that the Christian congregation knew the details of Saul's past before they made him a bishop of the young church.

Bus, Cable Car Crash Hurts 18

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A cable car and a Municipal Railway bus collided last night at Powell and Sutter streets, injuring 18 persons, none seriously.

All but two of the injured were aboard the cable car.

Harbor Emergency Hospital treated 11 persons and Ceneral Emergency Hospital the others, all for bruises and sprains.

It was the second bus-cable car collision within four days. A bus brushed passengers from a cable car footboard Thursday, injuring two persons.

New Record For Piston Airplane

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — A speed record for piston-driven aircraft set by a German Luftwaffe pilot in 1939 has been broken by a jet pilot accustomed to speeds of 2,000 miles an hour.

Darryl Greenamyer, a test pilot of high-speed reconaissance planes, zoomed low over a three-kilometer course four times Saturday in his vintage, remodeled Grumman F8F2 Bearcat for an average speed of 478 m.p.h., eclipsing the old record of 469.2 m.p.h. set by Fritz Wendel of the German Air Force.

Greenamyer, 33, said he wanted to bring the speed record back to the United States, where it was once owned by such pilots as Howard Hughes, Jimmy Doolittle and Billy Mitchell.

LSD Chromosone Theory Unstable

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After a two-day conference of experts, the concensus today was that little is known about whether the drug LSD does damage to chromosomes which could alter offspring.

The weekend conference at the University of California Medical Center was sponsored by the Haight-Ashbury Free Clinic and two other organizations.

"It's still not possible to come to any firm conclusion of whether LSD caused chromosomal damage—and, if so, what the medical ramifications of that damage might be," said Dr. Robert Sparkes of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. Samuel Irwin, a University of Oregon pharmacologist, said he has found no evidence that the psychedelic drug damages chromosomes in the reproductive cells or in the bone marrow.

Irish Denounce Consul Stoning

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A rock smashed a window at the residence of British Consul General Selwyn Lloyd during a demonstration yesterday by the Irish American Action Association.

Joe Donoghue, who organized the demonstration, said the throwers were not regular members of his association. "We believe in action — but not that kind," he declared.

Police made no arrest.

The demonstration protested the use of the British army in North Ireland were civil warfare has been going on for a week between Protestants and Roman Catholics.

In this age of gimcracks and chrome, is there a place for a car so masterfully engineered that 90 percent of its value is invisible?

Mercedes-Benz thinks so.

Yesterday's dreamboats had enormous tail fins.

Today, it's fastbacks, racing stripes, and wall-to-wall chrome grilles.

Obviously, there are millions every year who are willing to buy a car that's "in vogue"—even though they know newer gimcracks and styling quirks will soon erode their investment.

But Mercedes-Benz refuses to play the "planned obsolescence" game.

At Mercedes-Benz, iron-willed engineers, not stylists, rule the roost. And they insist on putting value where they think it belongs: at the heart of their machines.

That's why Mercedes-Benz motor cars can cost anywhere from about $4,600 to $27,000 without, to some tastes, "looking" it.

Form follows function

Make no mistake. The perfectionists at Mercedes-Benz do not apologize for those classic lines—free of faddish touches—that will still be handsome years from now. They simply think form should follow function instead of fashion.

The contours of that 250 sedan at right were dictated by the need to provide proper headroom, hiproom, legroom and protective packaging for five adults. Dictated by the proportions required for nimble maneuverability.

The car is both shorter and leaner than its overweight rivals. Yet it bristles with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans.

A superb machine

Too sophisticated, some critics say. Nonsense, retort Mercedes-Benz engineers. If a man can afford to invest thousands of dollars in a superb driving machine, he is entitled to get something superb.

What he gets in a Mercedes-Benz is legendary in automotive circles.

An expert from Car and Driver tested the "new" 250 when it was released early in 1968 after an incubation period of five years. His verdict: "Offhand, I can't think of any other 4-door sedan in the world—with the possible exception of the Maserati Quattroporte—that handles, steers and stops like the Mercedes."

Scrapping the solid rear axle system of most domestic cars, the 250 uses an all-independent suspension—plus anti-sway bars front and rear. This endows it with the agility of a scrambling quarterback.

You can blast it over rutted and potholed gravel lanes. It behaves with almost eerie calm. You can thread it through the corkscrew turns of a mountain road, and enjoy yourself.

There's no sloppy play in the steering. No mushiness. When you hold the wheel, you "feel" the road. When you turn the wheel, the car responds instantly. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Heroic stopping power

Stopping? Unless you have driven a 180-mph Grand Prix racing car or a Mercedes-Benz, chances are you have never experienced the security that comes from having really good brakes.

Disc brakes.

A few domestic sedans have front-wheel disc brakes, and others offer front-wheel discs as an option. But every Mercedes-Benz comes with massive disc brakes on all four wheels. Standard.

Result: You get more stopping power than you may ever need. But you sleep better at night.

The pinnacle of safety

As for safety, Mercedes-Benz engineers applaud the intent of the U.S. Government regulations, and carry their protective measures beyond the letter of these laws.

The 250's best defense against blundering drivers is, of course, its almost uncanny evasive ability. But, if the worst happens, your Mercedes-Benz is designed to shield you.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay closed on impact. The front and rear sections of the car are engineered to crumple in a violent crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

Car and Driver's sober conclusion: Of all the world's motor cars, the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Value. All of it concealed from the casual eye. But there.

And there's more. Construction of every Mercedes-Benz begins in a shower of sparks. Where conventional cars use bolts to tie body and chassis together, Mercedes-Benz uses thousands of welds to create a single unit of immense strength. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 250 will ever rattle.

When welding stops, the raw body is dunked whole, like a taffy apple, into a gigantic vat of primer. It emerges with 24 pounds of rust protection.

More hidden value

Every car gets 20 more pounds of primer and paint. Even the insides of the hub caps are coated. As a final flourish in its armament against corrosion, each car gets a 24-pound factory slathering of undercoating.

The six-cylinder, overhead-cam engine of every 250 is bench tested before installation, for more than 60 minutes. A hint of trouble in this gruelling test and the engine is torn down and rebuilt. Mercedes-Benz finds the lemons—not you.

Revealing showroom tests

Run a finger along the body of the 250. No "orange peel" texture. Slide in and open the glove compartment. Fully trimmed. Close the car door. Ka-chunk.

Now flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, mile after mile. It should: it was designed with the guidance of orthopedic physicians.

Crank the window and fiddle with some knobs. "Everything worked with delightful precision, eliciting the same sort of satisfaction that comes when the shutter mechanism crackles shut on a good reflex camera," reported Car and Driver's expert.

That's the beauty of the 250. It's built as if it were a 3,000-pound Hasselblad camera!

An unconventional car? Defiantly so. Mercedes-Benz does not make conventional cars—and never will.

24-page brochure

Of course, the quickest way to verify the 250's virtues, both visible and invisible, is simply to drop by the showroom and arrange a test drive.

Other models to ponder:

220 Diesel—the only diesel-powered automobile Mercedes-Benz makes, gives you small-car economy in a big, safe sedan that may well endure for decades, $4,780*.

300SEL—an understated limousine, $9,849*.

Canal Residents Seek Recreation Center

A grass roots movement to get a recreation center in the San Rafael canal area will appeal tonight to the City Council for permission to use city property for the center.

The primary force behind the movement, barber Roger Schoen, said he will seek permission to use an abandoned building on city property adjacent to the corporation, yard when the council meets at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

The small wooden building, a former office for an oil company operation along the canal, could be moved later when the city needs the land, he said. But using it now where it is would be "simply a start to get something going," Schoen told the Independent-Journal.

The site also offers a good paved area for outdoor activities, he noted.

The movement started about a month ago when Schoen got tired of seeing youngsters standing around with no place to go. The cost of fixing up the building will be met by volunteer labor and supplies, much of it from Schoen's customers.

"What we need now is enough interest on the part of public officials who can give permission to use the building and property," he said.

About 20 persons attended a Thursday night meeting in Schoen's shop at 175 Belvedere Street, including youths, parents, and several representatives from the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, he said.

One step they agreed on was to seek legal information on forming a nonprofit group, so contributions could be tax deductible.

"We want to keep this fire burning among the kids and the parents, and not let die on the vine," Schoen said of his appeal to the council tonight. "We want something that the kids will run with adults' advice — but we don't want anything with regimentation. It'll be for the kids."

Police Book Youth On Stolen Goods Count

A 17-year-old Fairfax youth was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall Saturday on suspicion of receiving stolen property and possession of marijuana.

Police said Reynol Lee Fosnight, 17, of 145 Dominga Avenue, was booked after another resident of the house reported finding a bank bag containing about 25 watches and several other pieces of jewelry. About two ounces of a substance believed to be marijuana was also found in the bank bag, police said.

Five Flee Youth Guidance Center

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An accused slayer and four other teen-agers escaped from Youth Guidance Center this weekend after overpowering two counselors in the television room.

One of the escapees was recaptured and returned to the center after the break Saturday in which Counselor Glenn Burns was cut when struck by a thrown chair.

Still at large early today was Rudolph M. Boror, 17, one of four teen-agers accused of killing Darel Carter, 33, raping his fiance and stabbing his father after breaking into the family's home.

The five boys escaped while watching television with two counselors. After hurling chairs at the counselors, the youths broke the front door lock and fled into the street.

New Ratings Proposed For Polluters

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — New ground rules to rate water polluters have been proposed by the staff of the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Present rules for rating violators have been criticized for failing to reflect the fact that some requirements for waste discharge purity are more important than others.

The significance of the ratings is that the board's limited staff has to concentrate its enforcement on major polluters, thus a high standing on the rating, or priority list, guarantees heavy pressure on a polluter.

In Marin, San Quentin Prison won a rating as the 12th most important polluter throughout the Bay Area in 1968. The Smith Brothers Dairy in Las Gallinas was 13th. The number one polluter in the annual sweepstakes is San Francisco, and the board's staff stressed that any new ground rules would not affect San Francisco's high standing.

An example of the objections to the present system of rating polluters are that it give equal weight to discoloration as to the much more important bacteriological requirements. The new ground rules, which will give the greatest weight to violations that endanger public health, will be considered for adoption by the board at its September meeting.

Shoplift Suspect

British Troop Boss Sees Outlaw Trouble

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—The British army commander in Northern Ireland said today he expects the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) to intervene in the rioting between Roman Catholics and Protestants. He also said he is building up his force to 6,000 troops.

Prime Minster James Chicester-Clark met this afternoon with "representatives of all sections of responsible opinion in Northern Ireland to explore ways of restoring peace and communal understanding," it was announced. The meeting was at Stormont Castle, the seat of parliament.

Nearly a week of religious violence left at least eight dead and more than 300 injured in what the Protestant-dominated government branded "revolution" triggered by supporters of the overwhelmingly Catholic Irish Republic to the south "and other sinister elements."

Gen. Ian Freeland met with newsmen at his command headquarters 12 miles outside of Belfast as Catholics began burying their dead. Thousands of mourners marched in funeral processions past silent British troops enforcing a shaky truce in this capital city of Northern Ireland.

One funeral was for Patrick Rooney, 8, killed by a stray bullet that pierced the walls of his family home.

Freeland told newsmen he had 2,000 men and from 40 to 60 armored cars on the way to reinforce troops trying to keep the clashing sides apart.

Asked about the outlawed IRA which has vowed to take action, the general told the news conference, "We would be pretty stupid not to expect them to intervene, if they have not already done so."

Freeland said the 4,000 troops he now has in Northern Ireland, mainly in Belfast, are enjoying something of a "honeymoon," are being well treated by both sides.

Across the Irish Sea, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson ended a vacation in the Scilly Isles to return to London for consultations with his senior advisers, including Home Secretary James Gallaghan, top cabinet official in the Northern Ireland crisis. Government spokesmen said Wilson planned to meet early in the week with Chichester-Clark.

The warfare that erupted over the past week, first in Londonderry then in Belfast, was the worst of nearly a year of sporadic violence. Roman Catholics, a minority in Northern Ireland, contend the predominately Protestant government systematically discriminates against them, particularly in jobs, housing and voting.

PLANE HIJACKERS

Fidel's Good Feeling For Mexico Cooling

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Fidel Castro put a sudden chill last week on Cuban relations with Mexico, his government's only official friend in Latin America, over the issue of plane hijackers.

The Mexican government is quietly —but deeply —annoyed.

The question now is whether Mexico will react to the Cuban defiance—and if so, in what way.

Mexico is the only Latin American nation that defied the decision by the Organization of American States (OAS) calling for a diplomatic quarantine of Cuba. Mexico kept its ambassador in Havana—more for internal reasons than for any love of Castro — and Mexican diplomats figured ever since that they had a special lever in dealing with the Cuban strongman.

DOESN'T SEE IT

Castro apparently doesn't see it that way.

Mexico has been increasingly annoyed by hijackers who send airliners off to Havana at pistol point. So are the United States, Colombia and other nations—but Mexico has the advantage of maintaining an important diplomatic contact for Cuba.

Mexican president Gustavo Diaz Ordaz has made a personal goal of efforts to put a stop to hijacking of Mexican airliners.

He rammed through congress a stiff anti-hijacking law carrying penalties of up to 40 years. The law was deliberately written to fit in nicely with a special extradition treaty with Cuba to cover hijackers.

It took more than a year of diplomatic arm-twisting by Mexico, but the Cubans finally sat down last spring for negotiations, aimed at agreeing on the wording of such a treaty.

OPTIMISTIC

Ever since, Mexican diplomats have been publicly optimistic that Cuba would sign the treaty soon—and the guarantee of decades in prison would protect Mexican airliners from Havana-bound hijackers forevermore.

But there were signs the Cubans were stalling.

And then, on July 24, the anniversary of Castro's uprising, a Mexican youth and his girlfriend hijacked a Mexicana Airways DC6 to Havana.

Although the new treaty was not yet signed, Mexico demanded their extradition under a 44-year-old criminal extradition agreement that is still in effect.

Mexican diplomats saw it as a test case, concrete indication of whether Castro intended to cooperate or not.

Even under the new treaty, Cuba could still protect hijackers by giving them political asylum. It all depends, as one Mexican official pointed out, "on good faith, not to abuse the provisions covering political asylum."

The Cuban answer came then. "Revolutionary Court Number One" in Havana freed the pair, Jose Caberga and Maria Munoz, and the Cuban foreign ministry rejected the extradition request.

The Cuban government statement, and a press release by the official Cuban news agency Prensa Latina distributed to Mexico City newspapers, emphasized that "Mexican authorities usually give political asylum to persons who leave Cuba illegally, including those who take over ships and other means of transport by force."

The Cuban statement accused Mexico of fostering escapes from Cuba by granting asylum.

That's the nub. Mexico hasn't found any way of wording a treaty that would snare Cuba-bound hijackers which would not also force Mexico to send back to Cuban prisons the refugees who flee the Communist island. There aren't many of them, but every year at least some Cubans manage to sail small boats across the 150-mile-wide Strait of Yucatan to freedom in Mexico.

INTENTION

Mexico has no intention of being put in the position of becoming the only nation to send Cuban refugees back to face Castro justice.

Mexican foreign secretary Antonio Carrillo Flores, who was at least publicly confident that Mexico would get Castro's cooperation, said after the refusal that he had asked for "a complete report from the ambassador in Havana."

PREPARING ASSAULT ON ENEMY BUNKER

As two members of an 81-mm mortar crew of the First Air Cavalry Division prepare to fire at suspected enemy bunkers north of Tay Ninch City in South Vietnam, other soldiers held their ears in recent outpost fighting. In war action yesterday, U.S. Naval patrol boat engaged the enemy in the delta near the Saigon River, killing at least eight of an entimated 60 invaders. Also the U.S. Command reported 476 more GI withdrawals to Hawaii and Fort Lewis, Wash., and said another 480 were to leave Thursday. (UPI Telephoto)

Eight Green Berets Out Of Stockade

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army took the eight Green Berets charged with murder out of close confinement at the Long Binh stockade today and confined them to regular billets at the big headquarters post north of Saigon.

The Army's chief spokesman in Vietnam announced that the seven officers and one enlisted man who are accused of murdering a Vietnamese believed to have been a double agent are no longer under armed guard.

The seven officers are confined to an officers' billet at Long Binh, 15 miles north of Saigon, while the enlisted man, Sgt. Alvin L. Smith Jr. of Naples, Fla., is in an enlisted men's billet "in another area" of Long Binh, the spokesman said.

The eight men, headed by Col. Robert B. Rheault of Vineyard Haven, Mass., former commander of all Green Beret forces in Vietnam, have been at Long Binh since their arrest July 20.

The civilian attorney for one of the officers, Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr. of Jefferson, S.C., charged last week that Middleton was being held in solitary confinement in a cell only 5 feet by 7 feet and without proper ventilation.

The attorney, George Gregory of Cheraw, S.C., filed a petition last week for Middleton's release, but this was denied.

The Army began an investigation July 30 similar to a grand jury hearing to determine whether the Green Beret men would be brought to trial. The investigation was recessed Aug. 2 and is to resume Wednesday.

Meanwhile, another version of the killing was aired today by a source with contacts among intelligence officers in Saigon. He said the slaying of the Vietnamese double agent was done without any authorization from the Central Intelligence Agency.

Gregory had charged last week that the CIA ordered the killing, and other sources said the CIA withdrew the order about a week after issuing it. But these sources were not clear as to whether the man had already been killed then.

This was the version of the killing told today:

The Green Beret command began to suspect one of its Vietnamese agents used on clandestine liaison missions in Cambodia and asked the CIA for advice.

The agent was a relatively low-ranking man, and the CIA advised the Green Beret command in Nha Trang that it should "dispense" with him if he was under suspicion. The CIA itself was unable to determine whether the man was a double agent.

There was never any consideration among the CIA directors in Saigon that the man should be killed. There may, however, have been some misunderstanding in the relay of information between Saigon and Nha Trang. But at some unspecified date, some officials in Saigon contacted Nha Trang with specific orders that the man should not be killed.

The Green Beret command replied that it was too late, that the mission was already in progress.

Park Sees New North Korean Push

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Chung Hee Park of South Korea, who says North Korea is plotting a new invasion of his country, is to arrive Wednesday for talks with President Richard M. Nixon.

Park said yesterday, "Korea's national security will be the major topic of our conversations."

He told the magazine U.S. News and World Report in a copyrighted interview in Seoul that Kim Il-Sung, the North Korean dictator, "is dedicated to reunifying Korea—forcefully if necessary—by 1970" and added:

"As I understand it, the United States feels Asian problems should be solved by Asians. The idea is essentially right. But the goal cannot be reached overnight. And we do not believe the United States would withdraw its forces—or influence—from Asia hastily."

Plans are still tentative, but Korean sources say President Park will land Wednesday at the Naval Air Station at Monterey. Park, his wife and his 10-man entourage, including his ministers of foreign affairs and national defense, will spend Wednesday night at Del Monte Lodge near Monterey.

Thursday morning the party will travel by helicopter to San Francisco for a morning conference with Nixon at the St. Francis Hotel.

Among likely topics to be discussed:

Strengthening and modernizing The Republic of Korea's armed forces.

Opening up new trade channels for Korean export products.

A review of the American posture in Asia, including an end to the war in Vietnam and return of Okinawa to Japanese rule.

Park will be guest of honor at a Thursday luncheon at the Bohemian Club with Secretary of State William Rogers as host.

Thursday night the Parks will be honored at a state dinner that President and Mrs. Nixon will hold at the St. Francis for 250 guests.

Tomales Bay Injury

Alonso R. Espinozo, 25, of San Francisco, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for face scrapes suffered at 5:30 p.m. when his car went off the road in Tomales Bay Park, hit a tree and rolled over, the California Highway Patrol reported.

U.S. Helicopter Pilot Grounded By North Korea 'Lost His Way'

SEOUL (AP) — The pilot of a U.S. Army helicopter shot down by the North Koreans yesterday probably lost his way and strayed over the border, a U.N. Command spokesman reported. North Korea gave no indication of the fate of the three men aboard the craft.

The spokesman said the pilot radioed about an hour after he took off on a training flight that "he had become disoriented, he was being fired upon, was hit and was going down over unknown territory."

Radio Pyongyang said North Korean forces downed the aircraft at Kumchon, about 15 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea and about 50 miles northwest of Seoul. The broadcast called the incident another "provocation by U.S. imperialists in violation of the Korean armistice agreement.'

U.N. and Pentagon officials withheld the names of the missing crewmen pending notification of relatives.

The U.N. Command said U.S. Marine Maj. Gen. Arthur H. Adams, senior member of the command on the armistice commission, had asked the North Koreans for assistance "in returning the helicopter and personnel."

It was the second U.S. Army helicopter shot down by North Korea since the Korean armistice was signed 16 years ago. A helicopter carrying two American officers on a routine flight was downed by ground fire near the Panmunjom truce village on May 17, 1963. The two officers were captured and were returned a year later after the U.N. Command signed a note saying they were engaged in espionage activities from their helicopter.

The command later said it had to sign the note in order to obtain the men's release.

On April 15, North Korea shot down an American EC121 electronic intelligence plane in the Sea of Japan.

More people were married in 1968 than at any time since 1946, says the Population Reference Bureau, which pointed out that 2.1 million marriages were performed.

Moon Rocks Are Still Distant From Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans who paid the freight will have to wait a while longer to get a personal glimpse of the moon rocks brought back by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

While the three U.S. space heros are being mobbed from coast-to-coast, the 60-plus pounds of rocks and dust they brought back are being pampered by the delicate gloved hands and sterile instruments of National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists in Houston's Lunar Receiving Laboratory.

Officials still aren't saying when the rocks might be offered for public display.

But after NASA scientists finish their studies, there are 142 other scientists from around the world who also will run tests on the samples.

Present plans call for releasing about 15 per cent of the material to the scientists sometime next month.

Public displays will come after the scientists are through.

Exhibits may be offered in large U.S. museums and there could be traveling displays. One problem still to be worked out is whether the samples will need to be kept hermetically sealed to prevent atmospheric damage.

Among those waiting for the scientists to finish are foreign leaders who have been promised moon souvenirs by President Richard M. Nixon. But some congressmen have indicated they may try to block such gifts on grounds the rocks belong to U.S. taxpayers.

Force Defended By State College Student President

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Student body president Russell Bass of San Francisco State College, disrupted by demonstrations this year, says "the only tool that student government has after futile talks with the administration is physical confrontation."

He addressed student leaders last night who are in El Paso for the 22nd Congress of the National Student Association, which opens tomorrow.

"Confrontation" is one of the most often heard expressions at the pre-Congress sessions but it is not always associated with the hint of violence. West Chester, Pa. State College student president Sol Fleider told of the success students at this school had when they disapproved of a man who was expected to be appointed president of the school.

"Instead of a physical confrontation, a group of students got haircuts, put on nice clothes and approached the regents," Fledeir said. "The regents listened to us and they decided to appoint another man as president."

A major theme of the conference is making student governments more independent.

"As the situation stands now, student government exists only to protect the administration's interests," said Jim Sutton of the University of Iowa.

He defined student power as the "ability to protect students' interests and the ability to fight the exploitation of students."

Brown University's student president John Salinger said he expects more disturbances on college campuses this coming year than a year ago. He said trouble-free campuses also gain from the demonstrations even if they're far away "because their administrators are shocked into taking reform action."

A few of the students took time out yesterday afternoon to attend an antiwar rally in a mountain canyon park northeast of El Paso sponsored by a group of 10 soldiers at nearby Ft. Bliss. About 250 persons attended the rally.

The GI protest group was led by Army Spec. 4 Paul Nevins who was a graduate student at New York University when he entered the Army. Nevins' "GI's For Peace" group received official support from the NSA national supervisory board.

Weapons Charge Against Novatan

Stephen Michael Weeks, 22, of 2025 Feliz Road, Novato, was arrested yesterday on warrants charging him with manufacturing and possession of prohibited weapons, and disturbing the peace, Novato police reported.

He was booked into Marin County Jail with bail set at $6,250, and was to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Weeks was originally arrested on Aug. 1. At that time Novato police found a seven-inch knife sharpened on both sides into a dagger, a pool cue cut into a billy club and two shotguns in his car. They arrested him and confiscated the weapons.

When no complaint was filed against him, he was released. Warrants were later issued charging him with the two offenses. Weeks went to the Novato police station at 3:45 p.m. yesterday asking for his weapons. Police then arrested him a second time.

DDT Ban Rejection Wise, Says Monagan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan believes the Assembly acted wisely in refusing to pass a bill banning the use of the pesticide DDT in California.

"A blanket ban on DDT is far too simple a solution for such a complex problem," Monagan said of rejection of the proposal by Sen. John Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek.

Nejedly's bill died in the Assembly Agriculture Committee, but a bill by Sen. Athony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, was passed by both houses and is awaiting final enactment by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Nejedly's proposal was to ban the use of DDT in California fields. Beilenson's bill would give the state greater control over the use of most pesticides and allow it to prohibit DDT and others when substitutes are available.

Monagan, a Republican whose district covers most of San Joaquin County in the heart of the state's farming region, said he believes Beilenson's bill "is actually a much stronger piece of legislation."

He added, "It is true that DDT is a source of environmental damage. But it is not alone in this. Many pesticides are dangerous to the environment, and legislation focusing on but one such chemical is inadequate."

Monagan pointed out that Nejedly's bill would not have prohibited the manufacture and sale of DDT in California for use outside the state.

"This would mean that while protecting ourselves, we would permit environmental pollution for export," Monagan said.

Another fault of Nejedly's bill Monagan said, was limiting it to just agricultural uses of DDT. "Evidence suggests that the greatest danger to our environment is posed by the extensive use of DDT by public agencies," he said, "such as the National Forest Service."

Beilenson's bill, Monagan said, covers all public agencies which use pesticides.

He said University of California experts have estimated that acceptable substitutes are available now for 89 of the 119 present uses for DDT.

So under Beilenson's bill, if it is signed into law by the governor, about three-fourths of the present uses could be eliminated, he said.

The rest, he said, could be eliminated when substitutes are developed, "But we've got to make sure the substitute doesn't harm the environment also," he said.

Poisons In Grapes Claim Discounted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration reported today it found no harmful pesticide residues in a recent survey of several varieties of table grapes

The survey was ordered after testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Migratory Labor last week in connection with a report that some table grapes contained aldrin residue as high as 18 parts per mission.

The statement to the subcommittee was based on a report by a private research laboratory which had tested samples of California-grown table grapes for a farm workers union.

The FDA tested 48 samples of Thompson seedless, Ribier, Cardinal, and Red Malaga grapes purchased at retail stores in Washington, Baltimore, Los Angeles, New York City and Chicago, and samples from packers in the San Francisco area.

Scientists used gas liquid chromatography to test for residues of pesticides such as DDT, DDE, dieldrin, aldrin, kelthane, diazionon, ethion, parathion and others.

Legislator Pay Hikes Under Attack

Special to the I-J

PENRYN, Placer County — Ranold J. Kennedy, who started an initiative move for repeal of the removal of voter control of school tax rate ceilings, today announced another — to repeal the power of legislators to set their own salaries.

"This is another case in which they (the legislators) have hoodwinked the voting public," declared Kennedy. "At $6,000 a year these legislators did something for the taxpayers. With the passage of Proposition 1-A the only thing they can think of now is voting themselves pay raises. Let us hold them at $16,000 and reject the new hike of $19,200."

Kennedy invited those interested in such an initiative to write him at P.O. Box 295, Penryn.

The initiative on school tax ceilings was dropped with passage by the legislature of AB 5, which accomplishes the repeal. Kennedy indicated, however, that it might be revived if Gov. Ronald Reagan fails to sign AB 5.

U.C. Artifacts A Major Link To Peruvian History

(Special to the I-J)

Philanthropist Phoebe Hearst had a passion for archaeology and the University of California, and toward the end of the last century she sent archaeologist Max Uhle to Peru to probe ancient Peru for U.C. Berkeley's newly founded anthropology museum.

Most of the clay pots, and musical instruments and other artifacts which dribbled into Berkeley over the next seven or eight years were ticketed with whatever Uhle had discovered about each of them. Today, the Lowie Museum's collection of more than 20,000 pieces of Peurvian pottery is considered a major research tool because of its archaeological information.

To the archaeologist, a pot or textile is important because it was found in a particular place, has a particular design or shape, and was made by a particular method. From it, the scientist can learn what a people looked like, what they wore and ate, how they made love, what their religion was, how they fought their wars and what their enemies looked like. It will tell him how one village differed from another, even when they were only a few miles apart.

But more than anything else, it will give him a sequence to fill in that enormous time span which reaches back nearly 4,000 years.

Surprisingly, the earliest known Peruvian pottery is "sophisticated." Shapes and designs are not crude, as might be expected. Methods of making the pots were obviously well developed. How pottery came to Peru and where, and how it spread, remain a mystery.

Nevertheless, scientists now know a good deal about the people who lived in the pockets of the Andes and beside the meager rivers flowing through the shallow valleys of a sandy, wind-scoured coastal plain.

They made bottles from the beginning. In the north, the "stirrup" bottle was apparently a water cooler with a convenient handle-spout combination. On the south coast, a double-spouted bottle, with a "bridge" for carrying, evolved from a "whistling" vessel frequently shaped like a bird or small animal to make a whistling sound when the water was sloshed around inside the jar.

Another predominant type was the "effigy" jar. The heads and bodies of men, women, dogs, birds and a whole assortment of other creatures were modeled in clay on the top of the vessel. This type of pottery was common throughout the country.

The Peruvian's irrepressible instinct for decoration is basic to all his pottery, but it is the elegant polychrome ware of the south coast which is probably the most spectacular. Like the great majority of the pots, the Nasca vessels were utilitarian and generally small, decorated with multicolored faces and geometric patterns outlined in black.

Around 300 B.C., the north coast Peruvians began to use molds to make their jars. Vessels were made in several pieces, later stuck together with clay, and then smoothed to cover the seams.

Within a few years, the people stopped using the slower and clumsier hand methods, and eight to ten jars might be turned out of a single mold. As a result, there are very few "unique" pieces in today's museums. Even the famous "portrait jars" of real people have duplicates.

Still, the ancient Peruvian's wish to express himself managed to overcome the static aspect of molded pottery. Designs and colors continued to vary. Craftsmen made different versions of the same animal, head or face. Dawson displays two jars, dissimilar in shape but both topped by the upper half of the same man's body. In each, the face has a broken nose and depressed cheekbone, the same prominent forehead. But one artist saw this man as young and virile, the other as an older man with wrinkled skin.

Charges Denied

Larry English Hamilton, 25, of Mill Valley pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court today to two charges of receiving stolen motorcycles in 1967 and 1968. A jury trial was set for the week of Dec. 8.

Arnheiter Hurt In Fall During Hike

OAKLAND (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Marcus Aurelius Arnheiter, who was relieved in 1966 of his warship command in Vietnamese waters in a controversial case, was reported in fair condition today with injuries suffered in a 20-foot fall while leading a Boy Scout hiking expedition.

Arnheiter, 43, slipped on a rock and fell yesterday near Waterhouse Lake five miles northeast of Pinecrest in Tuolomne County, authorities said.

He was taken to the Oak Knoll Naval Hospital here with fractures of the right hip, leg and ankle, a dislocated shoulder and multiple contusions and abrasions.

Arnheiter, formerly a San Rafael resident, has been assigned to shore duty at the Treasure Island Naval Station in San Francisco since he was removed from command of the destroyer Vance. He was relieved after a variety of complaints by junior officers about disciplinary matters he instituted.

The incident and his appeals received wide attention.

Arnheiter was leading a group of Boy Scouts, including his son Jeff, 12, when he fell. The Boy Scouts administered first aid after the accident and Jeff hiked to Pinecrest for help.

A U.S. Forest Service helicopter rescued Arnheiter and flew him to Sonora. He was treated at Sierra Hospital in Sonora and later transferred to Oak Knoll.

Mrs. Judd Goes Back To Arizona

MARTINEZ (UPI) — Trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd today began the return trip to the Arizona mental hospital from which she escaped seven years ago.

Mrs. Judd, now 64, escaped from the hospital in 1962 for the seventh time and made her way to Contra Costa County where she held a variety of jobs as a baby sitter, companion, and housekeeper. She was arrested in June and unsuccessfully fought return to Arizona.

Gov. Ronald Reagan last week ordered her extradited to the Phoenix hospital.

$56,000 FOR MASTERS

Graduate Builds Own Racing Car

DETROIT (AP) — A graduate student at Wayne State University figures his master's degree project is worth $56,000. He designed and built a car for himself.

Using 1,200 pounds of special clay, lumber, fiberglass and other materials, 35-year-old Richard A. Petit of Allen Park and a cousin who works in a Ford Motor Co. design center built a prototype car with $8,000 cash.

But the two men value their time at $10 an hour.

"We each spent an average of 30 hours a week for 20 months in actual construction of the car,' Petit said. They figure their time to be worth $48,000.

The automobile—named Ginette G-12—has five forward gears. They will take it from 0 to 60 miles per hour in 6.5 seconds. Propelled by a four-cylinder in-line double overhead cam Lotus Ford engine, the car is capable of speeds up to 150 m.p.h.

Petit's creation recently won a blue ribbon in the industrial design section of a Wayne State University art exhibit. It also earned him his master's degree.

He has worked as a designer in Ford's Fairlane-Torin Studio in Dearborn, where he was recently assigned to a section handling advanced design concepts and special performance innovations.

Starting with a Ginetta chassis and a quarter-scale clay model in 1967, Petit arranged to borrow expensive design clay from Ford.

Working from drawings on each wall of the garage behind his home, Petit and his cousin, David P. Conley, 27, of Detroit, made 50 molds from polyester resins and fiberglass. The molded sections were fitted over a frame constructed entirely of tubular steel and then given a coat of red acrylic lacquer.

The car was an 90-inch wheelbase and independent suspension on each wheel. Total weight of the auto is 1,160 pounds. It is 40 inches high, 156 inches long and has five inches ground clearance.

"If it hadn't been for more than a year of planning, we'd really have been lost," Petit said, stroking his dream-car.

Police Asked For Silence On Murders

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Police in this university community have been asked not to release any information that might link John Norman Collins with the slayings of six other young women within the last two years.

Collins, a senior at Eastern Michigan University in neighboring Ypsilanti, has been ordered to stand trial on a charge of first degree murder in the strangling death of Karen Sue Beineman, 18, an EMU freshman.

Miss Beineman's nude body, mutilated and sexually abused, was found July 26 in a wooded gully on the outskirts of Ann Arbor. She was the seventh young women slain in a similar way and found within a 15-mile triangle that encompasses the two communities.

Michael Devine, chief administrative officer of the Michigan Supreme Court and liaison officer between the courts and the news media for Collins' trial, asked police not to make any statements that might link Collins to any of the other crimes.

Officials said the publication of such information might prejuidice Collins' chance for a fair trial.

Sanitation Asked In Detergents

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new cold water detergents do kill germs, but a built-in sanitizing agent would make them do the job better the Los Angeles County health officer says.

"We find no concrete evidence that disease has been transmitted from one person to another by . . . the use of cold water detergents," of the type the county has been testing, Dr. Gerald A. Heidbreder wrote the Board of Supervisors Saturday.

But he said the National Soap and Detergent Association should urge manufacturers to add a strong sanitizing agent to detergents.

UROC Slaps Nixon's Plan To Aid Needy

BURLINGAME (AP) — New resolutions by leaders of the conservative United Republicans of California criticize President Richard M. Nixon, the United Nations and the California Parents-Teachers Association.

The measures, adopted by 160 delegates at a three-day board of governors meeting that ended yesterday, are subject to review by local units of the 9,000-member volunteer organization.

The governors criticized President Nixon's proposed welfare program which would establish a $1,600 yearly minimum federal aid to poor families of four.

'GREATER EVIL'

The UROC resolution declared that the proposal was disguised "guaranteed annual income" and that it would "create a greater evil than the present welfare system."

A proposal to congratulate Nixon's appointment of Warren Burger as chief justice was defeated after members voiced fears that Burger might be "too liberal."

Nixon was called upon to "cease all activities that tend to give respectability and prestige to the Soviet regime."

Specifically condemned was the placing of a wreath on Lenin's tomb in Moscow by astronaut Frank Borman, because Soviet-made tanks are being used in Vietnam against American soldiers.

HITS U.N. PLAN

The UROC also urged the United States to oppose "pro-communist policies of the U.N." and see to it that food and medicine go to Biafrans directly without interference from Nigerians.

The P-TA came under fire for "seeking installation of family life and sex education courses without polling local members."

UROC urged the formation of rival parent-teacher groups locally with policies contrary to those of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the California P-TA.

Two GOP leaders announced their political intentions at the three day meeting, both calling for stricter law enforcement.

Los Angeles Dist. Atty. Eville Younger said yesterday he would not be a candidate for state attorney general.

Foursome Captures Marcus Bridge Title

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The team of Jack Titus, Jeanne Davidson, Midge Cutler, all of Dallas, Tex., and Walter Willson, Washington, D.C., yesterday captured the Marcus teams championship with 37 boards in the American Bridge Association's Summer Nationals.

In second place with 35 1-2 boards were Joe Silver, Eric Kokish, both of Montreal, and Mike and Kathie Cappellentti, Alexandria, Va.

The three-session President's Cup Pairs, restricted to players with less than 100 masters points went to Californians Marshall Schwartz, San Francisco, and R. Joe Wiley, Torrance.

Another pair from California ended in a deadlock for the title but a computation of carry over from qualifying rounds put David Wilczynski, Granada Hills, and Michael Nash, Long Beach, into second place with 496, 1-2 point behind.

In the Spingold Masters teams, Maury Genud, Los Angeles, forfeited a semifinal match to the Dallas Aces. The Dallas Aces will compete with the winner of today's contest between Ira Rubin, Paranus, N.j., and Howard Schenken, New York City, for the championship.

A mini-hen, one third the size of a normal layer, but capable of producing a normal size egg, is being experimententally developed by the University of Florida.

Dissatisfaction Over Tax Reform

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Nixon administration official says there is concern at the White House that the tax reform bill does not do enough to obtain more taxes from the rich.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Charles Walker cited the case of one oil millionaire who had salary and income of $1,200,000 but paid only $400 in federal income taxes.

Walker said that under administration proposals the man would have to pay about $400,000 in federal taxes, but under the bill passed by the House "would still be paying only a few hundred dollars."

Argentina Bars Pacifist Singer

MONTEVIDEO (UPI)—United States pop singer Dean Reed said today he is determined to get on Argentine television even if he can't get into Argentina.

Reed arrived in Buenos Aires Saturday but immigration authorities promptly deported him "for political reasons" to neighboring Montevideo, Uruguay.

Reed, a pacifist, was sharply criticized by right-wing groups on a visit to Argentina in 1965. The house where he was staying was smeared with red paint.

The 30-year-old singer said today he planned to tape a program for Argentine television and send it to Buenos Aires for showing.

Sierra Club To Fight Monument Road Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Sierra Club has announced it will fight a proposal to build a new road into Devils Postpile National Monument in the far eastern corner of Madera County.

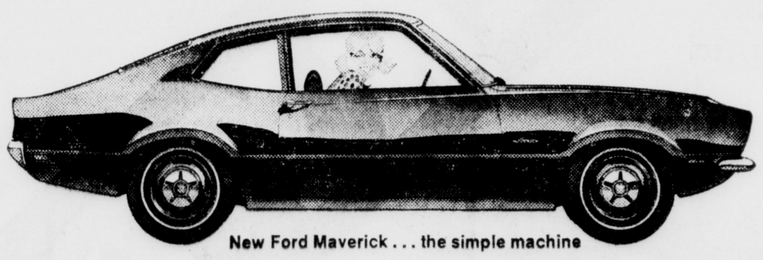
reasons why Maverick is the fastest-selling new car in automotive history!

Our little car is making a big hit. In its first 100 days Maverick has outsold every new car ever introduced. And every day more and more smart drivers are discovering the fun of owning the simple machine. Take a few minutes to find out why Maverick's so popular. Then take a test drive at your Ford Dealer's.



New Ford Maverick . . . the simple machine

1. LOW PRICE. Maverick is the best seller of the '70s at 1960 prices. And you get your money's worth. A complete car all ready to drive home.
2. LOW FUEL BILLS. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg. (Some Maverick owners report they get 25 mpg and better.)
3. 105 HORSES. Maverick's high-spirited Six gives you nearly twice as much horsepower as the leading import's engine. You get fast acceleration, easy passing.
4. PEOPLE-SIZED INTERIOR. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. Its front seat gives you nine inches more shoulder room than the leading import. Plus lots of leg room, hip room and head room.
5. EASY HANDLING. Maverick can outmaneuver the leading economy import. It can U-turn in a tighter circle, nip around corners and slide into tight parking spaces with amazing agility.
6. FEWER SERVICE CALLS. Maverick is actually easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import. Maverick oil changes come only once every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrications once in 36,000 miles. The leading import recommends an oil change twice as often and a chassis lubrication six times as often. (Maverick gives you economy without inconvenience!)
7. SIMPLE SERVICE AND REPAIRS. The Maverick Owner's Manual has 24 pages of instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You can change spark plugs, replace fuel filter, adjust ignition timing, and more. Even a smashed grille can be replaced in as little as 13 minutes.
8. WIDE-OPEN TRUNK SPACE. No more cramming in luggage just because you have a small car. Maverick gives you 10.4 cubic feet of luggage space—nearly twice as much as the leading import. (With Maverick, you can take it with you.)
9. SOLID DURABILITY. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. (And Maverick's 3-speed transmission is tough enough to handle twice as much horsepower as the engine turns out.) (Maverick may be little, but you don't have to treat it like a kid.)
10. BUILT-IN SAFETY. Unlike most economy imports, Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high. That means stability—mighty important when the road is wet or the wind is strong.

THE NATIONAL PICTURE

Criminologist Says Hoover's Report Exaggerates Situation

BERKELEY (UPI)—A University of California criminologist says J. Edgar Hoover's crime rate reports exaggerate the situation.

"One of my students has figured that at the present rate of increase, in 1990 everyone will either be in jail or a policeman," said Dr. Richard B. Hoffman.

And that would not end crime, said Hoffman, because crime tends to increase in areas, such as Latin America, with the highest per capita proportions of police.

The FBI's uniform crime report for 1968 showed a rate since 1960 increasing 11 times as fast as population. The rate is based on the nunber of reported incidents in seven categories—murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, auto theft and larceny of more than $50.

But Hoffman does not think these figures present the true picture. He believes the per capita number of persons committing crimes in American society remained about steady from the depression until the last five or 10 years when it began increasing — "but not as much as Hoover's figures indicate."

The FBI's total of 4.4 million serious crimes reported last year is deceptive, among other reasons, because of monetary inflation, Hoffman said.

In an interview, he noted inflation has doubled and tripled valuations of stolen goods. As a result, the larceny $50 and over category, which comprises 28 per cent of the total, now is swelled by petty larcenies never before included.

Auto thefts, which contribute 17 per cent of the total, are deceptive because a large but unknown proportion are cases of "joyriding" juveniles with no serious criminal intent, he said.

In Hoffman's view, part of the rise in the FBI rate is because of better reporting by local agencies, especially in rural areas. Each year he said they keep better records of crimes reported.

A reason crime is increasing, Hoffman said, is "we make crime so practical in America."

"Crime does pay. It pays a hell of a lot of people," he he said.

Citizens make their valuables easy to take, stolen goods are easy to sell, and "the probabability of getting caught is low," said Hoffman.

His reason for the rising number of burglaries, which last year totaled 1.8 million or 34 per cent of the total, is that burglary has become more profitable.

"A couple of decades ago what was there worth taking in the average house, the toaster?"

Now the burglar is inspired by easy-to-carry-and-sell color television sets and stereo equipment. Auto breakins are motivated by expensive stereo outfits and bucket seats.

Other reasons Hoffman gave for the rising crime rate are public apathy, the increased number of persons in their 20s, the age when they are most apt to commit crimes, and the steady shift of population into high density urban areas.

In high density areas people don't feel responsibility for each other, the self policing of rural societies is absent, and its's easy for a criminal to get lost, Hoffman said.

Hoffman, a visiting professor from the University of Buffalo who specializes in police management, believes U.S. police departments are badly mismanaged.

"Police have changed their methods only slightly in the past 30 years," he said. "Yet AT&T figures that if it were still using its methods of 30 years ago, it would take all the women in the country to provide enough operators to handle the current volume of calls."

In one major police department Hoffman said detectives spend an average of only one hour a day "on the street. They're nothing but paper shufflers."

As often as not, he said police departments assign the most men to areas where they get the least calls and keep their rosters low on Friday and Saturday nights—when the most crimes are committed. Only 10 per cent of their calls are because of serious crimes while 70 per cent concern domestic disputes, drunks, noise and disorderly juveniles.

"Everything considered, including retirement, the real cost of a patrolman is $25,000 a year," he said. "Yet we make very poor use of him."

Hoffman suggests that patrolmen be provided male stenographers to ride along and write their reports. He forsees installation of computers in patrol cars for storage of information.

One thing Hoffman does not recommend is large increases in police department budgets. Extra money, he said, will lessen incentives of police bureaucrats to change their methods.

Long Delay On Hall To Be Explored

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will be asked tomorrow to demand swift completion of the Hall of Justice, now nearly a year late in opening.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows, in a letter to the board, said recent construction delays are unjustifiable.

The $11.7 million building was to have opened last November.

In other business at its all-day meeting, the board is scheduled to hear more reports on logging operations on Bolinas Ridge, review Coast Guard proposals for communications facilities and housing development in West Marin and hear an appeal by the Strawberry Recreation District against apartment development on Strawberry Cove.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the board chambers at the Civic Center.

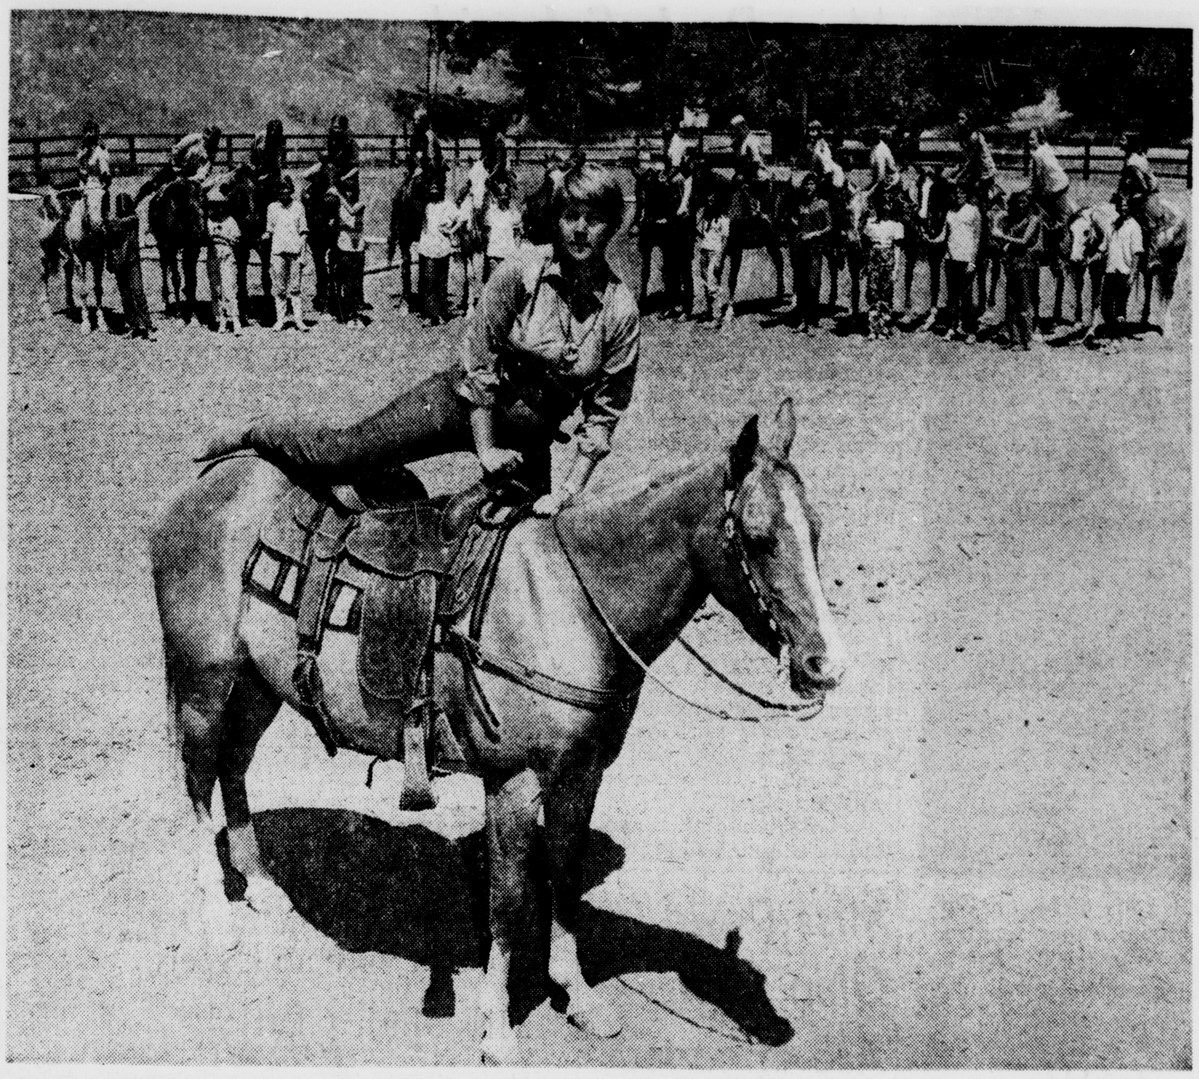
Horsemanship To Flag-Folding



DAY CAMPS for Girl Scouts throughout Marin have attracted large numbers of girls to participate in a variety of activities this summer. Here all eyes are focused on riding instructor Mrs. Harry J. Lehman of Fairfax during the special horsemanship day camp held at San Domenico School for Girls in Sleepy Hollow. Edie Lehman demonstrates the proper dismount and the girls learn by trying it themselves. Other day camps have been operated at Pacheco Ranch near Novato and at the Girl Scout camp, Sky Oaks, in Fairfax. (Independent-Journal photos by Roger Bockrath)

Marin Girl To Be Zoo Keeper In New Zealand

By MOLLY MARIN

Sue Senser of San Rafael will be on her way Wednesday to work in the Kinder Zoo in Wellington, New Zealand. She's the first female keeper ever hired by the zoo and her co-workers will be 17 male zoo keepers.

A June graduate of the University of California at Davis with a B.S. degree in zoology, Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Senser. Besides being in charge of the children's zoo she will care for young animals in the nursery and others that are hospitalized. She will also give riding lessons and work on two of the zoo's national conservation projects — preservation of Kiwai birds and Tuatara lizards.

She will leave by boat from San Francisco and expects to be there a minimum of two years.

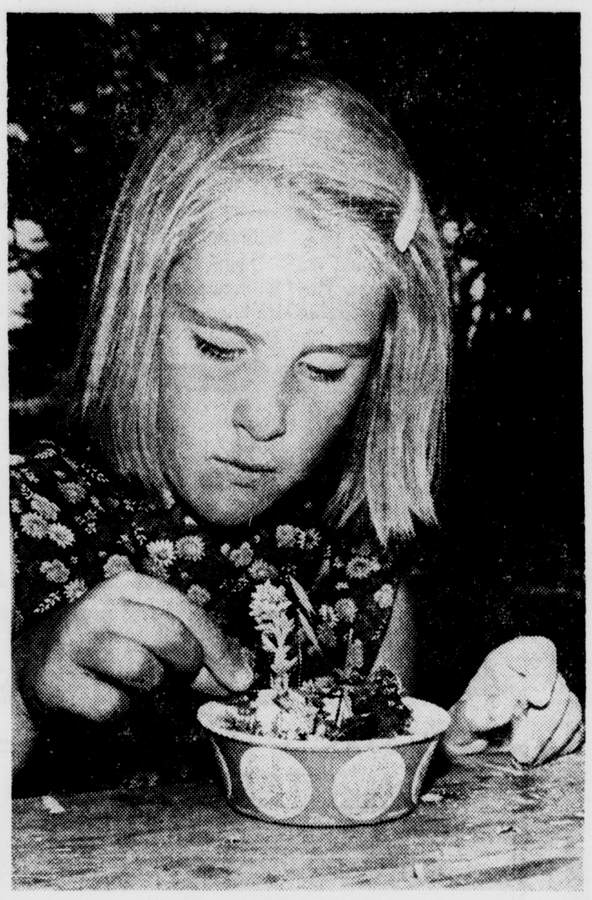
APPROXIMATELY 100 elderly persons, residents of the Hebrew Home for the Aged on Silver Avenue in San Francisco, spent an afternoon at the Belvedere Lagoon home of Mr. and Mrs. Lou H. Hymans last Monday.

The Hymans have a luncheon every year for residents of the home in honor of Evelyn Hyman's late mother and father.

BEING FETED at a number of bridal showers is Diana Marie House, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. House of Mill Valley, who will become the bride of Stanley T. Burnett of San Francisco on Aug. 24 in Stockton.

Last Monday a shower was given for Diana by one of her bridesmaids, Vicki Brassfield of San Rafael. The shower was held at the Mill Valley home of Elizabeth Pryer, who was co-hostess.

Showers have been given in Stockton recently by the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. John Harrison, with the matron of honor, Mrs. Stanley Coker, both of Stockton, and by Mrs. Frank Scott with Mrs. Ben Heim, both also of Stockton.



CAREFULLY PUTTING together a dish garden with plaster of paris, Elisibeth Minton selects dried plant material for the arrangement. Crafts are a part of the activities the girls have enjoyed at Sky Oaks during the summer day camp. Archery, spatter-printing from leaves and swimming at Boy Scout Camp Lilienthal were others. Mrs. Benton Bostick was camp director for the second session and Mrs. Wesley Page directed the first.

SISTERS Mary Ellen, O.P., and M. Gervaise, O.P., watch as Maureen Healy and Jackie Houweline, seated on fence, learn how to bridle a horse from the instructor, Edie Lehman. The horsemanship Girl Scout day camp was held at San Domenico School for the second time this year.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

It Won't Lessen A Male Image If A Man Says 'I Love You'

DEAR HELEN:

I hope you'll print my letter, for my husband and other men who read your column, whereas they don't read women's magazines where this subject is often discussed.

Men don't seem to realize they could make their wives feel like queens with just a little consideration. It isn't their "uncaringness," but their "unshowingness" that sometimes makes us feel so alone.

My husband is typical of many. He's a good and wonderful man, a fine father. But he hasn't said "I love you" in five and one-half years. We've been married less than six years. I know he loves me because of the things he does for us, but how I long to hear those words, to get a friendly hug while I'm fixing dinner, an unexpected kiss that says, "You're terrific," a compliment that isn't fished for.

A few times the feeling grew so strong that I asked my husband if he loved me. He rebuffed me with, "Actions speak louder ..." and dropped the subject. Since then I don't ask any more. He's right, of course, but the longing is still there.

Many times I tell him I love him. Helen, women everywhere will empathize with me when I say it feels like you've given a very precious gift and the receiver tramples it into the ground, when he answers a deeply-felt emotion with an absent-minded "Uh-huh," or a flip remark. So the mood is broken for me and he isn't even aware that there was a mood.

Sometimes, when the housework and children get a woman down, a compliment from the one that means most to her — on how nice the house looks, or her appearance, or how good the children are — can make the sun come out. She'll work twice as hard to maintain that image.

Too often men don't realize that women aren't as physical in their love. They need a pinch of emotion to lift them to the heights. If they'd add that one ingredient to their marriage, they'd come out with a super prize-winning recipe.

I'm not downgrading men in the least: I think they're great! But can't they see that it isn't "unmanly" to show a little tenderness? — HOPING.

DEAR HOPING:

Sadly enough, many men associate tenderness with weakness, this because of the male image passed on from one generation to the next. Little boys are strong, brave, physical — remember. They hide their emotions, fearing they'll be called sissy. While girls learn the art of femininity from their mothers, few boys hear from their fathers how to become gentle men. Dad is too busy making a man out of the kid.

Perhaps more husbands, reading your letter, will see the importance of demonstrated love. Some in this generation already have — and they're passing the word on to their sons who are almost sure to reap the benefits. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

A mother of teens asked how to avoid being an answering service when her children were out of the house. The telephone company does not like to have people take the phone off the hook. However, they can install on the underside of your phone a small, effective and easily attached switch, by which, when it is turned off, no bell will ring; while the person haveing dialed your number hears a sound like your phone is ringing.

Several years ago we had this gadget put on our phone at a cost of around $3.00. It eliminated many nuisance calls, especially at night, and allowed free time for work or naps during certain hours of the day. — KONRAD

DEAR KONRAD

Thank you for the tip. I checked with our telephone company and found that the cost of these gadgets is now around $8.00 for installation and 75 cents per month service charge.

A tip to Ma Bell: Why not equip the switch with a red light so that users will remember to unflip it? — H.

Parents Honored On 50th Anniversary At Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Filippi of Mill Valley were honored Saturday on their golden wedding anniversary at a dinner party given by their children at Dominic's Harbor restaurant in San Rafael.

A native of Piedmont, Italy, Mr. Filippi came to this country as a child, and his wife, born of Portugues descent in St. George, in the Azores, also came to this country as a child.

They met in San Francisco, where Mr. Filippi had his own garage business, and on Aug. 16, 1919, they were married in the Church of the Holy Cross in San Francisco.

In 1928 they moved to their present home in Mill Valley, where Mr. Filippi opened the Elroy Garage and operated it until his retirement 12 years ago, when it was taken over by their two sons, Robert and Walter Filippe, both of Mill Valley.

The Filippis have an unmarried son, Richard Filippi of San Francisco, and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Pearse of Berkeley, who has four children, Caroline, Tommy, Scottie and Stevie.

The Robert Filippis have two children: Robert, who will soon enter military service, and Mrs. Justine Fernandez of San Rafael, whose son Sterling is the Filippis' only great grandchild.

The Filippis are members of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in Mill Valley. They say all of their interests center around four children, 10 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

When they moved to Mill Valley they say they could almost count the houses, and their most exciting memory is the great fire of 1929.

Some 50 relatives from Redding to Ontario attended the golden wedding celebration, including Mrs. Filippi's sisters, Mrs. Joseph Gliebe and Mrs. Emil Straessler, both of San Francisco, and Mr. Filippi's sister, Mrs. Mary Delagnes of Piedmont, and brother, August Filippi of San Francisco.

Two special guests were the Rev. John J. O'Brien of Sonoma, retired pastor of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church, and the Rev. Howard Rasmussen, pastor of St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae.

Cheese is a concentrated form of milk, high in protein. A 1¼ inch cube of American cheese has about the same food value as 1 cup of whole milk.

MUSIC REVIEW

Big Attendance Points To Inverness Festival's Status

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

An attendance of some 1,500 at the six events in the fifth annual Inverness Music Festival held at St. Columba's Church and amphitheater over the weekend attested to its growing importance and quality.

The climax of the festival, directed by Fae McNally, came yesterday afternoon and evening with two operas in which success was due mainly to several fine singers.

The first of these operas was the Mascagni "Cavalleria Rusticana" completely staged in the afternoon in the amphitheater.

Major virtues of this production were the excellent performance of soprano Mildred Owen in the leading role of Santuzza and the maintenance of dramantic excitement by McNally at the piano. Fortunately, all the principals had powerful voices.

Miss Owen's voice was beautifully produced throughout a wide range of pitch and dynamics and had the emotional warmth and depth to express the impassioned feelings of the abandoned peasant girl.

Richard Wagner as Alfio had a fine baritone and was very convincing in the role of the jealous husband of the village coquette Lola, but mezzo soprano Florence Bierman in that role lacked the vivacity necessary in both acting and vocal style, though her voice quality was most pleasing.

James Eitze's big tenor in the male lead of Turridu was very impressive at times — notably in his violent rejection of Santuzza — but it lacked security at the top. And contralto Arlene White was satisfactory as Turriu's mother.

The simple stage set by Nancy Blunk served the purpose of establishing the environment, and stage direction of Sam Shaffer was inventive occasionally but static for the chorus. Composed of some 20 voices, it was expected amateur level. Off-stage organ and piano music was well played by Nancy L. Bennett.

Star of the final event last night in the church was soprano Joan Smith for two reasons — first because she sang the demanding Contata No. 51 of J. S. Bach in the opening of the chamber music program directed by Darrell Parker, and second because she sank the leading role in the concluding Mozart comic opera, "The Impresario," brilliantly.

Both works are extraordinary tests of vocal agility, and she handled them with remarkable control, seldom altering the pure lyrical quality of her voice. The trumpet accompaniment of Mark Isham in the first and last passages of the cantata, however, was too loud, and also of the small string ensemble. When acoustic are as good as they are in the church, it is easy to exaggerate volume. Fortunately the string ensemble with organ was in much better proportion in the opera.

The opera was completely captivating and sparkling finale for the festival. Its simple plot, centering around two feuding divas, was so timeless that it hardly seemed dated at all though it was first performed in 1786.

Miss Smith, though lacking older makeup and without altering vocal quality, managed to suggest successfully the aging soprano Mme. Silverklang, and Elizabeth Hetternan's pert charm and fresh young soprano were just right for the ambitious soubrette Miss Sweetsong.

Baritone Robert Grant as Herr Eiler, the ambitious banker, was outstanding in his acting of the role. The speaking parks of the impresario and buff, an American stage manager, were well portrayed respectively by Douglas Saxby and Greg Norgaard.

Between the cantata and opera the talented husband-wife team of cellist Jean and violinist Lucien Mitchell played expressively some rarely heard duets for their instruments. These were works by Beethoven, Walzell, Hanning-Chroder and Dowland.

Death Claims Singer Who Sang For Royalty

LONDON (AP) — Leslie Hutchinson, the British Negro pianist and singer who entertained royalty in the 1930s and continued performing until recently, died in a London hospital today.

Known to his fans as Hutch, he had been suffering from high blood pressure. He was believed to be in his 60s.

Chinese Technicians Aid African Railway

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanzania (UPI) — More than 280 Communist Chinese technicians and surveyors started planning operations today for a 1,000-mile railway linking copper mines in Tanzania and Zambia.

The Chinese are supplying technical aid for the project, for which construction is scheduled to begin in 1970.

Art Display By Children Set

Art work by Marin school children will be on display at the College of Marin Art Gallery from Sept. 2 to 24, college officials announced.

The exhibit is a collection of work done by second through sixth graders under the sponsorship of the Marin Museum Association with the aid of volunteer parents and classroom teachers.

Hours of the exhibit will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Singers To Perform

The Marin Shakespeare Festival singers will entertain at the Book Depot, located in Mill Valley near the bus station, between 11 a.m. and noon Saturday to call attention to the Aug. 29 performance of "Midsummer Night's Dream" dedicated to Mill Valley at the Forest Meadows amphitheater in San Rafael.

Melvin Newton Called By Jury

OAKLAND (AP) — Melvin Newton, brother of imprisoned Black Panther leader Huey Newton, says he has been subpoenaed to appear before the federal grand jury as chairman of the Huey Newton Defense Committee.

Melvin Newton, national finance chairman of the Black Panthers, told newsmen yesterday he was ordered to bring all committee records including names of contributors to an Aug. 27 hearing in San Francisco.

The defense committee was formed a month after Huey Newton was convicted of manslaughter in the Oct. 28, 1967, slaying of an Oakland policeman. Newton is now serving a two-to-15-year sentence.

Air Show Crowds Set At 8,000

Although the crowds at the air show Saturday and yesterday at Gnoss Field were not as large as expected, the show made a small profit, according to Chairman Burt Freeman.

The show, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Southern Marin and Novato, drew about 8,000 paid attendance while the clubs had hoped for 15,000, he said.

The stunt aircraft Citaba thrilled the crowd with its aerobatics. The sky divers also turned out to be one of the biggest attractions with the Diablo Sky Divers putting on the show, and radio-controlled model airplanes kept both children and adults spellbound as the little planes did loops and everything of which a big plane is capable.

It will take about a week to get in all the bills, so that the clubs know how much money they made. This profit will be used for charitable activities of the clubs, he said.

Man Booked On Drugs In Prison

A 21-year-old San Bruno man serving weekends in Marin County Jail was booked on suspicion of smuggling narcotics into jail and possession of narcotics early Saturday.

Deputies said Terry Perry had a small plastic bag containing 16 capsules on his person when he was searched before beginning his weekend in jail.

He was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Girl, 4, Drowns At Home In Bath

A 4-year-old cerebral palsy victim drowned yesterday in her grandparents' bathtub while the mother of the girl was looking for her younger daughter, the Marin County coroner's office reported.

Yvette Monique LaBoube, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth LaBoube of San Pedro, Los Angeles County, was pronounced dead on arrival at Ross General Hospital at 5:20 p.m.

Death was attributed to drowning by Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan.

The LaBoubes, who three weeks ago moved from Novato to San Pedro, were visiting LaBoube's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. LaBoube at their home at 70 Brookmead Place, San Anselmo.

Mrs. LaBoube said she had put Yvette on her back in about three inches of water in the bath, then gone to look for her younger daughter, Christina, Madigan reported. She returned to the bathroom after a short time and found Yvette face down in the water. She administered mouth - to - mouth resuscitation and the child was rushed to the hospital.

Yvette was born in Marin County. She is survived by her parents, grandparents and sister.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Stewart Memorial Chapel, San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo. Inurnment is private.

The family would prefer memorial contributions to the United Cerebral Palsy of Marin or the Shriners' Hospital.

Innocent Pleas In Burglary Case

Two brothers, Jeremiah Jerome St. Martin, 23, and Michael Vincent St. Martin, 18, and George E. Myers, 22, all of San Rafael, pleaded innocent today in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing a San Anselmo antique shop July 21.

A jury trial was set for the week of Sept. 15.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson refused to reduce the younger St. Martin's bail from $6,000 when he learned that he also has three other pending burglary charges in superior court. The older brother is free on his own recognizance but Michael St. Martin and Myers are in Marin County Jail in lieu of bail.

Motorcyclists Hurt In Highway Skidding

Two motorcyclists were injured at 9 a.m. yesterday when their machines skidded off Shoreline Highway on a sharp curve south of Olema and went into a ditch, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Japan Releases Mill Valley Man

A Mill Valley man held for more than a month, according to Associated Press reports, by Japanese police on suspicion of violating the country's drug laws has returned home.

Thomas van Valkenburgh Chesnut, 50, of 120 Eldridge Avenue, was arrested June 13, AP reported, at Tokyo International Airport on suspicion of bringing $147 worth of marijuana into Japan. Last month, Japanese authorities said he was being held by narcotics officials in Tokyo, and that no trial date had been set.

Chesnut then on a round-the-world tour, is a former music director of the Ross School District, and taught at College of Marin. He declined today to discuss his experience in Japan.

Father, 27, Faces Charges Of Neglect

George Caldwell, 27, of 906 Scott Street, Novato, was arrested at 12:51 p.m., Saturday on Highway 101 and Olive Avenue, Novato, by Novato Police on warrants from Sonoma County charging child neglect and felony bad checks.

He was released from Marin County Jail on $565 bail to appear at 2 p.m., Aug. 27 in Sonoma County Municipal Court.

Pleads Innocent

Charles E. Lawder, 43, of Houston, Tex., pleaded innocent today in Marin Superior Court to charges of lewd conduct and committing an unnatural sex act with a 7-year-old Novato boy Aug. 5. A jury trial was set for the week of Sept. 22.

Woman Held For Plant In Window

A 24-year-old Tiburon woman who attracted sheriff's deputies attention with a plant on her window sill was booked in Marin County Jail early today on suspicion of cultivating marijuana, and possession of narcotics and dangerous drugs.

Frances Helen Kumin of 1805 B Centro West was held on bail of $2,500 to appear today in Marin Municiapal Court.

Deputies on patrol noticed the plant in the window and decided it looked like marijuana. They went to the apartment and also found a brown bag containing numerous pills and a brown substance believed to be hashish or opium, the report said.

Novato Driver's Condition Fair

A Novato driver was reported in fair condition in Novato General Hospital today with fractured ribs suffered when he was thrown from his pickup truck on Highway 101 in Santa Venetia Saturday.

William John Carnaghan, 54, of 632 Wilson Avenue, was tossed out of the truck as it entered the highway off-ramp at North San Pedro Road according to the California Highway Patrol.

Carnaghan told officers the door flew open as he started the turn. The truck then hit the guardrail and overturned.

Money Stolen

'BELLE-RINGERS'

Three Clean Girls Do Hull Of A Job

By SUZANNE WOOD

Skippers, need your hull cleaned?

Well, three energetic teen-age girls have converted a scuba diving hobby into a money making game and are cleaning boats for 30-cents a foot.

When Cathy Smoot of Corte Madera, Robin Hermann of Kentfield and Jean Peters, of Ross formed their little enterprise, they dashed off an ad to the newspaper. Then they weaved through the harbors in Sausalito and Tiburon distributing homemade leaflets which advertised themselves as "the three belles."

The three aren't very big, ranging in height from five feet, one inch to five feet, six inches. Dressed in jeans and barefooted, they toted their brushes, teflon sponges and wet suits in one large army surplus bag the other day as they trudged along the pier in Sausalito Yacht Harbor with 40-pound air tanks slung over their shoulders.

Then they struggled into the $70 wet suits, helping each other with the heavy zippers and tucking their long hair under the caps. Curious fishermen and boatsmen passed by on the dock, stopping to watch the girls transform into something a little less bewitching than a mermaid.

"Some people think we're frogmen, but soon notice we're just froggirls," said 16-year old Cathy, a pert blonde who is the veteran of the group with four years' diving experience, including some in Florida and Hawaii.

Boaters notice the trio flopping along the dock in fins and one, Rev. Edward Smith Jr. of Vacaville, called out to the girls to help him find a lost anchor rope. So Cathy lowered herself into the murky water, disappearing only for a few minutes to recover the rope.

The air supply in a tank lasts long enough to clean the barnacles and seaweed off six 25-feet boats. They can only work for about 45 minutes at a depth of about six feet for most ships.

With the protection of the wet suits, the girls didn't seem to mind the 54 degree water temperatures — or the chilling breeze after they crawled out of the suits. But they dislike the murky Bay water where they found visibility only about three feet and they often bump their heads on the boats.

"It's like being in a beautiful scenic area that's all foggy," they said.

The chatty teen-agers find the most difficult thing about being underwater is not being able to talk. But the girls have developed their own hand — and feet — signals to communicate.

Although a buddy system is used in most scuba diving, this trio works closely enough under the boats to swim separately.

All three are athletic Redwood High School students who are saving money from their scuba diving to ski this winter. They've had many jobs resulting from the newspaper ad and from boat owners just seeing them around the harbors.

Cathy's father's reminder that "behind every winning boat is a clean bottom" became a winning slogan for the lively teenagers whose greatest business is on Friday — sometimes four in an afternoon — when everyone wants a clean boat for the weekend races.

But they've also done an odd assortment of jobs from cutting ropes out of propellers to patching areas beneath boats.

The three girls, who began scuba diving with ten-week lessons, have interest in becoming marine biologists.

"The most frightening thing about the underwater at first was the fish," said Jean.

Paying For New Car And Getting Used One

How would you like to buy a spanking new automobile, park it in front of your home, and when you came back out find that someone had caved in one side, leaving a dent that could never be quite effaced?

Something similar to that happened to the City of Larkspur last week.

GHILOTTI BROTHERS of San Rafael widened Magnolia Avenue from the Woodlark Apartments to Bon Air Road and installed a new channelized intersection at Magnolia and Bon Air under a $130,840 city contract. The money came from Larkspur and Marin County gasoline tax funds.

Next day, Pacific Gas & Electric Co. cut a large, square hole smack in the intersection to install a vault for underground utilities.

In effect, the city's new Cadillac-grade intersection became a "runs good but needs body work" used car overnight.

PG&E, on completing its vault job, is putting a metal cover on the hole, surrounded by paving. Motorists who feel the slight bump as they drive over the cover can thereby be reminded of what happens to some of their gasoline tax funds.

WHAT HAPPENED at Bon Air and Magnolia in Larkspur was not unusual. The sight of a newly surfaced street being cut into by a utility company or a publicly owned utility district is far from uncommon.

Sometimes the cut is unavoidable. A water main may break unexpectedly, or — as happened last year on H Street in San Rafael — the telephone company may have a cable leak which necessitates repeated excavations to locate the source. In the current Larkspur case, however, there seems little reason for the new surface being cut, since PG&E had installed new underground lines as part of the street project and was thoroughly aware of what the city was doing.

Public Works Director Warren Mistron, proud of the intersection he designed, was understandably upset when he saw a PG&E crew cutting the hole. And here pops up a reason why such things happen so often and so easily.

PG&E, AND PRESUMABLY the other utilities, have blanket street-opening permits from the City of Larkspur. They have similar blanket permits in some other cities in Marin, also.

This is very convenient for the utility. It can open a street any time without asking permission. There is therefore no need for it to coordinate its excavation work with the city's own street-opening projects.

While convenient for the utilities, however, the practice is patently unfair to the taxpayers. They pay for new streets which are promptly turned into old streets — for very rarely is it possible to restore the surface without disfiguring the appearance or creating a rough spot.

The City of Larkspur, it would appear, has only itself to blame for issuing such blanket permits. The taxpayers, as too often happens, get shortchanged for the convenience of officialdom.

Neither Surprising Nor Reassuring

It should come as no surprise to anybody that the Air Force has nuclear weapons stored at Hamilton Air Force Base. The military of the United States has become so devoted to these weapons of terrible potential that it regards them as necessary wherever it has an installation.

How casually the military regards such instruments of destruction could not be better illustrated than by the assignment of a disturbed, unreliable airman to stand guard over them. Thus has familiarity bred contempt, and "security" become a nisnomer in more ways than one.

The nuclear weapons at Hamilton are not the only ones in Marin. We can only hope that the Army is more careful in its assignment of guards at the Nike sites.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Will 140 New 'Job Agents' Prove Boon Or Boondoggle?

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan has been justifiably proud of the fact that it has reduced the number of state employees throughout California substantially.

It has avoided activities which might smack of boondoggling, and although it has not as yet wholly eliminated such activities, it at least has made a good start.

But whether this original purpose in revising attitudes toward government is to be maintained appeals now to be questionable, as plans are under way to hire 140 "job agents" at approximately a quarter of a million dollars a year, whose stated purpose will be to "develop personal relationships and progress plan for individual case loads of hard-core unemployed."

THE PLAN was announced by Gil Sheffield, who was named six months ago by Governor Reagan to head the new California Department of Human Resources Development, which encompasses the department of employment, the service center program, the state office of economic opportunity, and the commission on aging.

All of these agencies are involved with filling jobs, and some with training for jobs which will make unemployables employable.

Sheffield says he wants a "new breed" of civil servant for the 140 posts of "job agent," with special emphasis on candidates living or working in poverty areas of California.

ALTHOUGH the new employees will receive all the rights and privileges of civil service employees, they will not be hired in the regular process of selecting civil service employees, in that the state personnel board is waiving written examinations.

The employees will be selected by an oral board of four members, two of whom will be from the area in which the employees will serve. Sheffield says he knows of no written test that can measure the "dynamic" qualities he is seeking for $842 per month, which is the starting salary for the 140 employees.

THE NEW employees, he says, will be "middlemen between society and the forgotten, and they'll try, through a series of motivational programs and job training and placement services at their disposal, to bring hundreds of men and women back to participation and productivity."

He wants as "job agents," he says, people who will be equally at home in the slums and behind a bureaucratic desk, or in the office of a corporate vice-president.

"At times," Sheffield said, "I think we're looking for two souls in a single body."

How much success he will have in getting this type of personnel at $842 per month remains to be seen. Aug. 26 is the deadline for applications.

Mothers Have It No Better Here

Last night (Aug. 12), while reading your paper, I was somewhat amused, but not very, by an article, "Soviet Women Work Like Men" by James O. Jackson. The general tone of the article gave the impression that the Soviet working woman really has it so much harder than the U.S. working woman who probably really is only working for the fun of it and maybe a few extra dollars for spending money. He does mention in an off-handed way that there is no discrimination against Soviet women in the labor market, that no door is closed to them, that a great number are professionals, and that there is no wage differential as there often is here.

However, he laments the fact that after work their brutish husbands expect them to take over all the household chores, prepare meals, shop, etc.

So? This is different in this country? What a laugh! Besides, he neglects to tell that child-care is provided as a matter of course, often in nurseries operated by the factories, etc. in which the mother works.

Here the kids take their lumps along with the working mother and when things go wrong and they turn out less than good, guess who is to blame. You guessed! Mother. Not only is she blamed by the rest of society but the child often blames her, too. Never dear, old dad who drank up or gambled away the check so mother had to work in the first place. No wonder mother has become a dirty word.

I'm not trying to say that I know so much about women in the Soviet Union. I don't. But I sure know a lot about how it is to be a woman in this country and if I sound bitter it's only because I am.

Excluded Cities Once Bordered Bay

We read in your news report of Aug. 12 that BCDC — Bay Conservation and Development Commission — will exclude four "cities" in Marin from representation because they are not "bayside" communities.

The time was, within the 57 years of my lifetime, when at least one of these communities was washed by the bay waters, and I am referring to Larkspur before it elected (?) to throw away the precious heritage and convert their tidelands into those school and market sites that present somehow such a drear and sterile aspect — perhaps because they don't really belong there.

Again, when I was a student at Marin College in 1935, the bay waters nearly reached College Avenue, while in my father's day this locality was known as Ross Landing because vessels from off the bay did tie up there. Thus, by a course of greater wisdom through the years, both Larkspur and Ross — call it Kentfield if you must — might today be participating in uses of those vanished shores which must ever be regarded as more generally beneficial than sites for refuse dumps, corporation yards, super markets, and yes, schools as well.

Swallows Give Rise To Philosophy

In the dairy barns, the swallows fly in and rest on cow's back . . . catching a fly or two until cow swaps the flies with the tail. The dairy barn dwellers are very friendly.

Any new building or house erected in this rural area is soon investigated by swallows. . . . There is this great affinity for buildings . . . mutual dependence between life and things, life and life.

I think no oak would live for long, if the birds did not visit the oak.

I wonder about buildings in these parts, if the swallows did not visit. . . . Evolution at times, is more the phenomena of necessity . . . doors left open and the part we play with machines and being.

THE DRUMMONDS

Burger Brings New Activism To Role of Chief Justice

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The new chief justice of the United States, Warren E. Burger, is already showing himself an activist in major areas of law reform.

He is stepping forward to exert all the influence a chief justice can command to bring about crucially needed court reforms, prison reforms, and legal-education reforms.

Justice Burger may, as some say, prove to be conservative in interpreting the Constitution, but he is revealing that he is not at all conservative in the speed and range of reform he aims to help bring about in every major aspect of the nation's judicial system.

HE WANTS better justice and faster justice.

He wants better-managed courts.

He wants nationwide, top-to-bottom reforms in the whole long-neglected, outdated correctional system.

He wants the law schools to radically alter their teaching methods because they are not producing lawyers "with proper understanding of their role in society."

And the chief justice, who is chief administrator of all federal courts, wants major headway in all three of these areas to begin now and not stop until the reforms are made reality.

JUSTICE BURGER is not wasting any time delivering ceremonial speeches. In the past few days he has delivered addresses to different sections of the American Bar Association, and in every one he had something important to say and he said it very pointedly.

On the issue of the painfully long delays in the administration of criminal justice, Burger's blunt proposition is that the courts urgently need trained specialists to manage them efficiently, and he frankly says the judges are no more qualified to do this than doctors are qualified to manage hospitals.

He points out that "frustrated and angry citizens called for jury service find that 20 per cent of their time is spent in trials and 80 per cent just waiting." And the same with witnesses.

He warns that the "patienct of the American people with the processes of litigation is wearing thin." He points out that while NASA has produced 58 skilled astronauts in barely a dozen years, the judicial system hasn't produced more than a handful of skilled court administrators in a century. His answer: Begin a training program for court management specialists in 60 days.

BURGER IS ALSO calling for a comprehensive examination of the whole penal system — parole, probation, prisons, their staffs, their educational and vocational programs, their standards and procedures for release.

He suggests that the nation which grants criminal defendants more safeguards than any other ought to do better, rehabilitating more of those who are convicted and sent to prison. He makes the arresting suggestion that consideration be given to "separating the sentencing from the fact-finding function of the court."

The chief justice is not less outspoken in urging that the law schools get into the 20th Century. "The modern law school," he says, "is not fulfilling its basic duty to provide society with people-oriented and problem-oriented counselors and advocates to meet the broad social needs of our changing world." He makes this comparison:

"Perhaps we may shed light on the problem by asking whether we could train doctors simply by having them do autopsies for five years in medical school and then wind up with one course on how to examine and question and diagnose a live patient."

BURGER IS GOING to be heard from quite often — and to good effect.

Since Congress must play a decisive role in judicial reform, wouldn't it be valuable and fitting for Congress to invite the chief justice of the United States to address it on the state of the law?

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Thurmond's Role Cloudy In Choice Of Justice

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.'s elevation from southern obscurity to the limelight of the Supreme Court sheds little additional information on Sen. J. Strom Thurmond's influence in the Nixon administration.

It can be argued, with almost equal soundness, that the choice of Haynsworth is a rebuff or a coup for the segregationist senator, regarded as Nixon's top political ally south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

THOSE WHO TEND to discredit Thurmond's impact on Nixon can point to the record and show that Haynsworth was not the senator's choice.

On the other hand, those who remember Thurmond's role at the convention which nominated Nixon cannot overlook the fact that Haynsworth would be the first Supreme Court jurist from South Carolina since James F. Byrnes.

Both sides can make a good argument.

Although Thurmond did not recommend Haynsworth to Nixon, he did not block him and regards him as well qualified for the Supreme Court. There will be no objection from Thurmond when the nomination reaches the Senate.

Thurmond recommended Donald S. Russell, a former governor and senator and now a U.S. District Judge. That recommendation was somewhat surprising because Russell and Thurmond share neither politics nor philosophy.

ON THE OTHER side, it can be argued that the Nixon administration never really seriously considered Russell and that Thurmond's recommendation was really a throwaway.

What counted, this argument runs, is that Thurmond did not object to Haynsworth. In fact, a full-fledged endorsement from Thurmond might have been more damaging than helpful for Haynsworth.

Now Nixon can offer the nomination of the 56-year-old Haynsworth to the country, free of a Thurmond endorsement which might have made him non-acceptable to liberals in both parties despite his record.

Militant and self-righteous young, believing that they have personally discovered the notion of injustice, trumpet their contempt for the past — thereby proving only that they had not read the past. For had they read the past, they would have encountered their own mirror image a thousand times. — Stephen K. Bailey.

Will Empty Courthouse Soon Become Newest Hippie Haven?

While everyone is wondering when the Hall of Justice will open, the real problem has been overlooked — disposition of the courthouse in San Rafael.

The building will be abandoned when the courts and allied offices move to the Civic Center, and efforts by the county to sell it have flopped.

The City of San Rafael reportedly is still interested, but is the city treasury able?

A breakthrough may come when the county closes the big doors of the courthouse behind it, because no plan has been made to protect the building from vandalism. No guards are to be hired — funds for them were eliminated from last year's budget. Window barriers could be erected, but who wants to look at plywood siding?

The thought of a disintegrating landmark smack in the middle of downtown probably has city officials and merchants trembling, but this is just what the county may be counting on.

"We're going to let the place run down, let the grass grow — turn it over to the hippies," said a county official, smiling mischievously. "Then we'll see what happens."

THE BUSINESS of the planning commission took a domestic turn at the last meeting when, during discussion on Richardson Bay development, Chairman Michael Praskzer wondered whether Alexis Tellis and Meriam Tellis, both of whom own property there, were related.

"Formerly," said Mrs. Tellis to the chuckles of the audience. (They're divorced.)

THE PAY CHECKS of Supervisors Michael Wornum and John F. McInnis were switched the other week, but it's not the type of situation in which one employee gets to find out what the other guy — usually a hated rival — is making. Each of the five supervisors makes $800 a month.

Rick Cullen, a high school student working in the county parks and recreation department this summer, found a radio at Paradise Beach Park in Tiburon and gave it to Jim Vande Weg, park development coordinator, who mailed it to the owner, a fellow from Saskatchewan.

The other day, Vande Weg received a letter of thanks from the man — and a souvenir $2 Canadian bill.

FUNNY HOW the spending mind thinks, isn't it? Two weeks ago, the board of supervisors quickly voted $20,000 in county money to give attorneys a place to work in the new Hall of Justice. This past Tuesday, the board about-faced and refused to spend $65 to help bring a promising applicant for an interview for the job of community coordinator under the Marin City 701 planning program.

Several of the supervisors felt the applicant lacked initiative because he wouldn't pay the full plane fare from Seattle himself. Funny, but we felt the same way about the attorneys.

Imagery In Story Writing— Much of It Is The Reader's

It's a hot day. Too hot to write. These August days I feel like a lizard lazying on a rock, and today is one of the most lizard days of all.

The temperature in the shady breeze-way is 96, in the direct sun it must be pushing 115! So if you'll indulge me, I'll try to squeak past my editor by writing an easy column and an easy column for me is to talk about writing.

A few days ago I was in the lobby of the Hyatt House Hotel in Los Angeles talking with a few friends. One of them mentioned a column I had written some time ago, one of the "story" columns I enjoy writing every now and then, and my friend began telling it to the others.

I LISTENED with increasing amazement. He told the story accurately enough, but he had taken my little tale that can be read aloud in less than five minutes and had dressed it up into a full-blown, colorful anecdote which took about 20 minutes to unfold.

He was a splendid raconteur. And as any fine weaver of stories will, he embellished it in his own style, elaborating on the characters, a deft touch here, a bit of with there. I found myself caught up in his story of my own story. What a pleasant yet strange feeling it was!

Later, thinking about it, I marveled at his mastery of the art of story-telling. He had expanded the yarn in his own way. He had seen in it much more than I had hoped. His imagination had taken hold and had added dimensions to my story which I know I hadn't intended to be.

IT IS THIS sort of imagery excited by a novel which frequently causes the motion picture based on it to be disappointing to those who have read the book. The commonplace remark that "the movie was not as good as the book" is often the failure of the motion picture to leave anything to the imagination, or it does not live up to the imagery the book succeeded in creating in the reader's mind.

A skilled novelist or short-story writer depends on the reader's fancy to amplify and to fill in the spaces, while the motion picture, on the other hand, often distorts his imagery or restricts it.

The story teller's ability to evoke the reader's imagination and allow it to expand is the refinement of his talent and to the reader it is a disarming and illusionary quality, leading him to believe that he could have written the story himself — so simply is it written. But this is a mirage, an illusion. The deceptive reality is that the more simply told the story is, the more successfully does it perform its function and the more difficult it is to write and to rein the urge to explain and to tell all.

THE WRITER fails when he underestimates his reader's imagination and tries to dot every literary i and cross every figurative t for him, a fault all too evident in many neophyte writers.

Hemingway's short stories are classic examples of restraint and brevity. His readers fill in where filling in is needed. Stephen Crane's work provides excellent models which supply just the right springboard for the reader to take the plunge into his own imagination — where the story comes alive.

Teen-Age Trio Receives Minor Auto Injuries

Three teen-agers suffered minor head injuries yesterday when their car struck a parked car along Eliseo Drive in Greenbrae, swerved through a center divider and hit a garage door.

California Highway Patrol officers said the car driven by Steven Dale Tannehill, 16, Ross, was northbound on Eliseo Drive, north of Via La Cumbre, when it struck a parked car owned by Ruby Smith of 10 Eliseo Drive, at 3 a.m.

The car crossed the divider and into a garage door at the home of Thomas R. Harriman at 15 Eliseo Drive, officers said.

Tannehill suffered a head cut. One passenger Bradley Twoomey, 16, of 51 Via Navar-Larkspur, suffered a head cut, and another, Kent A. Harrington, 16, of 314 Via LaPaz, Larkspur, sufered a head bruise.

They were treated at Marin General Hospital.

Motor vehicle registrations in the United Staees increased 4.1 per cent in 1968 to top 100 million.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Special Microscope A Boon To Delicate Ear Operations

VAN DELLEN

Thanks to advances in surgical technics and improved hearing aids, most people who are hard of hearing are able to compensate for their handicap. Using a special microscope, the ear specialist repairs and reconstructs tissues no larger than a pea. Antibiotics control infection, thus increasing the safety of these delicate procedures. Physicians also have expanded their knowledge of the anatomy of the hearing organ and have a better understanding of acoustics.

Conductive hearing loss is caused by an obstruction or defect in that part of the anatomy that relays sound to the inner ear. Beyond this, sound is transmitted by sensory structures in the inner ear and the acoustic nerve. Deafness due to defects in this area is not correctable via surgery; sound amplification and lip reading minimize this handicap.

SOUND ENTERS the car through the outer canal leading to vibrations of the drum. The energy created here is transmitted along a lever mechanism (malleus, incus and stapes) and impressed into the small oval window where contact is made with the sensory and nerve centers of hearing.

Any abnormality in the outer and middle ear may interfere with the conduction of sound. Most of these defects respond to surgery. Some babies are born without an outer ear canal, and if the inner ear exists, a new canal and drum are created. Surgery of this type is not done when hearing is normal in the other ear. Other abnormalities of the ear canal and drum also are correctable.

HEARING PROBLEMS caused by injury from explosions, penetrating objects, or fractures from a blow also can be corrected. This is true of chronic infections of the mastoid and middle ear as well as hearing losses from failure of the eustachian tube to open during swallowing. Otosclerosis, last on the list of remedial defects, will be discussed tomorrow.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

PANTS ON CLIMBING

A reader writes: I'm 65 years old and thorough physical checkups indicate that I am in perfect condition. But whenever I climb a flight of stairs, I get all tuckered out. How do you explain this problem?

REPLY

Being healthy at 65 does not mean that your heart and lungs are in the same condition they were when you were 15. Panting usually is due to lack of reserve in these organs, which can be restored through graduated exercises — even at 65.

A FAT PLUG

F. C. writes: What is a fat embolism?

REPLY

A piece of fat that sloughs or breaks off into a vein and is carried to the lungs. It travels until it reaches a vessel that is too small to permit further progress. The pulmonary vessel becomes plugged by the embolus from this point on.

LAW IN ACTION

Cross-Examining In The Bible

Cross-examination is very old. People have always questioned a speaker to try to judge the truth of what he says.

The Thirteenth Book of Daniel tells the story of Susanna and the elders. The two elders tried to win Susanna's affection, but when they failed they tried to condemn her before the tribe, claiming that she had accepted a young man's attentions. The tribe was about to kill her when Daniel said: "Are ye so foolish, that without examination or knowledge of the truth, you have condemned a daughter of Israel?"

Daniel took each of the two elders aside and questioned them. Their conflicting stories absolved Susanna and condemned her accusers.

In a modern trial the opposing lawyer can cross-examine each witness to test his memory, his bias, and his knowledge and to bring out the whole story. Cross-examination may show the witness has an interest in the outcome of the case, or has prejudice about it which casts doubt on his credibility. Each party can have witnesses excluded during another's testimony. The judge will also order them not to discuss their testimony before trial. Each witness should testify free from the influence of other witnesses.

Often a lawyer loses his case on cross-examination when he unintentionally brings out facts which destroy his own case, or when a witness he is trying to impeach gives answers that sound convincing.

The denial or curtailing of cross-examination impairs a fair trial, the right to confront witnesses. When this occurs, a higher court often reverses such cases.

One cross-examination method is "impeachment." There the questioner intends to show that the witness may have made contradictory statements before. If so, his earlier statements or those made in the course of discovery (questions asked in proceedings before trial) may be produced in court. Inconsistencies may cause the jury to doubt or to disregard what he says.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Horse Policeman Injured In Toss

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A mounted policeman was reported in improved condition today after suffering a hairline fracture when he was tossed from his horse while chasing two robbers in Golden Gate Park.

Officer Terence M. Ryan, 24, and his horse, Jumbo, were both injured when the animal slammed into the rear of a moving car during the chase Saturday.

Richard Martin, 23, who had just arrived from Jamaica, was walking through the park when two men grabbed him and dragged him into the bushes. Martin was beaten and robbed of $12 and a wrist watch.

Girl, 14, Dies In Crater Lake Fall

CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK, Ore. (UPI)—Tina Bazzett, 14, yesterday was walking along a popular trail on the rim of Crater Lake in this Oregon park. She was headed for the boat launching area for a boat trip around the lake.

But she apparently lost her balance and fell 100 feet to her death on the shore of the lake.

The Stockton, Calif., girl was walking with her home town companion, Charlotte Miller, on Cleetwood Cove trail, a path the acting park superintendent Paul Larson, said is "fairly well used."

A doctor at the scene said the girl died upon hitting the ground.

Cyclist's Injuries Minor In Collision

California Highway Patrol officers said Arsenault's westbound cycle collided with a southbound car driven by Fred Louis Swan, 54, of 1261 48th Avenue, San Francisco, at 5:20 p.m. Arsenault told officers he would be treated by his own doctor.

Train Loaded With Poison Gas Is Near Destination

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Railroad police guarded a train carrying 210 tons of poisonous gas today as it sat at a secluded siding on the outskirts of the city waiting to take the last four-and-one-half-mile leg of a cross-country journey that stirred widespread controversy.

The train was to be moved to the VanDeMark Chemical Co., which uses the gas in the production of pesticides, dyes, pharmaceuticals and plastics.

The gas — surplus phosgene from World War I — is part of two shipments to different sections of the country from the Army's Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Colorado. The other shipment was to Geismar, La.

State Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-Buffalo, had called the canisters in which the gas was being transported unsafe. He said they were corroded.

A VanDeMark spokesman, however, said the canisters were in good condition.

Auto Is Looted Of Guitar, Clothing

Gary Motchwick of 760 Corona Road, Petaluma, told police yesterday that a guitar and clothing had been stolen from his car while parked at the rear of the Spa Tavern, 18 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Taken was a guitar valued at $200, eight shirts, six pairs of slacks, two sport coats and an electric iron.

The Perfect Children's Program

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—The perfect children's program, if such a thing exists, should also attract adults to the tube and all networks spend a lot of time seeking the elusive point at which the interests of the generations coincide.

On a school playing field in Ridgefield, Conn., one sunny day recently Jacqueline Babbin helped rehearse a group of subteenagers for a scene in one of the plays of "CBS Children's Hour," the program her network hopes will enthrall offspring and parent alike.

BETTER ADVENTURES

Mayhem is, of course, the easiest way to capture the small fry audience but this year, with Washington's censorious eye on their product, the networks are trying to appeal to the better natures, if any, of the little darlings.

"This is a fascinating project," said Miss Babbin while the children took their places as players and spectators at what will appear on the screen as a school baseball game. "There's nothing else like it at all. It's not the cartoon route. It's not the sweet route. It's not entertainment for the sake of entertainment. We've got some suspense and some laughs to keep kids glued to their sets but at the end of it we hope they'll also feel they've learned something."

The hope is that mum and dad will not say "sit and watch that." but "let's sit and watch that."

FIRST OF THREE

The first of the three plays Miss Babbin is preparing was "Summer is Forever" by Broadway playwright Alvin Boretz. It stars Gary Merrill as a Maine lobster fisherman and it is intended, according to Miss Babbin, to convey the thought that dreamers can also be doers and that friendship is a form of cooperation.

The second, "Toby," being filmed at Ridgefield, is the story of a 9-year-old near-genius who learns that his brain may be adult but his heart is that of a small boy. It stars Robert Hennessy.

McLain Calls Charley Finley 'Bush'

OAKLAND (AP) — Pitcher Denny McLain of the Detroit Tigers celebrated his 19th victory of the season by launching a verbal blast at owner Charles O. Finley of the Oakland Athletics.

An hour after yesterday's 9-1 win, McLain was still angry over what he termed "bush" tactics by Finley, who ordered Oakland Coliseum organist Lloyd Fox to play loud music while McLain was pitching in the first inning.

"I expected elephants to come marching in from center field with Charlie O. — the man not the mule— leading the way," McLain said. "I don't know if Finley wants to own a baseball team or a three-ring circus."

Finley had promised he would use organ music to upset McLain and he lived up to the boast. It bothered McLain to the extent that he gave up the two-run homer to Oakland's Reggie Jackson in the first inning, his 43rd of the year.

"That's the kind of stuff that is bush," McLain said." You don't hear peoople talking when musicians are playing and I don't expect musicians to play when I'm pitching.

He complained to plate umpire Bill Stewart about the organ music and Stewart called Oakland Manager Hank Bauer out of the dugout for a talk. After that the music stopped.

"I don't think Bauer liked it either," McLain said "He has some good ball players. If Finley wants to do that bush stuff, he should buy one of those Global League teams."

Writers covering the game couldn't hear the music in the press box because of the acoustics of the stadium.

"You guys didn't miss anything," McLain said to writers.

Jackson was the only other player who commented on the music. "It bothered me the first time I was up," he said, "I couldn't concentrate."

Jackson tried to get the organist to stop playing by waving his bat at him.

Sunday's defeat dropped the A's two games behind the Minnesota Twins in the American League West race.

CAROLAN HURTS KNEE; TO UNDERGO SURGERY

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A key injury had the Kansas City Chiefs, winners of three straight pre-season football games, worried today.

A Chiefs spokesman said that tight end Reg Carolan of Novato would undergo knee surgery to repair damage sustained in Kansas City's 23-7 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals Saturday night at Jackson, Miss.

The surgery is expected to sideline Carolan, former Drake High School star, for most of the season. He had moved up to the No. 1 position this year when Fred Arbanas moved to tackle.

JIM GILMARTIN

Thank Goodness For The Grass

I'm indebted to the City of San Francisco's Parks and Recreation Department for reseeding the playing surface of Kezar Stadium. Unveiled yesterday for the first time this season, the gridiron was a beautiful blanket in two shades of green, the darker shade representing the newer turf. Three cheers for the gardeners.

A crowd of 33,894 nature lovers turned out yesterday afternoon to watch the new grass grow. It was the most excitement of the day.

The germination process was hampered however, by a bunch of helmeted grown trespassers dressed in funny outfits with numbers on their shirts, pants not quit long enough, knocking each other down and clumsily playing catch with an oblate spheroid known as a football. There were called the San Francisco 49ers and the Dallas Cowboys.

But Why Spoil It?

Why they would have to spoil the exciting spectacle of growing grass is beyond me, but the promoters billed their performance as a pre-season game that has to rank as the dullest two and one half hours 33,894 paying suckers have ever spent. I've seen more action in the consolation semifinals of the Sausalito Patty-cake Tournament.

The fact that Dallas won a 20-17 decision shouldn't send 49er filberts rushing to the bridge rail. Coach Dick Nolan stuck to his game plan of testing his younger talent. It wasn't exactly a Who's Who lineup San Francisco fielded; more like Who's That?, particularly on offense with a lot of youngsters getting their chances.

The Niner defense was dominated by veterans and they did a capable job against the offensive-minded Cowboys who used their number one quarterback, Craig Morton, most of the game.

Brodie In First Half

Nolan, meanwhile, used numero uno QB John Brodie only for the first half, during which old moneybags salvaged a 10-10 tie and completed 11 passes, 3 to Dallas. Two weren't really his fault, though, as a gust of wind spoiled one and a fallen receiver the other.

The second half saw the demotion of George Mira from second string quarterback to third string, changing positions with Steve Spurrier. Mira also changed places with Brodie as Kezar's No. 1 Boo Bird. Now John-John's only a half-harassed quarterback while the mere mention of Mira's name excites an unfriendly roar from the grandstands after his second straight odiferous performance. He played all the third quarter and briefly in the fourth, completing two passes for eight yards. The five passes he missed were poorly thrown.

For the second straight Sunday Spurrier showed he can move the team, but in both cases, it must be remembered, he was operating against a "prevent defense" which concedes short passes. Nolan will probably give him a better test against the Brocos in Denver this Saturday night.

Top Picks Used Sparingly

San Francisco's two top draft choices were used only sparingly. Flanker Gene Washington caught one pass for four yards and injured an eye; tight end Ted Kwalick payed the second half but they didn't throw to him because the late arrival hasn't learned the system yet.

Rookies Bill Wondolowski from Eastern Montana and Gene Moore of Occidental were the principal pass receivers with four and three catches, respectively, but they don't figure prominently in the future.

I think most fans will be patient with Nolan's slow process of eliminating excess baggage from the squad. These games are only for funsies. When they start playing for keepsies on Sept. 21 the Niners will be contenders. In fact, I think when they play the Raiders in Oakland on Aug. 31 you will get a preview of what the real 49ers will look like in 1969. They'll be contenders, alright.

Meantime, give a few cheers to the Kezar gardener for averting a totally wasteful day.

IMPRESSIVE RECEIVER—San Francisco rookie Bill Wondolowski cuts after grabbing a 19-yard pass from quarterback John Brodie as Dallas Cowboy Cornell Green moves in to make the tackle. Wondolowski made a good impression, catching four passes for 65 yards. (AP Wirephoto)

49ERS LOSE

A Rookie Runs Wild

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—If Dallas rookie running back Calvin Hill becomes another Jim Brown or Ollie Matson, the San Francisco 49ers can at least claim they helped discover him.

The former Yale star captured the fancy of a partisan crowd of 33,894 fans at Kezar Stadium yesterday in a Dallas exhibition victory not as close as the 20-17 score indicates.

The 6-foot-4, 227-pound Hill, who is deceptively fast, gained 106 yards in 16 carries for a 6.6 average. His longest gain was 27.

NULLIFIED

Hill also hauled in a 60-yard scoring pass that was nullified by a penalty, and caught three other passes for 28 yards.

"I saw today what we drafted No. 1," smiled Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who brought up the comparison with Matson, former University of San Francisco and pro running great.

"Matson looked quicker," added Landry, "but Hill stretches for four yards at a time."

"Our type of play is tailored for him," he said. "He dosn't have the quick moves of a smaller runner, but he's dangerous in the open."

MARGIN

The margin of victory turned out to be one of Mike Clark's field goals for Dallas. He booted one for 22-yards for the first score of the game and broke a 10-10 halftime tie with a 21-yarder early in the third quarter.

San Francisco's Steve Spurrier sparked a late 80-yard drive, hitting rookie receiver Bill Wondolowski of Eastern Montana State on passes of 17, 11 and 19 yards.

Spurrier threw three yards to rookie Gene Moore of Occidental for the final 49er score with 28 seconds left.

"We had our second defensive unit in during the last drive," commented Landry, "but it's always hard to take your first team out. I was proud of our defense in the third quarter," when Spurrier and George Mira were handcuffed by strong rushes.

"I thought Brodie played a good game," despite three first-half interceptions, said Nolan. "On Gaechter's interception, the ball popped out of Bob Windsor's hands."

Giant Hurling Earns Split

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Consoled by a pitching renaissance in their weekend series with the hard-hitting Chicago Cubs, the San Francisco Giants began their final eastern swing of the season.

The Cubs, comfortably ahead in the Eastern Division, mustered only nine runs in the four-game series yet emerged with a 2-2 standoff that left the clubs tied 6-6 at the conclusion of their season play.

San Francisco's bullpen, a sore spot all season, didn't allow the Cubs a hit in 7 2-3 innings yesterday, but Chicago won the second game of a doubleheader 3-1 after the Giants took the opener 5-3.

Willie Mays' three-run homer gave starter Bob Bolin a lead in the first game, but it took Frank Linzy's dazzling relief and a two-run, seventh-inning single by Bobby Bonds to produce the win.

Linzy, 10-6, held the Cubs hitless for 3 2-3 innings, allowing only one ball to reach the outfield.

Cubs' starter Dick Selma, 12-4, and relievers Rich Nye and Phil Regan collaborated on a four-hitter to give Chicago the split of the twin bill.

Singles by Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Ron Santo chased Bolin in the sixth. With Mike McCormick pitching, Beckert stole third and scored on catcher Dick Dietz' overthrow for a 3-3 tie. That brought in Linzy.

Selma walked the bases loaded in the first inning of the nightcap but survived the scare

PGA Champ Learns A Lesson

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Ray Floyd, one of the young rising stars on the professional tour, says he learned a lesson from his one-stroke victory in the 51st PGA Championship.

"After today, I know I'll never play safe again. It's not my game," he said after edging slick Gary Player for the coveted title.

The 26-year-old native of North Carolina skidded to a 74 yesterday for a 72-hole score of 276 en route to his third tour victory and his first major triumph in an eight-year career. He was eight-under par for the distance.

'LUCKY'

"I feel lucky," said the handsome, curly-haired pro. "It's a good thing none of the others had a hot round. I can only remember five or six shots I was pleased with."

San Rafael Braves Win; Retain Lead

San Rafael Braves had to struggle from behind to win the first game and breezed through the nightcap yesterday, sweeping a doubleheader from Watsonville to stay on top of the San Jose Traveling Semi-Pro Baseball League.

The clutch hitting shortstop Dave Edson and great relief pitching by Ben Burch and Braves a 4-2 first game victory in eight innings while Wayne Burd and Art Blunt starred at bat behind Jim Lavick's five-hit pitching in a 9-1 second game victory.

10-2 RECORD

The results gave San Rafael a 10-2 won-lost record in league play with only two games remaining next Sunday in Monterey.

The Braves, who now have nine consecutive victories and a 30-7 season record, had to come from behind in the opener at the

El Molino Nine Captures DiMaggio Tournament Crown

El Molino of Forestville, a team with an ocean-deep pitching staff, is the champion of the regional Joe DiMaggio League Tournament which wound up at Albert Field in San Rafael yesterday.

El Molino roared past Best Products of San Francisco, 9-4, in the final game yesterday to cop the trophy and a trip to the state finals at Billy Hebert Field in Stockton Thursday through Sunday.

El Molino used five different starters in winning four games and losing a 1-0 decision to Best Products yesterday.

Myers Safety Switch of San Francisco, unbeaten prior to Saturday, drew a complete blank, losing to El Molino, 5-0 — with Walt Sweeney of Petaluma High School throwing a no-hitter for the winners — and 2-0 to Best Products.

Best Products, after losing its opener to El Molino Thursday, 4-2, came back to down Annex Motors and Meyers Safety Switch Saturday, and took a 1-0 must game from El Molino yesterday, only to lose the final game.

Bruce Blackman hurled a two-hitter in Best Products' 1-0 win over El Molino, driving in the winning run by drawing a walk with the bases loaded in the bottom of the sixth inning.

It was no contest in the final game, as El Molino roared off to a 9-0 lead in the first four innings behind the pitching of Bob Lefor. Lefor held on to a shutout for six innings before the losers erupted for four runs in the final inning.

Sweeney walked three and struck out six batters in his no-hitter.

Annex Motors got only three hits against Best Products. The team was in the game briefly when Dewy Forry walked, stole second and scored on an error in the second inning for a brief 1-1 tie.

Mistakes Cost Both Raiders, Chargers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers' inability to score touchdowns is getting to be a psychological hangup.

That was coach Sid Gillman's view Saturday night after his Chargers scored their second preseason success in three games, a 10-7 decision over the Oakland Raiders. In 12 quarters of play, San Diego's offense has produced just one touchdown.

"We'll get our offense going," Gillman said. "When we go back to camp I am going to take them to the goal line and show them that there is no big fence around it."

Charger quarterback John Hadl added: "The team is beginning to jell but everytime we get near the goal line something happens to ruin the drive, like penalties or mistakes."

The Chargers lost the ball once when Dick Post fumbled and Oakland's Ike Lassiter recovered in the end zone. Leslie Duncan's 69-yard punt return, which would have put San Diego inside the Oakland 10, was nullified by a penalty.

The Raiders also were hurt by penalties, losing touchdowns for infractions during George Atkinson's 62-yard punt return and Daryle Lamonica's 14-yard end zone pass to Warren Wells.

"You can't expect to win when you lose three touchdowns and miss three field goals," Oakland coacch John Madden said.

Besides the plays nullified by penalties, Madden said he thought Rod Sherman was in the end zone when he caught a pass from Lamonica in the third quarter.

The official ruled otherwise and Oakland had to attempt a 17-yard field goal. George Blanda's effort was wide of the mark, as were his kicks from 37 and 38-yards out.

Defense saved the day for San Diego, as linebacker Rick Redman scored the go-ahead points in the third quarter by returning an intercepted pass 24-yards for a touchdown.

The Raiders had taken the lead on a 32-yard touchdown pass from Lamonica to Wells, and San Diego didn't get on the scoreboard until 20-seconds were left in the first half on Dennis Partee's 33-yard field goal.

Madden was not vocally upset over the loss.

"Two good things: We were able to use Tom Keating for three or four series in the second period. Also, Hewritt Dixon was able to run, block and catch passes."

and had a no-hitter until Bonds blasted his 22nd homer with one down in the fifth.

Rookie Ron Bryant, 2-1, made his second start of the season and was touched for Chicago's scoring in the fourth and fifth.

Billy Williams' walk, Santo's single, Ernie Banks' sacrifice and Bryant's wild pitch opened the scoring in the fourth. Kessinger's two-out single, Beckert's double, Williams' single and an error added two runs in the fifth.

Selma was lifted after Bonds and Ron Hunt singled with two out in the seventh. Nye took over and used only two pitches before pinch-hitter Jim Hart grounded to the mound.

FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Some Long Faces In New York Area

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The reddest faces belong to that army of National Football League die-hards, who argued in January after Joe Namath pitched the American League New York Jets to a Super Bowl victory over the NFL kingpin Baltimore Colts that Namath wasn't really for real and that the Jets played far over their heads.

The Giants, who occupied the New York football throne for nearly 4½ decades and saw it crumble beneath them in less than three hours yesterday, will vouch for the fact that Namath is very much for real and that the Jets deserve their status as pro football's world champions.

HUGE CROWD

Some 70,874 spectators jammed Yale Bowl in New Haven, Conn., and watched the Jets clobber the proud Giants 37-14.

Namath insulted the Giants pass defense by completing 14 of 16 tosses for 188 yards and three touchdowns.

So, once again, the cocky and controversial Namath, as he did in the Super Bowl, made good his pre-game boast:

"I don't think too many people are going to take the Giants seriously any more."

In yesterday's other exhibition games, the Atlanta Falcons bombed the Boston Patriots 34-16 and the Dallas Cowboys nipped the San Francisco 49ers 20-17.

OTHER SCORES

Seven games were played Saturday night. The Cleveland Browns downed the Los Angeles Rams 10-3, the San Diego Chargers edged the Oakland Raiders 10-7, the Chicago Bears ripped the Green Bay Packers 19-9, the Kansas City Chiefs routed the Cincinnati Bengals 23-7, the St. Louis Cardinals tripped the Pittsburgh Steelers 27-13, the Philadelphia Eagles defeated the Miami Dolphins 14-10 and the New Orleans Saints stopped the Denver Broncos 28-12.

Friday night's only action saw the Baltimore Colts squeeze by the Houston Oilers 33-29 and the Detroit Lions beat the Buffalo Bills 24-12.

PAYOFF PITCHES

Namath's payoff pitches were a 29-yarder to George Sauer, 20 yards to Bill Mathis and two yards to Pete Lammons. Rookie Mike Battle of Southern California got another Jet touchdown when he rembled 86 yards on a punt return. Fran Tarkenton passed for both Giants touchdowns, 13 yards to Aaron Thomas and 48 yards to Bobby Duhon.

Jim Butler scored twice in the Falcons' conquest of Boston, once on a 76-yard gallop. After spotting the Patriots a 6-0 lead on Gino Cappelletti's 23-yard and 50-yard field goals, the Falcons assumed command and led 17-6 at halftime.

A 39-yard pass from Jack Concannon to Dick Gordon and three field goals by Mac Percival for Chicago's Bears wiped out Green Bay's 9-0 advantage. Kansas City's victory over Cincinnati was highlighted by Emmitt Thomas' 51-yard interception return for a touchdown and Jan Stenerud's three field goals.

African bidding for his second PGA conquest, finished with a 70 for 277. He started the day five strokes back, rallied to within one shot going to the 16th hole but missed a six-foot putt for a crushing bogey while Floyd was rolling in a 35-footer for a birdie.

Player, apparent target of civil rights demonstrators Saturday, finished second for the fifth time this year.

Threats of further disturbances aimed at disrupting the tournament failed to materialize. Not one single incident occurred on the rugged par 71, 6,915-yard NCR Course, which at times resembled an armed camp with about 125 special security officers bolstered by some 90 uniformed policemen from Dayton and other cities. Floyd and Player, paired in the last playsome, were accompanied by a cordon of eight uniformed police officers.

PICKETS

About a dozen pickets from a Dayton organization, all white, marched at the entrance of the country club course, but they were orderly.

The muscular bachelor's winnings, $35,000, boosted him from 14th to fifth place on the money list with $109,469. He had scored triumphs at Jacksonville and Akron.

Jim Turnesa, 55-year-old former PGA champ, spiced final action with a hole-in-one, using a five-iron on the 176-yard No. 8. It was the first PGA ace since George Knudson rang one up in 1965 and the 12th hole-in-one on the tour this season.

Pedlar Triumphs

host Watsonville team held an early 2-0 lead. The Braves halved the deficit in the fifth inning when Paul Lee singled, stole second and scored on Carl Gordon's double.

With one out in the seventh, the last regulation inning, Edson started his batting heroics by singling, stealing second, and scoring the tying run on a pinch single by Oscar Matthews.

BURCH SHARP

Burch struck out the side in the bottom of the seventh and after a walk to Art Blum and back-to-back doubles by Edson and Mark Newsom gave San Rafael two eighth inning runs, he retired the side in order in the bottom of the eighth, two by strikeouts. Burch, who pitched just the two innings, now has an 8-1 record.

The nightcap was a breeze as the Braves backed Lavick's 11 strikeout pitching with 14 hits, including a pair of two run 375-foot home runs by Burd, two singles and a double Blunt and two singles apiece by Rocky Shone and Edson. The latter, filling in for absent shortstop Tom Corder, also starred afield.

SOME AIR, PLEASE—Mike Burton of the Arden Hills (Sacramento) Swim Club, gulps for air as he nears the end of his record-breaking swim in the men's 1,500-meter freestyle race in the AAU National Swimming and Diving Championships at Louisville, Ky. Burton broke his own world record in winning on a 16:04.5 time.

U.S. Swimmers Show Their Power

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — On the basis of performances at the 1969 National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships here, prospects for American domination of aquatic event at the 1972 Olympic Games appeared splendid.

Seven world swimming records were shattered by Americans in the five-day meet, which ended last night.

Gary Hall, 18, a Californian who is headed for Indiana University this fall, led the way by setting three new world marks in the men's 200-meter individual medley, 200-meter backstroke and 400-meter individual medley.

Hall's performance and a world record in the men's 400-meter freestyle by Hans Fassnacht gave the men's AAU team title to Phillips 66 of Long Beach. Fassnacht, from Mannheim, West Germany, attends California State College at Long Beach.

The Arden Hills Swim Club, Carmichael, won the women's AAU team title. The Santa Clara Swim Club, champions in both the men's and women's competition for the past five years, finished second in both divisions at this year's meet.

UCLA's Mike Burton, at 22 one of the oldest competitors, set two world records. Burton, who won a gold medal in the 1968 Olympic Games at Mexico City in the men's 1500-meter freestyle, bettered his own world record in the event yesterday.

His times of 16:04.5 and 8:28.8 for 800-meters snapped the marks he set last year.

Debbie Meyer, who won four gold medals in Mexico City, broke her own world mark of 17:31 in the women's 1500-meter freestyle yesterday. Miss Meyer's time of 17:19.9 was only one-tenth of one second ahead of her Arden Hill's teammate, Vicky King.

The other new world record came Thursday in the women's year-old Susie Atwood of the Lakewood Aquatic Club covered the distance in 2:21.5.

In addition to the world records, 17 American and 22 AAU championship marks were lowered during the meet.

Miss King added the women's platform title yesterday to her earlier victory in the women's three-meter springboard event. The 25-year-old Miss King from Torrence also finished second in one-meter diving.

That title was won by Cynthia Potter, an Indiana University student from Houston, Tex.

Henry, a senior at Indiana University, did nearly as well as Miss King as he won both the men's one-meter and three-meter springboard titles. He finished fourth in the platform event, captured by Dick Rydze of the University of Michigan.

Fifteen-year-old Sue Pedersen, who won the women's 100 and 200-meter freestyle races, received a special award yesterday.

The California miss was presented with the J.H. Pickett award as the swimmer who scored the most points this year in the indoor and outdoor AAU meets.

Pickett was the Yale coach who led five American teams into the Olympic games.

Hub Softballers Take Opener

HEALDSBURG — Sohner Tree Service softballers trimmed Yates and Cochran of Napa, 6-2, yesterday in opening round play in the Windsor "Tournament of Champions."

The San Anselmo club will play tonight at 9 o'clock against either Vallejo or Santa Rosa.

Bill Archer's two-run homer in the first and Jess Munyon's run-producing double in the fourth gave the Treemen a 3-0, lead but the Napa champions rallied for two runs in the sixth to make it close.

Sohner iced the game in the bottom of the sixth on singles by Munyon and John Brookman, an infield out and Denny Coleman's two-run homer.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Race Is More Like War

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It isn't a pennant race in the National League West, it's a war, and the team that makes it to the playoffs will be a survivor, not a winner.

The race became close enough yesterday to throw a handkerchief over it as first-place Cincinnati lost to Pittsburgh, 8-5, while Los Angeles rallied to beat Montreal, 9-3, and move within a game of the Reds.

TRADE BLOWS

San Francisco, Houston and Atlanta continued to trade blows, each 2½ games off the pace, as the Giants split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning, 5-3 and losing, 3-1, the Astros edged Philadelphia, 3-2, and the Braves lost to St. Louis, 5-3. In other action, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader from San Diego, 3-2 and 3-2.

Rookie Bill Sudakis ignited a seven-run Dodger rally in the ninth inning to beat Montreal.

The Reds were beaten despite homers by Alex Perez, Pete Rose, Johnny Bench, and Bobby Tolan, because the Pirates had a three-run homer from Gene Alley and solo blasts by Al Oliver and Willie Stargell, plus a little more pitching than Cincinnati.

SACRIFICE FLY

Mike Shannon's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the seventh provided the winning run for the Cardinals after the Braves had stormed into a 3-3 tie on back-to-back home runs by Hank Aaron and Rico Carty in the sixth.

Sandy Valdespino stole home in the first inning and Doug Rader hit his ninth home run of the year for the Astros, who snapped a streak of 39 scoreless innings by Philadelphia pitchers when Valdespino scored with two out in the first.

Duffy Dyer hit a three-run homer in the seventh of the opener and Bud Harrelson tripled home two runs in the seventh of the nightcap to lift the Mets to a four-game sweep over the sagging Padres, the only team not involved in the torrid Western Division race.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Cowan Misses Bunt, Then Hits Homer

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Somewhere in the mumble, jumble of coach's hand signals, the word had gone out. Billy Cowan was supposed to bunt.

Jay Johnstone, leading off third base, knew it. Manager Lefty Phillips, in the dugout knew it. Coach Mike Roarke, who flashed the signal from third, knew it.

Just about everybody who had to know about it, knew about it. Everybody that is, except Billy Cowan.

GOOD SPOT

California was trailing Cleveland 6-5 in the eighth inning with runners on first and third and Cowan was pinch hitting for Bill Voss. A good spot for the squeeze, decided Manager Phillips.

Johnstone broke from third on Juan Pizarro's pitch and Cowan, realizing too late that the squeeze was on, missed his hurried wing and Johnstone was an easy out.

Cowan then smacked Pizarro's next pitch for the two-run homer that won the ball game for the Angels, 7-6.

In other American League games yesterday, Detroit battered Oakland 9-4, Baltimore tripped Seattle 4-1, Boston shut out Kansas City 1-0, New York dropped Chicago 5-2 and Minnesota edged Washington 4-3 in 13 innings.

SECOND ONE

The homer was Cowan's second of the season and the fifth of the game, tying a club record for the Angels.

Rick Reichardt had opened the eighth with his second homer of the game, narrowing Cleveland's lead to one run. Bubba Morton and Jim Spencer also connected for the Angels.

Ker Harrelson had a two-run shot for the Indians.

Tom Phoebus pitched Baltimore to its fifth straight victory and 11th in the last 12 games as the high-flying Orioles remained 16½ games in front in the East Division by whipping Seattle.

HOME RUNS

Dave May, Don Buford and Brooks Robinson all tagged home runs to account for all the Baltimore scoring. Don Mincher had three hits including a homer for the Pilots.

Boston's Vicente Romo, making only his third major league start, got relief help from Sparky Lyle and Sonny Siebert and the Red Sox blanked Kansas City.

Singles by Mike Andrews and Reggie Smith sandwiched around an infield out in the sixth inning accounted for the game's only run. Lyle rescued Romo from an eighth inning jam and Siebert shut off a ninth inning Royals' threat.

Jimmie Hall tied the game with a two-run homer in the fourth and then cracked a double that started New York's three-run winning rally in the seventh as the Yankees whipped Chicago.

Chairman of the Board displays piggyness to delight of executive staff.

A good time was had by all at the annual Board Meeting of Sincerity Products Corporation—a six-million-dollar concern.

Board Chairman Douglas Craig decided to raise his products' prices without improving his products.

The staff understood the decision as Craig explained the need to keep up with a rising economy. He also explained his desire for more potted palms in the lobby and a major renovation of the two-year-old building's decor.

This is one cause of inflation.

Inflation can be stopped. Of course, Government must do the big part. But, as shoppers, voters, wage earners, and businessmen, each of us can help.

So let's do it.

Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council and The International Newspaper Advertising Executives.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Aug. 18, the 230th day of 1969 with 135 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1856 the Patent Office approved condensed milk but doubted it would ever be of much commercial value.

In 1914 Germany declared war in Russia.

In 1940 the United States and Canada established a plan of joint defense.

A thought for the day: Miguel de Cervantes said, "Fortune may have yet a better success in reserve for you, and they who lose today may win tomorrow."

Lunar Homesteading Applications Already

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Two Tulsa University students have filed homesteading and mining claims with the Bureau of Land Management for land in the Sea of Tranquility area of the moon.

They sent along photos taken by the Ranger 8 moon craft, and contended that as U.S. taxpayers they are part owners of Ranger 8. They based their claim on the fact they were first to apply, but were turned down because of a clause that applicants must establish residence for six months before filing a claim.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South's Bidding Yields Clue For Correct Line Of Defense

Is there a sound when a tree falls in a forest from which all animal life has departed? Or is there a sound only when there are ears to hear it? The problem sometimes arises in a bridge hand, where the average player has no ears to hear the lead that the bidding shrieks for.

No. 3949 ..... August 18, 1969

South dealer
East-West vulnerable

	NORTH ♠ 8653 ♡ J109 ◇ KQ432 ♣ 6
WEST ♠ K4 ♡ A52 ◇ J1097 ♣ A1052		EAST ♠ 1072 ♡ 63 ◇ 85 ♣ QJ9843
	SOUTH ♠ AQJ9 ♡ KQ874 ◇ A6 ♣ K7

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	2 ♡	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	All Pass

Opening lead — ♡ A

GOOD EARS

When today's hand was played, West had a good pair of bridge ears. His unorthodox lead of declarer's side suit defeated the contract.

West knew that South had five hearts and four spades since South had bid hearts before showing the spades, this is done in standard bidding systems only when the lower suit is longer than the higher suit.

KNEW OF HEARTS

West knew also that dummy would show up with at least three hearts since North had raised hearts. This accounted for eight of the 13 hearts, and West had three more in his own hand. East could have only two hearts at most.

West led the ace of hearts and continued with a heart. No matter how quickly South tried trumps, West was sure to get in with the king of spades in time to lead a third heart that East could ruff. Then the ace of clubs provided the setting trick.

ORTHODOX LEAD

The average player would miss the clues provided by the bidding and would make the orthodox opening lead of the jack of diamonds. This would pose no problem to declarer, who would promtply draw trumps. South would lose one spade, one heart and one club, making his game contract.

When your partner bids, you are expected to understand what he is trying to tell you about the length of his suits. No law forbids you to listen to the opponents.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one club, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ 8 6 5 3
♥ J 10 9
♦ K Q 4 3 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond. Since you have six points in high cards you can afford to respond to your partner's opening bid. Show your suit and shut up shop unless your partner makes a jump in a new suit. Your hand is worth only one response.

Sun Keeps On Shining In St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—The City of St. Petersburg proudly boasts that its nickname is the "Sunshine City," and there appears little room to challenge this.

On Feb. 9, 1969, the city recorded its 731st consecutive day in which the sun had not failed to shine, and began its third year on a sunny note.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Young Building Firm Enjoys Rapid Growth

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have a few thousand dollars which I would like to invest in an over-the-counter stock. Could you give me your ideas? — W. M.

A. Although Mouldings, Inc. has been approved for American Exchange listing, it has, since initial offering last January, traded over-the-counter.

Since its founding in 1964, sales have risen from $408,217 to $25.4 million in the April, 1969, fiscal year. Earnings have also increased consistently from 2 cents to 92 cents a share, based on shares outstanding at the year-end. Sales of the company's prefinished wood mouldings are 50 per cent to mobile home manufacturers and industrial builders and 50 per cent to do-it-yourself consumers. A plastic pregrained moulding, introduced this year, has been readily accepted. Allied product lines and mouldings fabriciated from materials such as compressed wood fibers are being developed.

Profit margins broadened in fiscal 1969 to 8.9 per cent from 6.9 per cent. Seven acquisitions, for 38,677 Mouldings shares and $240,150 in cash, have been completed since August, 1968. Aquisitions from date of purchase—contributed an aggregate 19 cents cents a share to 1969 earnings. Current asset ratio is a healthy 2.7 to 1 and about 30 per cent of this is cash and marketable securities.

With 71 per cent of the shares family owned, the floating supply of stock is thin and the multiple rather rich at 38x 1969 fiscal results. Use caution in acquiring shares.

Q. I have been requested to exchange my shares of Kentucky Fried Chicken for another company of that name in Delaware. What should I do? — G. S.

A. Exchange them. The company originally incorporated in Kentucky is requesting holders of these original shares to accept an equal number in its newly incorporated Delaware company. The old shares are to be delisted when the number of round-lot holders drops to under 900. Six-months earnings of 85 cents a share, up 70 per cent, were achieved on a 60 per cent gain in gross income to $93 million. Full-year estimates of $1.20 to $1.30 are "reasonable," according to the company president.

Stock Market On Stronger Side In Moderate Trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks closed strong today in moderate trading. Carryover demand from last week and an easing of some short term bankers' acceptance rates helped support the list.

Issues on the upswing included steels, rails, electronics and several chemicals and oils. The stronger tone was described as an extension of last week's late demand.

Among the most active isues were Natomas, Eastern Gas & Fuel, Texaco and First Charter Financial.

Reading & Bates, a drilling firm, also attracted demand, while the balance of the oil group generally traded in narrow ranges in the absence of corporate news.

Several electronics ranged about 1 to 2 higher, but such favorites as General Electric, RCA, Honeywell and Sperry Rand for the most part moved in narrower ranges and in both directions.

Steels added small amounts, as did many chemicals. Motors and airlines were mixed.

Employee Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Allied Chemical Corp. has announced it intends to buy up to 200,000 shares of its own stock for use in employee benefit plans and for other corporate purposes.

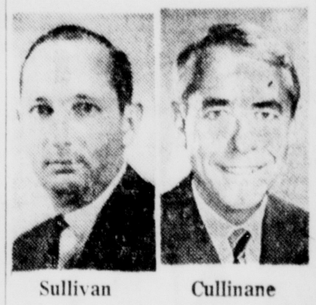
They are operating under the name of Marin Rentals and for the time being out of their home at 21 Key Largo Course. The Islander is furnished, except for bedding. Eventually the Sinclairs expect to have eight or 10 rental vehicles.

NEW EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT for A. G. Schoonmaker Co. in Sausalito is M. J. Sullivan, formerly a vice president in the Schoonmaker office in Washington, D. C. Also a director in the company, he has had 18 years of experience in the diesel power field.



Sullivan Cullinane

He joined Crocker-Citizens' predecessor Anglo California in 1956 at San Francisco and has served in Oakland, Hayward and Tulare.

Demo Gets Nixon Nod To Court

The announcement was made by Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler at the White House press headquarters in Laguna Beach, 17 miles north of the Nixon compound here. Neither Haynsworth nor the President was present for the announcement.

Nixon's first court appointment was that of Chief Justice Warren Berger to replace the retiring Earl Warren. Berger was quickly confirmed by the Senate and took his place on the nation's highest bench before the court adjourned for the summer.

FORTAS DISCLOSURE

In his 12 years on the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals bench, which covers Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia and the Carolinas, Haynsworth has been frequently on the minority side of opinions.

In his early opinions, he indicated his belief that the Supreme Court had not intended that school desegregation should be compulsory. In later decisions he has modified this view.

HAYNSWORTH DIFFERS

Haynsworth also differed from his fellow justices who ruled that hospitals accepting federal funds could not maintain segregated facilities.

By contrast he recently handed down a decision favorable to militant Negro civil rights advocate H. Rap Brown in an extradition case, and he once ruled against the North Carolina Dental Society which allowed white-only membership.

In the field of criminal arrests and prosecution Haynsworth has sided with the police. He said he favored more police power in the region of search and seizure.

But he also had said that prisoners should have greater rights in challenging their convictions through habeas corpus proceedings.

'BYRNES DEMOCRAT'

Haynsworth has been described as a "Jimmy Byrnes Democrat." He supported the presidential candidacy of Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956. Eisenhower appointed him to the appeals court in 1957 and he became chief judge of the Fourth Circuit Court in 1967.

Haynsworth was born Oct. 30, 1912, in Greenville, S.C., where he still resides. He graduated from Furman University and Harvard Law School and returned to Greenville in private practice. Before his appointment to the bench he was

A.F. To Discharge Guard; Relieves Chief Of Security

MAJ. DONALD H. TIDWELL

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

The Air Force will give a medical discharge to a mentally disturbed airman who guarded Hamilton Air Force Base's secret nuclear arsenal, military sources at Hamilton and in Washington, D.C., have told the Independent-Journal.

Meanwhile, the base commandant, Col. Michael J. Stublarec, removed Maj. Donald H. Tidwell from duty as the base's security chief. And it was learned that a high-ranking Hamilton commander flew to Washington during the weekend for talks with top Pentagon officials about the first public disclosures of the presence of nuclear weapons at the Marin base. A complete review of the base's security system also was under way.

"They blew it," a Pentagon source said of Hamilton officials. "There's no chance — absolutely no chance, baby — that they'll court-martial that guy (Sgt. Robert V. Ballou). The press would make a circus of it and the brass is already past the boiling point."

The disclosure of the nuclear weapons was made during a pretrial hearing for Ballou, 22, the Corvallis, Ore., airman who was diagnosed by an Army psychiatrist as a "passive agressive personality." He had been accused of assaulting a superior with a loaded and cocked carbine and .38-caliber pistol.

Stublarec was due to get the transcript of Ballou's two-day hearing today or tomorrow along with recommendations of investigating officer John D. McQuaid Jr. on whether Ballou should face a court-martial.

Although Hamilton spokesmen said no decision would be made until after Stublarec studied the transcript and McQuaid's report, sources said the base commander is under heavy Pentagon pressure to rule against a court-martial and give Ballous a discharge.

Ballou's attorneys, Air Force Capt. Frederick T. Graham and Robert D. Carrow of Novato today formally asked Stublarec to grant Ballou a general discharge, which is neither honorable nor dishonorable and is made "for the convenience of the service."

Tidwell, 37-year-old security chief since February, testified at the hearing that he ignored the psychiatric recommendations on Ballou and two other airmen also guarding the nuclear storage area. He was relieved of command at a meeting of top Hamilton brass early Friday afternoon.

Jeanne MacMillan, 50, was found at about 4:25 p.m. in the library of her six-bedroom home at 3 Walnut Avenue, and was apparently in a state of shock, according to Fire Chief William C. Shurtz.

For Mrs. MacMillan, it was the second tragedy in less than a year. Her husband, Bryce Lawrence MacMillan, salesman for a wholesale liquor firm, was killed last November in an auto accident on Highway 101 near Waldo Grade.

Cause of the $20,000 fire reported at 4:20 p.m., was still under investigation today, the chief said. It was believed to have started in a second-floor hallway.

They found Mrs. MacMillan in a corner of the library and asked if there were anyone else in the structure, the fire chief said. Mrs. MacMillan said she was the only one, that Poe had left at about 10 a.m.

Firemen searched the remainder of the building that was not on fire, then at about 7 p.m., found Poe's body fully clothed

Camille's Gulf Death Count At 15

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Hurricane Camille's death toll spiraled quickly to 15 today as daylight brought the full impact of the murderous Gulf storm's sweep across the Mississippi coast.

Mississippi Civil Defense Director Bill Harvey in Jackson said there were 10 known dead in Biloxi, two in Gulfport, two at Moss Point and one at Ocean Springs. All of the towns dot the coast along a long stretch of white sand beach.

A Coast Guard helicopter flew over the hurricane impact area this morning and reported the stretch from Long Beach, Miss., to Pass Christian, Miss. "is flattened."

None of the dead was identified and Civil Defense officials in Gulfport feared they would find "many more bodies" as the search deepens into the bay area back of Biloxi.

The Coast Guard also toured southeastern Louisiana, where Camille's 150 mile per hour winds first moved inland, and reported ships aground, levees broken and buildings destroyed.

There were reports of high water in the area south of New Orleans.

Gulfport and Biloxi, also difficult to reach by phone were without electricity, gas or drinking water. A Gulfport hospital reported treating about 50 persons, none apparently injured seriously.

"It looks pretty awful to me," a Columbia policeman said.

The storm spent most of its fury on the long strip of white beach along the Gulf Coast from Gulfport to Biloxi. Its eye moved inland before midnight and sent waves soaring over the highway and destroyed 40 of the 250 buildings on the big Naval Seabee Base north of Gulfport.

Biloxi Mayor Daniel Guice estimated damages during the night at $10 million to Biloxi. But after a daylight inspection this morning he said "that's a very conservative estimate."

There were also reports that could not be confirmd of flooding in Pascagoula, near the Alabama line, and fires in Bay St. Louis, on the other end of the coast near the Louisiana line. But the Jackson weather bureau said the two towns were hard hit and the town of Waveland, between New Orleans and Gulfport, was completely destroyed.

Pascagoula is the site of a big oil refinery and the Ingalls Shipbuilding Co., has a submarine building plant there. The nuclear submarine Puffer was commissioned at Pascagoula last week.

Alabama's thin Gulf strip and the northern Panhandle of Florida escaped the battering that had been expected. The storm swooped in from the Gulf, rumbled over the southeastern tip of Louisiana, skirted 60 miles east of New Orleans, then thundered into the Mississippi coast.

Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen made an air tour over southern parts of the state this morning to survey damage. There were reports that water from the Mississippi River lapped over a 12-foot levee at Buras, south of New Orleans.

Meanwhile, the season's fourth hurricane, Debbie, was cutting across the Atlantic along a path similar to Camille's, although Debbie was still far at sea.

Officials at the Nationla Hurricane Center in Miami reported Debbie's location near latitude 19.4 north, longitude 54.0, or less than 800 miles east of San Juan, P.R. She was packing winds of more than 100 miles per hour, but scientists said they planned to seed the hurricane with silver iodide in an experiment aimed at blunting her fury.

S. Africa's Blaiberg Rejects Heart, Dies

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) —Dr. Christiaan N. Banard confirmed today that Dr. Philip Blaiberg, the world's longest surviving heart graft patient, died because his heart failed under the onslaught of rejection.

Barnard told a news conference at Cape Town University School of Medicine the day after his famous patient died that results of an autopsy performed within hours of the 60-year-old retired dentist's death were not yet known, but final analysis would show that the cause of his death was rejection.

"We always felt that heart transplants were not a cure but a palliative," he said. "Eventually, the transplanted heart will be damaged so much by rejection that it will not be able to function any more."

In Blaiberg's case, his cardiac team slowed down the rejection process for 563 days.

"We feel now rather like a batsman who hopes he will not be out with the first ball . . . when he is eventually out he is sad about it, although he might have done much better than expected."

The death certificate said Blaiberg died of heart failure brought on by failure of his kidneys and pneumonia.

The certificate was signed by Dr. Marius Barnard, younger brother of the pioneer transplant surgeon who gave Blaiberg his new heart nineteen and one-half months ago on Jan. 2, 1968. The younger Barnard is also a member of the Groote Schuur Hospital heart transplant team.

Blaiberg died yesterday at 7:40 p.m.

Blaiberg is survived by his wife, Eileen, and a 21-year-old daughter, Jill.

Mrs. Blaiberg said her husband was not in pain at the time of his death.

"But he was suffering," she told newsmen. "He was feeling very uncomfortable. Yesterday he hardly ate anything and I left the hospital about 7 o'clock to go and make him some cold chicken consomme. I was just home when the hospital phoned me and told me that he had died. I could not believe it.

"He went suddenly. He just asked for a glass of water and died as he took it."

Blaiberg's funeral was to take place at a Cape Town crematorium late today with a rabbi of the Jewish Reform congregation conducting the service.

Mrs. Blaiberg wept as she told newsmen her husband's last words to her, less than an

Young Disappointed In Naming Of Southerner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whitney M. Young Jr., executivie director of the National Urban League, said today the appointment of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court was "disappointing" but he expressed hope that "the elevation to the highest court would broaden the judge's viewpoints."

Young said he had expected that President Richard M. Nixon "would appoint someone of more pronounced liberal credentials to maintain the balance on the court.

Stanford Heart Patient Lives Only 10 Hours

STANFORD (AP) — A Phoenix, Ariz., man lived only 10 hours after becoming Stanford University Hospital's 16th heart transplant patient.

Doctors said Herman Scales, 54, died yesterday.

Scales underwent a four and one-half hour operation late Saturday by a team of surgeons headed by Dr. Norman E. Shumway. The donor of the heart was not named.

Scales was the 142nd person in the world known to have received a heart transplant.

Caltech Seeking Radical Students

SAN PEDRO (UPI)—The California Institute of Technology would welcome more radical students because it is not as advanced politically and socially as many other schools, according to the director of admissions.

Peter Miller, back from a Pacific vacation, said one of the problems at Caltech is that most of the students are all very much alike.

"Intellectually it is terribly exciting, terriby stimulating, if you are an engineer or scientist," Miller said. "But if we could get a little more interest in political and social activities, it would make for a more lively campus."

Festival In New York Ends On Rocky Note—Two Die

WHITE LAKE, N.Y. (UPI) — Thousands of young people formed a sodden procession today leading from the Woodstock Music and Art Fair, the trouble-plagued weekend pop extravaganza.

Two young men died and scores of persons were injured during the festival, which began Friday. Raymond R. Mizsak, 17, of Trenton, N.J., was crushed Saturday as he lay in a sleeping bag in the path of a tractor. A youth still unidentified died yesterday at a hospital from drug overdose, thought to be heroin.

ENDS AT DAWN

The slow-moving persons in the vanguard, already haggard from the effects of an earlier rainstorm and shortages of food, water and other necessities, headed home to the accompaniment of music from the last concert, which continued on toward dawn today.

The police and promoters estimated 450,000 persons gathered here at the peak of the festival late Saturday and early yesterday. That assembly, three times the audience initially expected, overtaxed the half-completed facilities and made much of the weekend uncomfortable.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

The police reported on traffic conditions with cautious optimism early today. They restricted cars on all roads in this Catskill Mountains area, allowing only traffic heading away from the festival. Traffic was heavy but moving.

Many were expected to remain on the farm until midweek or later. Medical officials who set up first aid stations and a field hospital beneath a pink and white tent near the performing area said they would keep the facilities open.

Three thousand people were treated for assorted injuries during the fair. Four hundred suffered unfavorable reactions to drugs, including three young men in critical condition in a hospital. Most of the drug problems were "bad trips" from poor-quality LSD being sold in the area.

LITTERED GROUNDS — Two of the countless volunteers pick up trash on the mud soaked grounds of the Woodstock Music and Art Festival in Bethel, N.Y., which attracted a peak crowd of 450,000 before ending early this morning. (AP Wirephoto)

Search Switches To Canada For Mass Murder Suspect

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A manhunt for a red-haired suspect in the mass murders of actress Sharon Tate and four other persons spread through western Canada today.

Thomas Steven Harrigan, 23, was described as a "hippie type" and a known narcotics addict by Los Angeles police, who said he was wanted for murder.

Also sought were three other "hippie types" believtd traveling with Harrigan somewhere in the Canadian provinces of British Columbia and Alberta.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police were concentrating the dragnet around Edmonton, Alberta, although there was no indication why the group was thought to be in that area.

Homicide detectives would say only they are investigating the "narcotics aspects" of the perplexing case. However, reports mounted the grisly slayings were connected with drugs.

The Los Angeles Times reported that friends of the victims told detectives that narcotics were delivered to the home for the use of two of the victims, Polish film director Voityck Frokowsky, 37, and coffee heiress Abigail Folger, 26.

Israel Reports Heavy Toll From Saboteurs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab saboteurs and guerrillas have accounted for almost a third of Israeli's army fatalities since the 1967 war, army sources said here today.

In the period up to Aug. 9, 349 Israeli soldiers had been killed, including 110 by "the actions of terrorists" the informant said. Of 1,248 Israeli soldiers injured in action, one-third were wounded by Afab irregulars, they added.

The figures indicate the Arab irregulars who infiltrate Israeli-held territory from Jordan, Lebanon or Syria and others who strike in the refugee-packed Gaza Strip are having greater success than generally believed.

On the civilian side, 38 of 56 were killed by sabotage acts since the six-day war. And four-fifths of the 501 civilians wounded were the victims of sabotage attacks.

The army sources said there had been significant recent increase in the number of Arab sabotage attacks, but each day brings fresh reports of Israeli trucks being blown up by mines, hand grenades thrown at troops or irregulars firing rockets or mortars at Israeli settlements.

Israel is currently being taken to task at the United Nations for an air attack on Lebanon last week in which the Lebanese claim four villagers were killed. The Israelis say they were hitting back at Arab guerrilla camps which are responsible for dozens of recent sabotage acts on Israel's northern frontier.

In action yesterday, Israeli jets flew across the Suez Canal to silence Egyptian artillery, hit positions near the northern end of Great Bitter Lake and returned safely, the army reported.

A spokesman said: "The Egyptian shelling began at mid-afternoon and gradually increased in intensity. We tried to silence the Egyptian guns with return fire, but when that failed the planes were called in."

The army also announced that one soldier was killed when his military vehicle struck a mine in the occupied Golan Heights of Syria and another was wounded when a vehicle hit a mine in the Gaza Strip.

An Arab sabotage squad tried Saturday night to penetrate Israel in the northern Jordan River Valley, the spokesman said, but Israeli troops intercepted it and killed one guerrilla.

Plane Returns From Albania

ATHENS (AP) — An Olympic Airways plane returned to Athens yesterday with 24 passengers and three crew members aboard after a Greek doctor and his family forced the pilot to fly to Albania.

The family—Dr. Vassilis Tsironis, his wife, Barbara, and their two sons, 10 and 12—remained in Albania.

Passengers aboard the airliner when it was hijacked Saturday said Tsironis and his wife carried pistols and one of the boys pulled a knife as they entered the cockpit to take control of the plane. Albanian jet fighters met the plane as it crossed into Albania and forced it to land in a field near the port city of Vlore.

Penelope Tsakanikas of Astoria, N.Y., said Tsironis stepped out of the plane, fired two shots in the air and announced: "I am Dr. Vassilis Tsironis, and I have put you to this trouble in the name of democracy and freedom."

Miss Tsakanikas said the passengers were well treated in the Communist country and were taken on a tour of Vlore before their return flight.

Cause of the crash was not immediately determined. One report said the heavy truck jack-knifed when it applied brakes to avoid another truck.

37 Persons Drown

TOKYO (AP) — Thirty-seven persons drowned and four others were reported missing on Japan's beaches yesterday, the national police agency reported today.

Murder Trial

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Nahashon Isaac Njenga Njoroge, a 32-year-old member of the Kikuyu tribe, was ordered today to trial in the Kenya High Court on a charge of murdering Edonomics Minister Tom Mboya.

After listening to 65 witnesses, Magistrate S. K. Sachdeva said he was satisfied there was sufficient grounds to warrant committal of Njoroge for trial.

The trial will probably begin in about a month.

Foil Freedom

BERLIN (AP) — East German border guards, firing automatic weapons from a watch tower, foiled an attempt today by two young men to reach West Berlin.

A West Berlin police spokesman said the incident occurred alongside the West Berlin farming district of Luebars.

Sales of riding lawn mowers have increased 193 per cent since 1931.

Collins Will Hang Up His Spacesuit

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11 astronaut Michael Collins, the man who orbited the moon while his crewmates made history, says he is hanging up his spacesuit and will take a nonflying job in the space program if it's offered to him.

Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., another of the Apollo 11 crew and the second man to walk the moon, also casts doubt on his specific future plans.

The third crewman, Apollo 11 commander Neil A. Armstrong, says he would serve the space program "in any capacity," including space flight.

"Apollo 11 is my last flight," Collins said yesterday during a televised interview on the CBS program "Face The Nation."

"I think it's difficult to keep up year after year, to really approach the training, the living in simulators, with the zeal that you have to in order to do a good job," Collins said. "Of course there are a lot of encroachments on my family life which I have not enjoyed."

Collins said he intends to contribute whatever he can to the space program in another job, but the 38-year-old Air Force colonel said he didn't know what that would be.

Aldrin said he expects to continue in the program, but has not decided about going back into space.

"Whether I'll remain on flight status or not, I haven't had the opportunity to make that decision yet and we have not been in a rush in making up our mind as to what we'd like to do," he said.

Armstrong said he and Aldrin were determined to land on the moon despite alarms given out by their on-board computer during the final seconds of flight to the lunar surface, but they were ready to give it up if necessary.

"We were concerned primarily for the success of the flight," he said. "We did not want to come back without landing, but we were certainly willing to do that and that would certainly be much better than not to come back at all."

The Apollo 11 commander said he could not clear up a grammatical question about what his first words were as he set foot on the moon.

Listeners on the ground heard him say, "That's one small step for man." Armstrong said later he thought he said "a man."

"I can't confirm the words," he said. "I knew what my intentions were and I thought I said those words. I can't prove that."

Armstrong said he expects man to someday go to Mars and to other planets.

LUDWIG MIES
VAN DER ROHE

Architect Mies Van Der Rohe Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, one of the founders of modern architecture, died late yesterday at Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital. He was 83.

Buildings he designed included the Seagram Building in New York, the U.S. consulate in Sao Paulo, Brazil, the Bacardi Office Building in Mexico City and the recently completed National Gallery in West Berlin.

Mies van der Rohe, born in Aachen, Germany, was the last director of the famous Bauhaus School of Modern Design in Dessau and Berlin from 1930 to 1933.

HIGH RANKING

In the modern architectural field, Mies van der Rohe was ranked with Frank Lloyd Wright, architect of Marin County's civic center, Walter Gropius and Le Corbusier.

Although he had no formal education as an architect, he learned the rudiments of the profession from his father, a master mason.

'LESS IS MORE'

As an architect, his motto was "Less is more." He illustrated it with the sparse appearance of many of his buildings, using exposed steel and reinforced concrete skeletons, great expanses of glass and panels of brick.

Mies van der Rohe was appointed director of the Bauhaus in the latter part of 1930. Under pressure from the Nazis, he moved the Bauhaus from Dessau to Berlin in October 1932, and finally closed it in 1933.

ARMOUR INSTITUTE

He visited the United States in 1937 and was persuaded a year later by John A. Holabird, a Chicago architect, to join the Armour Institute faculty.

One of the outstanding architectural undertakings of his career was the design and construction of a new campus and buildings for the Illinois Institute of Technology on Chicago's south side.

Also in Chicago, he was architect of the Promontory Apartments, in which he used brick and glass in an exposed concrete frame, and the Lake Shore Drive Apartments, a pair of rectangular, glass and steel towers 25 stories high.

Highway Pile Up In San Rafael Hurts Six

Six persons were injured Saturday in a five-car tangle on northbound Highway 101, about 500 feet south of the San Rafael viaduct.

California Highway Patrol officers, in an incompleted report, said the pile up at 12:30 p.m. started when a car driven by Craig Lawrence Sullivan, 18, of 51 Lopez Street, San Francisco, swerved into the path of a car driven by Sheriff's Lt. Harvey Teague, 40, of 13 Lauren Avenue, Novato.

Injured were: Teague, who suffered a bruised forehead and neck pain; his daughter, Laurie, 10, cerebral concussion and bruised right knee, and three passengers in his car, Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax, 36, of 55 Grande Vista, Novato, bruised left shin and bruised forehead, and two of his children, Gary Hax, 10, bruised back, and Carol Hax, 9, bruised chin and black eye. They were treated at Marin General Hospital.

The sixth victim was Janice Yamaoka, 16, of 730 Pepper Road, Petaluma, a passenger in a pickup truck driven by Dennis Neil Yamaoka, 20, of 785 Liberty Road, Petaluma. She suffered a cerebral concussion, bruised forehead and bruised right knee and was admitted to Marin General Hospital.

Officers said that after the initial collission, Teague's car struck the guard rail. Then a car driven by Louise J. Evangelist, 40, of Daily City, swerved and collided with Yamaoka's pickup.

The pickup continued along and collided with Teague's car as it rebounded off the guard rail, and then a car driven by George Dewey Jackson, 70, of Desert Hot Springs, Riverside County, collided with Teague's car, officers reported. All cars were northbound.

Each gold brick in the federal depository at Fort Knox, Ky., weighs more than 27½ pounds and is valued at $14,000.

Budget Hearing

A public hearing on the 1969-70 budget for the Marin County Transit District will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center. Also on the agenda is a final report on the optimum bus system and the presentation of "A Proposal for Intra-Marin County Bus Transportation."

Weight, the base's chief legal officer.

In revealing the action on Tidwell, Stublarec said he was relieved pending an investigation, but sources high in the base's command structure said there was virtually no likelihood he would be put back in the sensitive position.

It was at the Friday meeting also that Hamilton officials ordered McQuaid to call a nuclear weapons specialist to testify that a berserk guard could not detonate a nuclear explosion at the base. It was the first public acknowledgement of the existence of the weapons, probably air-to-air missiles, and had Pentagon clearance "from the Secretary of Defense level," sources said.

Lynch, whose squadron would use the nuclear-tipped missiles, flew to Washington for a high-level huddle with Air Force officials immediately after the meeting, it was learned.

Pentagon sources also raised the possibility that Tidwell might face a court-martial for ignoring provisions of the Air Force's "human reliability program" which sets fitness standards for men in sensitive positions.

Carrow, who labeled Tidwell "incompetent" in his summation at the hearing, said the 17-year Air Force veteran had ignored several provisions of the program's manual, including one that calls for immediate removal from the program from anyone diagnosed as a passive aggressive personality.

Tidwell testified he was unaware of that provision and would have made a different decision if he had known what he was told at the hearing.

One of the other guards who was diagosed as unstable but still kept on duty is currently under psychiatric care and probably will be medically discharged. Tidwell testified at Ballou's hearing that the airman was "menatally sick." The third airman was discharged several weeks ago.

Hamilton officials insisted today that the base's security force — which is 64 slots short of its authorized strenth of 155 — was not undermanned. Tidwell had testified that the manpower squeeze was an "overriding factor" in keeping Ballou on duty, along with his conviction that the airman was "goldbricking."

Military officials said the base's security force could draw men from other areas in the base for police work.

Sources also said that an extra guard has been put on the nuclear munitions depot since the disclosures but this was not confirmed by Hamilton officials.

Tidwell had testified at the trial that he would rather have Ballou guarding the weapons than no guard at all. If the weapons were not guarded, he testified, "kooks from the Haight-Ashbury" would try to get at the weapons.

If Ballou did face a court-martial on the assault charge he could face up to three years in prison, a dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

Booking In Concealed Gun Probe

A 31-year-old San Rafael man was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday on suspicion of carrying a concealed weapon after the car he was driving collided with a parked car in San Rafael and he drove on, finally being stopped in San Anselmo, police reported today.

James Louis Rosson of 257 North San Pedro Road was also booked for investigation of drunken driving and for having no driver's license. Rosson posted $625 bail and is to appear in Municipal Court at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Rosson was stopped by San Anselmo police at 10:20 p.m. on Center Boulevard near Madrone Avenue after San Rafael police reported Rosson had struck a parked car at Center Boulevard and Pine Street. Rosson had what was believed to be a .45-caliber revolver in a brown paper bag, officers said.

Georgina M. Leary, a passenger in Rosson's car, was booked in jail on suspicion of being drunk in and about a vehicle, police said. Residing at the same address as Rosson, Miss Leary posted $615 bail and is to appear at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Municipal Court.

hour before he died, were: "Eileen, I am dying. I know I am going."

"I never believed he could really die," she said. "He always rallied and never gave up, but I knew then that he was nearing the end.

"That was the first time since his operation that he spoke of death and the first time that he admitted he was seriously ill.

The death of Blaiberg, the third human being to undergo a heart transplant, leaves 37 survivors among the 142 persons who have had such an operation.

The patient who has survived longest with another's heart now is Rev. Charles Boulogne, 56, a Roman Catholic priest who lives in a suburb of Paris. His transplant occurred on May 12, 1968.

The first transplant was also performed by Dr. Barnard on Dec. 3, 1967. The patient was Louis Washkansky, who lived only 17 days.

The second transplant, on an unidentified baby boy, took place in New York on Dec. 6, 1967. The infant died within hours.

Father Boulogne, who officiates regularly at Mass in a Paris monastery, said he learned of Blaiberg's death "with great pain."

Two Arrested At Oleander Park

Two youths were booked into Marin County Jail Saturday night on suspicion of ccontributing to the delinquency of a minor and possession of alcohol by a minor after they were found in Oleander Park, Terra Linda, with a gallon bottle of wine.

Booked were Gregory Philip Lambke, 18, of 695 Barberry Lane, Terra Linda, and Wayne Floyd Lockabey, 18, of 1020 F Los Gamos Road, San Rafael.

Deputies reported finding the youths and a 14-year-old Sacramento boy during a routine check of the park. The 14-year-old was booked at Juvenile Hall on suspicion of possession of alcohol by a minor.

Lamke and Lockabey were released on bail of $625 each to appear at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

Senate leaders said they expected little difficulty in having Haynsworth's nomination confirmed.

Fortas resigned from the court May 15 after it was disclosed he had accepted and kept for 11 months a $20,000 check from Wolfson's family foundation.

Fortas, long-time friend of Lyndon B. Johnson who appointed him to the court, said he had agreed with the foundation on a fee of $20,000 a year for life for his help in shaping its activities promoting community relations and racial and religious harmony.

Johnson nominated Fortas for Chief Justice of the United States last year to replace Warren, who expressed his decision to retire, but the nomination was blocked in the Senate and eventually withdrawn.

Yesterday, more than 3,500 antiwar demonstrators gathered outside the gate to the Western White House in an orderly protest against the Vietnam War.

The participants were instructed by the organizers to be peaceful and there were no arrests. Police in riot helmets were stationed along the street outside the Nixon compound.

The demonstrators chanted "Ho Chi Minh," "stop the war" and "Nixon is a pig." A few counter pickets were on hand with a sign reading, "Mr. President: we only demonstrate our admiration and respect."

Nixon could have seen the demonstration from a window of the home but it was not known whether he did.

He was under the section of the house where the roof had crashed in but was not burned, Shurtz said.

Mrs. MacMillan was taken to Marin General Hospital for observation, then released.

Poe was taken to the Chapel of the Hills Mortuary, San Anselmo where funeral is pending.

Born in Tennessee, Poe had lived 28 years in California, the last two years in Marin County. He was separated from his wife, Ruth, and last worked as a cook in Sausalito.

Twenty-five Larkspur firemen fought the blaze, which was brought under control in an hour, and were assisted by 10 firemen from the Kentfield Fire Department.

Damages were estimated by Shurtz at $15,000 to the structure and $5,000 to the contents. The upper story of the approximately 50-year-old building was completely destroyed while the lower floor was saved but suffered smoke and water damage.

The fire was difficult to fight, Shurtz said, because of rough terrain and because firemen had to carry fire hoses up about 100 steps.

Hoax Possible In Money Demand

San Rafael police today reported an extortion attempt Friday that may have been a hoax by an anonymous phone nut.

According to police, Richard Parasol of 129 Oakview Drive said he received a phone call that unless $10,000 was left at a designated place in San Francisco a friend of the caller would fire a rifle into Parasol's home from a hill beyond the house.

A search of the hillside by San Rafael police and a subsequent stakeout at the drop point in San Francisco turned up no one.

Sausalito To See New Handbill Law

An amended handbill ordinance will be presented to the Sausalito City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

The new ordinance will control distribution of commercial and advertising handbills, but would exempt other types of pamphlets. The city acted to change its ordinance after the arrest of a Corte Madera woman last month for handing out anti-ABM handbills without a permit. The city did not prosecute the case when it reached court.

The council will also set the final 1969-70 budget and city tax rate.

TREAT THE KIDS TO SHAKESPEARE!

And get in on the act yourself

And what better place to take them than to Forest Meadows Theatre in San Rafael, where Dominican College has built what is regarded as one of the most beautiful outdoor theatres in the world? (There's even a lake in front of the free-form stage!).

Browbeat the youngsters, then, into taking YOU, if you can't take them. You'll both be the better for it.

Bishop's Part In War Deaths Splits Church

BONN (UPI) — Twenty-five years after it occurred, the murder of 17 Italian civilians by retreating German soldiers is driving a wedge into the already disuinted Roman Catholic Church in Germany.

The rift existed before a weekly news magazine, Der Spiegel, disclosed the role that auxiliary Bishop Matthias Defregger played in the massacre in Filetto, a village north of Rome, on June 7, 1944.

As a result of the row that followed the magazine's report and the hierarchy's awkward treatment of it, the wedge has been driven deeper.

FRESH IMPETUS

Demands by young priests and the laity for more "codetermination," for a more democratic selection of bishops and management of church affairs have been given fresh impetus.

Defregger's removal was demanded by men who themselves later resigned under pressure from the hierarchy, leading in turn to statements in some quarters that the affair had escalated into a crisis of confidence in Cardinal Julius Doepfner of Munich.

Prelate Anton Maier, spokesman for the ordinariat in Munich, has confirmed that Doepfner neglected to inform either the papal nuncio in Bonn or the Vatican of Defregger's involvement in the Filetto incident when proposing him for auxiliary bishop.

REPORTED INCENSED

Archbishop Coraddo Bafile, the papal nuncio in the German capital, is reported incensed by Doepfner's omission. Bafile was born and raised in the l'Aquila district in which Filetto is located.

The Defregger affair is only the latest in a series of debates that have shaken the Catholic Church in Germany during the last decade.

A curious aspect of the development is that while the German cardinals were considered leaders of the liberal element during the second Ecumenical Congress in Rome, in Germany they are considered conservative and sometimes reactionary.

He admitted that as a captain of intelligence in a German division, he had passed on an order to kill Italian civilians in retaliation for the shooting by partisans of four German soldiers.

Only a man who had served as an officer in combat was fit to judge his actions in any case, Defregger concluded.

Those who defend Defregger say even if he did do wrong in Filetto, that should not prevent him becoming an auxiliary bishop now, just as the Roman Saul, persecutor of Jews, became St. Paul.

Detreggers depreciators retort thate is one difference, in that the Christian congregation knew the details of Saul's past before they made him a bishop of the young church.

New Record For Piston Airplane

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — A speed record for piston-driven aircraft set by a German Luftwaffe pilot in 1939 has been broken by a jet pilot accustomed to speeds of 2,000 miles an hour.

Darryl Greenamyer, a test pilot of high-speed reconaissance planes, zoomed low over a three-kilometer course four times Saturday in his vintage, remodeled Grumman F8F2 Bearcat for an average speed of 478 m.p.h., eclipsing the old record of 469.2 m.p.h. set by Fritz Wendel of the German Air Force.

Greenamyer, 33, said he wanted to bring the speed record back to the United States, where it was once owned by such pilots as Howard Hughes, Jimmy Doolittle and Billy Mitchell.

LSD Chromosone Theory Unstable

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After a two-day conference of experts, the concensus today was that little is known about whether the drug LSD does damage to chromosomes which could alter offspring.

The weekend conference at the University of California Medical Center was sponsored by the Haight-Ashbury Free Clinic and two other organizations.

"It's still not possible to come to any firm conclusion of whether LSD caused chromosomal damage—and, if so, what the medical ramifications of that damage might be," said Dr. Robert Sparkes of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. Samuel Irwin, a University of Oregon pharmacologist, said he has found no evidence that the psychedelic drug damages chromosomes in the reproductive cells or in the bone marrow.

Irish Denounce Consul Stoning

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A rock smashed a window at the residence of British Consul General Selwyn Lloyd during a demonstration yesterday by the Irish American Action Association.

Joe Donoghue, who organized the demonstration, said the throwers were not regular members of his association. "We believe in action — but not that kind," he declared.

Police made no arrest.

The demonstration protested the use of the British army in North Ireland were civil warfare has been going on for a week between Protestants and Roman Catholics.

In this age of gimcracks and chrome, is there a place for a car so masterfully engineered that 90 percent of its value is invisible?

Mercedes-Benz thinks so.

Yesterday's dreamboats had enormous tail fins.

Today, it's fastbacks, racing stripes, and wall-to-wall chrome grilles.

Obviously, there are millions every year who are willing to buy a car that's "in vogue"—even though they know newer gimcracks and styling quirks will soon erode their investment.

But Mercedes-Benz refuses to play the "planned obsolescence" game.

At Mercedes-Benz, iron-willed engineers, not stylists, rule the roost. And they insist on putting value where they think it belongs: at the heart of their machines.

That's why Mercedes-Benz motor cars can cost anywhere from about $4,600 to $27,000 without, to some tastes, "looking" it.

The new Mercedes-Benz 250. To some, it doesn't "look" worth $5,299. Read why it is.*

Form follows function

Make no mistake. The perfectionists at Mercedes-Benz do not apologize for those classic lines—free of faddish touches—that will still be handsome years from now. They simply think form should follow function instead of fashion.

The contours of that 250 sedan at right were dictated by the need to provide proper headroom, hiproom, legroom and protective packaging for five adults. Dictated by the proportions required for nimble maneuverability.

The car is both shorter and leaner than its overweight rivals. Yet it bristles with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans.

A superb machine

Too sophisticated, some critics say. Nonsense, retort Mercedes-Benz engineers. If a man can afford to invest thousands of dollars in a superb driving machine, he is entitled to get something superb.

What he gets in a Mercedes-Benz is legendary in automotive circles.

An expert from Car and Driver tested the "new" 250 when it was released early in 1968 after an incubation period of five years. His verdict: "Offhand, I can't think of any other 4-door sedan in the world—with the possible exception of the Maserati Quattroporte—that handles, steers and stops like the Mercedes."

Scrapping the solid rear axle system of most domestic cars, the 250 uses an all-independent suspension—plus anti-sway bars front and rear. This endows it with the agility of a scrambling quarterback.

You can blast it over rutted and potholed gravel lanes. It behaves with almost eerie calm. You can thread it through the corkscrew turns of a mountain road, and enjoy yourself.

There's no sloppy play in the steering. No mushiness. When you hold the wheel, you "feel" the road. When you turn the wheel, the car responds instantly. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Heroic stopping power

Stopping? Unless you have driven a 180-mph Grand Prix racing car or a Mercedes-Benz, chances are you have never experienced the security that comes from having really good brakes.

Disc brakes.

A few domestic sedans have front-wheel disc brakes, and others offer front-wheel discs as an option. But every Mercedes-Benz comes with massive disc brakes on all four wheels. Standard.

Result: You get more stopping power than you may ever need. But you sleep better at night.

The pinnacle of safety

As for safety, Mercedes-Benz engineers applaud the intent of the U.S. Government regulations, and carry their protective measures beyond the letter of these laws.

The 250's best defense against blundering drivers is, of course, its almost uncanny evasive ability. But, if the worst happens, your Mercedes-Benz is designed to shield you.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay closed on impact. The front and rear sections of the car are engineered to crumple in a violent crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

Car and Driver's sober conclusion: Of all the world's motor cars, the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Value. All of it concealed from the casual eye. But there.

And there's more. Construction of every Mercedes-Benz begins in a shower of sparks. Where conventional cars use bolts to tie body and chassis together, Mercedes-Benz uses thousands of welds to create a single unit of immense strength. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 250 will ever rattle.

When welding stops, the raw body is dunked whole, like a taffy apple, into a gigantic vat of primer. It emerges with 24 pounds of rust protection.

More hidden value

Every car gets 20 more pounds of primer and paint. Even the insides of the hub caps are coated. As a final flourish in its armament against corrosion, each car gets a 24-pound factory slathering of undercoating.

The six-cylinder, overhead-cam engine of every 250 is bench tested before installation, for more than 60 minutes. A hint of trouble in this gruelling test and the engine is torn down and rebuilt. Mercedes-Benz finds the lemons—not you.

Revealing showroom tests

Run a finger along the body of the 250. No "orange peel" texture. Slide in and open the glove compartment. Fully trimmed. Close the car door. Ka-chunk.

Now flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, mile after mile. It should: it was designed with the guidance of orthopedic physicians.

Crank the window and fiddle with some knobs. "Everything worked with delightful precision, eliciting the same sort of satisfaction that comes when the shutter mechanism crackles shut on a good reflex camera," reported Car and Driver's expert.

That's the beauty of the 250. It's built as if it were a 3,000-pound Hasselblad camera!

An unconventional car? Defiantly so. Mercedes-Benz does not make conventional cars—and never will.

24-page brochure

Of course, the quickest way to verify the 250's virtues, both visible and invisible, is simply to drop by the showroom and arrange a test drive.

Other models to ponder:

220 Diesel—the only diesel-powered automobile Mercedes-Benz makes, gives you small-car economy in a big, safe sedan that may well endure for decades, $4,780*.

300SEL—an understated limousine, $9,849*.

Canal Residents Seek Recreation Center

A grass roots movement to get a recreation center in the San Rafael canal area will appeal tonight to the City Council for permission to use city property for the center.

The primary force behind the movement, barber Roger Schoen, said he will seek permission to use an abandoned building on city property adjacent to the corporation, yard when the council meets at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

The small wooden building, a former office for an oil company operation along the canal, could be moved later when the city needs the land, he said. But using it now where it is would be "simply a start to get something going," Schoen told the Independent-Journal.

The site also offers a good paved area for outdoor activities, he noted.

The movement started about a month ago when Schoen got tired of seeing youngsters standing around with no place to go. The cost of fixing up the building will be met by volunteer labor and supplies, much of it from Schoen's customers.

"What we need now is enough interest on the part of public officials who can give permission to use the building and property," he said.

About 20 persons attended a Thursday night meeting in Schoen's shop at 175 Belvedere Street, including youths, parents, and several representatives from the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, he said.

One step they agreed on was to seek legal information on forming a nonprofit group, so contributions could be tax deductible.

"We want to keep this fire burning among the kids and the parents, and not let die on the vine," Schoen said of his appeal to the council tonight. "We want something that the kids will run with adults' advice — but we don't want anything with regimentation. It'll be for the kids."

Police Book Youth On Stolen Goods Count

A 17-year-old Fairfax youth was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall Saturday on suspicion of receiving stolen property and possession of marijuana.

Police said Reynol Lee Fosnight, 17, of 145 Dominga Avenue, was booked after another resident of the house reported finding a bank bag containing about 25 watches and several other pieces of jewelry. About two ounces of a substance believed to be marijuana was also found in the bank bag, police said.

Five Flee Youth Guidance Center

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An accused slayer and four other teen-agers escaped from Youth Guidance Center this weekend after overpowering two counselors in the television room.

One of the escapees was recaptured and returned to the center after the break Saturday in which Counselor Glenn Burns was cut when struck by a thrown chair.

Still at large early today was Rudolph M. Boror, 17, one of four teen-agers accused of killing Darel Carter, 33, raping his fiance and stabbing his father after breaking into the family's home.

The five boys escaped while watching television with two counselors. After hurling chairs at the counselors, the youths broke the front door lock and fled into the street.

New Ratings Proposed For Polluters

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — New ground rules to rate water polluters have been proposed by the staff of the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Present rules for rating violators have been criticized for failing to reflect the fact that some requirements for waste discharge purity are more important than others.

The significance of the ratings is that the board's limited staff has to concentrate its enforcement on major polluters, thus a high standing on the rating, or priority list, guarantees heavy pressure on a polluter.

In Marin, San Quentin Prison won a rating as the 12th most important polluter throughout the Bay Area in 1968. The Smith Brothers Dairy in Las Gallinas was 13th. The number one polluter in the annual sweepstakes is San Francisco, and the board's staff stressed that any new ground rules would not affect San Francisco's high standing.

An example of the objections to the present system of rating polluters are that it give equal weight to discoloration as to the much more important bacteriological requirements. The new ground rules, which will give the greatest weight to violations that endanger public health, will be considered for adoption by the board at its September meeting.

British Troop Boss Sees Outlaw Trouble

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—The British army commander in Northern Ireland said today he expects the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) to intervene in the rioting between Roman Catholics and Protestants. He also said he is building up his force to 6,000 troops.

Prime Minster James Chicester-Clark met this afternoon with "representatives of all sections of responsible opinion in Northern Ireland to explore ways of restoring peace and communal understanding," it was announced. The meeting was at Stormont Castle, the seat of parliament.

Nearly a week of religious violence left at least eight dead and more than 300 injured in what the Protestant-dominated government branded "revolution" triggered by supporters of the overwhelmingly Catholic Irish Republic to the south "and other sinister elements."

Gen. Ian Freeland met with newsmen at his command headquarters 12 miles outside of Belfast as Catholics began burying their dead. Thousands of mourners marched in funeral processions past silent British troops enforcing a shaky truce in this capital city of Northern Ireland.

One funeral was for Patrick Rooney, 8, killed by a stray bullet that pierced the walls of his family home.

Freeland told newsmen he had 2,000 men and from 40 to 60 armored cars on the way to reinforce troops trying to keep the clashing sides apart.

Asked about the outlawed IRA which has vowed to take action, the general told the news conference, "We would be pretty stupid not to expect them to intervene, if they have not already done so."

Freeland said the 4,000 troops he now has in Northern Ireland, mainly in Belfast, are enjoying something of a "honeymoon," are being well treated by both sides.

Across the Irish Sea, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson ended a vacation in the Scilly Isles to return to London for consultations with his senior advisers, including Home Secretary James Gallaghan, top cabinet official in the Northern Ireland crisis. Government spokesmen said Wilson planned to meet early in the week with Chichester-Clark.

The warfare that erupted over the past week, first in Londonderry then in Belfast, was the worst of nearly a year of sporadic violence. Roman Catholics, a minority in Northern Ireland, contend the predominately Protestant government systematically discriminates against them, particularly in jobs, housing and voting.

Voice Of America Director Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has selected Kenneth R. Giddens, Mobile, Ala., radio and TV station owner, as the new head of the Voice of America.

Giddens, 60, replaces career officer Richard G. Cushing, who has been acting director since radio-TV personality John Charles Daly quit the job in June 1968. Cushing remains as Giddens' deputy.

PLANE HIJACKERS

Fidel's Good Feeling For Mexico Cooling

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Fidel Castro put a sudden chill last week on Cuban relations with Mexico, his government's only official friend in Latin America, over the issue of plane hijackers.

The Mexican government is quietly —but deeply —annoyed.

The question now is whether Mexico will react to the Cuban defiance—and if so, in what way.

Mexico is the only Latin American nation that defied the decision by the Organization of American States (OAS) calling for a diplomatic quarantine of Cuba. Mexico kept its ambassador in Havana—more for internal reasons than for any love of Castro — and Mexican diplomats figured ever since that they had a special lever in dealing with the Cuban strongman.

DOESN'T SEE IT

Castro apparently doesn't see it that way.

Mexico has been increasingly annoyed by hijackers who send airliners off to Havana at pistol point. So are the United States, Colombia and other nations—but Mexico has the advantage of maintaining an important diplomatic contact for Cuba.

Mexican president Gustavo Diaz Ordaz has made a personal goal of efforts to put a stop to hijacking of Mexican airliners.

He rammed through congress a stiff anti-hijacking law carrying penalties of up to 40 years. The law was deliberately written to fit in nicely with a special extradition treaty with Cuba to cover hijackers.

It took more than a year of diplomatic arm-twisting by Mexico, but the Cubans finally sat down last spring for negotiations, aimed at agreeing on the wording of such a treaty.

OPTIMISTIC

Ever since, Mexican diplomats have been publicly optimistic that Cuba would sign the treaty soon—and the guarantee of decades in prison would protect Mexican airliners from Havana-bound hijackers forevermore.

But there were signs the Cubans were stalling.

And then, on July 24, the anniversary of Castro's uprising, a Mexican youth and his girlfriend hijacked a Mexicana Airways DC6 to Havana.

Although the new treaty was not yet signed, Mexico demanded their extradition under a 44-year-old criminal extradition agreement that is still in effect.

Mexican diplomats saw it as a test case, concrete indication of whether Castro intended to cooperate or not.

Even under the new treaty, Cuba could still protect hijackers by giving them political asylum. It all depends, as one Mexican official pointed out, "on good faith, not to abuse the provisions covering political asylum."

The Cuban answer came then. "Revolutionary Court Number One" in Havana freed the pair, Jose Caberga and Maria Munoz, and the Cuban foreign ministry rejected the extradition request.

The Cuban government statement, and a press release by the official Cuban news agency Prensa Latina distributed to Mexico City newspapers, emphasized that "Mexican authorities usually give political asylum to persons who leave Cuba illegally, including those who take over ships and other means of transport by force."

That's the nub. Mexico hasn't found any way of wording a treaty that would snare Cuba-bound hijackers which would not also force Mexico to send back to Cuban prisons the refugees who flee the Communist island. There aren't many of them, but every year at least some Cubans manage to sail small boats across the 150-mile-wide Strait of Yucatan to freedom in Mexico.

INTENTION

Mexico has no intention of being put in the position of becoming the only nation to send Cuban refugees back to face Castro justice.

Mexican foreign secretary Antonio Carrillo Flores, who was at least publicly confident that Mexico would get Castro's cooperation, said after the refusal that he had asked for "a complete report from the ambassador in Havana."

PREPARING ASSAULT ON ENEMY BUNKER

As two members of an 81-mm mortar crew of the First Air Cavalry Division prepare to fire at suspected enemy bunkers north of Tay Ninch City in South Vietnam, other soldiers held their ears in recent outpost fighting. In war action yesterday, U.S. Naval patrol boat engaged the enemy in the delta near the Saigon River, killing at least eight of an entimated 60 invaders. Also the U.S. Command reported 476 more GI withdrawals to Hawaii and Fort Lewis, Wash., and said another 480 were to leave Thursday. (UPI Telephoto)

Eight Green Berets Out Of Stockade

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army took the eight Green Berets charged with murder out of close confinement at the Long Binh stockade today and confined them to regular billets at the big headquarters post north of Saigon.

The Army's chief spokesman in Vietnam announced that the seven officers and one enlisted man who are accused of murdering a Vietnamese believed to have been a double agent are no longer under armed guard.

The seven officers are confined to an officers' billet at Long Binh, 15 miles north of Saigon, while the enlisted man, Sgt. Alvin L. Smith Jr. of Naples, Fla., is in an enlisted men's billet "in another area" of Long Binh, the spokesman said.

The eight men, headed by Col. Robert B. Rheault of Vineyard Haven, Mass., former commander of all Green Beret forces in Vietnam, have been at Long Binh since their arrest July 20.

The civilian attorney for one of the officers, Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr. of Jefferson, S.C., charged last week that Middleton was being held in solitary confinement in a cell only 5 feet by 7 feet and without proper ventilation.

The attorney, George Gregory of Cheraw, S.C., filed a petition last week for Middleton's release, but this was denied.

The Army began an investigation July 30 similar to a grand jury hearing to determine whether the Green Beret men would be brought to trial. The investigation was recessed Aug. 2 and is to resume Wednesday.

Meanwhile, another version of the killing was aired today by a source with contacts among intelligence officers in Saigon. He said the slaying of the Vietnamese double agent was done without any authorization from the Central Intelligence Agency.

Gregory had charged last week that the CIA ordered the killing, and other sources said the CIA withdrew the order about a week after issuing it. But these sources were not clear as to whether the man had already been killed then.

This was the version of the killing told today:

The Green Beret command began to suspect one of its Vietnamese agents used on clandestine liaison missions in Cambodia and asked the CIA for advice.

The agent was a relatively low-ranking man, and the CIA advised the Green Beret command in Nha Trang that it should "dispense" with him if he was under suspicion. The CIA itself was unable to determine whether the man was a double agent.

There was never any consideration among the CIA directors in Saigon that the man should be killed. There may, however, have been some misunderstanding in the relay of information between Saigon and Nha Trang. But at some unspecified date, some officials in Saigon contacted Nha Trang with specific orders that the man should not be killed.

The Green Beret command replied that it was too late, that the mission was already in progress.

Park Sees New North Korean Push

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Chung Hee Park of South Korea, who says North Korea is plotting a new invasion of his country, is to arrive Wednesday for talks with President Richard M. Nixon.

Park said yesterday, "Korea's national security will be the major topic of our conversations."

He told the magazine U.S. News and World Report in a copyrighted interview in Seoul that Kim Il-Sung, the North Korean dictator, "is dedicated to reunifying Korea—forcefully if necessary—by 1970" and added:

"As I understand it, the United States feels Asian problems should be solved by Asians. The idea is essentially right. But the goal cannot be reached overnight. And we do not believe the United States would withdraw its forces—or influence—from Asia hastily."

Plans are still tentative, but Korean sources say President Park will land Wednesday at the Naval Air Station at Monterey. Park, his wife and his 10-man entourage, including his ministers of foreign affairs and national defense, will spend Wednesday night at Del Monte Lodge near Monterey.

Thursday morning the party will travel by helicopter to San Francisco for a morning conference with Nixon at the St. Francis Hotel.

Among likely topics to be discussed:

Strengthening and modernizing The Republic of Korea's armed forces.

Opening up new trade channels for Korean export products.

A review of the American posture in Asia, including an end to the war in Vietnam and return of Okinawa to Japanese rule.

Park will be guest of honor at a Thursday luncheon at the Bohemian Club with Secretary of State William Rogers as host.

Thursday night the Parks will be honored at a state dinner that President and Mrs. Nixon will hold at the St. Francis for 250 guests.

Tomales Bay Injury

Alonso R. Espinozo, 25, of San Francisco, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for face scrapes suffered at 5:30 p.m. when his car went off the road in Tomales Bay Park, hit a tree and rolled over, the California Highway Patrol reported.

U.S. Helicopter Pilot Grounded By North Korea 'Lost His Way'

SEOUL (AP) — The pilot of a U.S. Army helicopter shot down by the North Koreans yesterday probably lost his way and strayed over the border, a U.N. Command spokesman reported. North Korea gave no indication of the fate of the three men aboard the craft.

The spokesman said the pilot radioed about an hour after he took off on a training flight that "he had become disoriented, he was being fired upon, was hit and was going down over unknown territory."

Radio Pyongyang said North Korean forces downed the aircraft at Kumchon, about 15 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea and about 50 miles northwest of Seoul. The broadcast called the incident another "provocation by U.S. imperialists in violation of the Korean armistice agreement.'

U.N. and Pentagon officials withheld the names of the missing crewmen pending notification of relatives.

The U.N. Command said U.S. Marine Maj. Gen. Arthur H. Adams, senior member of the command on the armistice commission, had asked the North Koreans for assistance "in returning the helicopter and personnel."

It was the second U.S. Army helicopter shot down by North Korea since the Korean armistice was signed 16 years ago. A helicopter carrying two American officers on a routine flight was downed by ground fire near the Panmunjom truce village on May 17, 1963. The two officers were captured and were returned a year later after the U.N. Command signed a note saying they were engaged in espionage activities from their helicopter.

The command later said it had to sign the note in order to obtain the men's release.

On April 15, North Korea shot down an American EC121 electronic intelligence plane in the Sea of Japan.

More people were married in 1968 than at any time since 1946, says the Population Reference Bureau, which pointed out that 2.1 million marriages were performed.

Moon Rocks Are Still Distant From Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans who paid the freight will have to wait a while longer to get a personal glimpse of the moon rocks brought back by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

While the three U.S. space heros are being mobbed from coast-to-coast, the 60-plus pounds of rocks and dust they brought back are being pampered by the delicate gloved hands and sterile instruments of National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists in Houston's Lunar Receiving Laboratory.

Officials still aren't saying when the rocks might be offered for public display.

But after NASA scientists finish their studies, there are 142 other scientists from around the world who also will run tests on the samples.

Present plans call for releasing about 15 per cent of the material to the scientists sometime next month.

Public displays will come after the scientists are through.

Exhibits may be offered in large U.S. museums and there could be traveling displays. One problem still to be worked out is whether the samples will need to be kept hermetically sealed to prevent atmospheric damage.

Among those waiting for the scientists to finish are foreign leaders who have been promised moon souvenirs by President Richard M. Nixon. But some congressmen have indicated they may try to block such gifts on grounds the rocks belong to U.S. taxpayers.

Force Defended By State College Student President

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Student body president Russell Bass of San Francisco State College, disrupted by demonstrations this year, says "the only tool that student government has after futile talks with the administration is physical confrontation."

He addressed student leaders last night who are in El Paso for the 22nd Congress of the National Student Association, which opens tomorrow.

"Confrontation" is one of the most often heard expressions at the pre-Congress sessions but it is not always associated with the hint of violence. West Chester, Pa. State College student president Sol Fleider told of the success students at this school had when they disapproved of a man who was expected to be appointed president of the school.

"Instead of a physical confrontation, a group of students got haircuts, put on nice clothes and approached the regents," Fledeir said. "The regents listened to us and they decided to appoint another man as president."

A major theme of the conference is making student governments more independent.

"As the situation stands now, student government exists only to protect the administration's interests," said Jim Sutton of the University of Iowa.

He defined student power as the "ability to protect students' interests and the ability to fight the exploitation of students."

Brown University's student president John Salinger said he expects more disturbances on college campuses this coming year than a year ago. He said trouble-free campuses also gain from the demonstrations even if they're far away "because their administrators are shocked into taking reform action."

A few of the students took time out yesterday afternoon to attend an antiwar rally in a mountain canyon park northeast of El Paso sponsored by a group of 10 soldiers at nearby Ft. Bliss. About 250 persons attended the rally.

The GI protest group was led by Army Spec. 4 Paul Nevins who was a graduate student at New York University when he entered the Army. Nevins' "GI's For Peace" group received official support from the NSA national supervisory board.

Weapons Charge Against Novatan

Stephen Michael Weeks, 22, of 2025 Feliz Road, Novato, was arrested yesterday on warrants charging him with manufacturing and possession of prohibited weapons, and disturbing the peace, Novato police reported.

He was booked into Marin County Jail with bail set at $6,250, and was to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Weeks was originally arrested on Aug. 1. At that time Novato police found a seven-inch knife sharpened on both sides into a dagger, a pool cue cut into a billy club and two shotguns in his car. They arrested him and confiscated the weapons.

When no complaint was filed against him, he was released. Warrants were later issued charging him with the two offenses. Weeks went to the Novato police station at 3:45 p.m. yesterday asking for his weapons. Police then arrested him a second time.

DDT Ban Rejection Wise, Says Monagan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan believes the Assembly acted wisely in refusing to pass a bill banning the use of the pesticide DDT in California.

"A blanket ban on DDT is far too simple a solution for such a complex problem," Monagan said of rejection of the proposal by Sen. John Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek.

Nejedly's bill died in the Assembly Agriculture Committee, but a bill by Sen. Athony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, was passed by both houses and is awaiting final enactment by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Nejedly's proposal was to ban the use of DDT in California fields. Beilenson's bill would give the state greater control over the use of most pesticides and allow it to prohibit DDT and others when substitutes are available.

Monagan, a Republican whose district covers most of San Joaquin County in the heart of the state's farming region, said he believes Beilenson's bill "is actually a much stronger piece of legislation."

He added, "It is true that DDT is a source of environmental damage. But it is not alone in this. Many pesticides are dangerous to the environment, and legislation focusing on but one such chemical is inadequate."

Monagan pointed out that Nejedly's bill would not have prohibited the manufacture and sale of DDT in California for use outside the state.

"This would mean that while protecting ourselves, we would permit environmental pollution for export," Monagan said.

Another fault of Nejedly's bill Monagan said, was limiting it to just agricultural uses of DDT. "Evidence suggests that the greatest danger to our environment is posed by the extensive use of DDT by public agencies," he said, "such as the National Forest Service."

Beilenson's bill, Monagan said, covers all public agencies which use pesticides.

He said University of California experts have estimated that acceptable substitutes are available now for 89 of the 119 present uses for DDT.

So under Beilenson's bill, if it is signed into law by the governor, about three-fourths of the present uses could be eliminated, he said.

The rest, he said, could be eliminated when substitutes are developed, "But we've got to make sure the substitute doesn't harm the environment also," he said.

Poisons In Grapes Claim Discounted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration reported today it found no harmful pesticide residues in a recent survey of several varieties of table grapes

The survey was ordered after testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Migratory Labor last week in connection with a report that some table grapes contained aldrin residue as high as 18 parts per mission.

The statement to the subcommittee was based on a report by a private research laboratory which had tested samples of California-grown table grapes for a farm workers union.

The FDA tested 48 samples of Thompson seedless, Ribier, Cardinal, and Red Malaga grapes purchased at retail stores in Washington, Baltimore, Los Angeles, New York City and Chicago, and samples from packers in the San Francisco area.

Scientists used gas liquid chromatography to test for residues of pesticides such as DDT, DDE, dieldrin, aldrin, kelthane, diazionon, ethion, parathion and others.

Legislator Pay Hikes Under Attack

Special to the I-J

PENRYN, Placer County — Ranold J. Kennedy, who started an initiative move for repeal of the removal of voter control of school tax rate ceilings, today announced another — to repeal the power of legislators to set their own salaries.

"This is another case in which they (the legislators) have hoodwinked the voting public," declared Kennedy. "At $6,000 a year these legislators did something for the taxpayers. With the passage of Proposition 1-A the only thing they can think of now is voting themselves pay raises. Let us hold them at $16,000 and reject the new hike of $19,200."

Kennedy invited those interested in such an initiative to write him at P.O. Box 295, Penryn.

The initiative on school tax ceilings was dropped with passage by the legislature of AB 5, which accomplishes the repeal. Kennedy indicated, however, that it might be revived if Gov. Ronald Reagan fails to sign AB 5.

U.C. Artifacts A Major Link To Peruvian History

(Special to the I-J)

Philanthropist Phoebe Hearst had a passion for archaeology and the University of California, and toward the end of the last century she sent archaeologist Max Uhle to Peru to probe ancient Peru for U.C. Berkeley's newly founded anthropology museum.

Most of the clay pots, and musical instruments and other artifacts which dribbled into Berkeley over the next seven or eight years were ticketed with whatever Uhle had discovered about each of them. Today, the Lowie Museum's collection of more than 20,000 pieces of Peurvian pottery is considered a major research tool because of its archaeological information.

To the archaeologist, a pot or textile is important because it was found in a particular place, has a particular design or shape, and was made by a particular method. From it, the scientist can learn what a people looked like, what they wore and ate, how they made love, what their religion was, how they fought their wars and what their enemies looked like. It will tell him how one village differed from another, even when they were only a few miles apart.

But more than anything else, it will give him a sequence to fill in that enormous time span which reaches back nearly 4,000 years.

Surprisingly, the earliest known Peruvian pottery is "sophisticated." Shapes and designs are not crude, as might be expected. Methods of making the pots were obviously well developed. How pottery came to Peru and where, and how it spread, remain a mystery.

Nevertheless, scientists now know a good deal about the people who lived in the pockets of the Andes and beside the meager rivers flowing through the shallow valleys of a sandy, wind-scoured coastal plain.

They made bottles from the beginning. In the north, the "stirrup" bottle was apparently a water cooler with a convenient handle-spout combination. On the south coast, a double-spouted bottle, with a "bridge" for carrying, evolved from a "whistling" vessel frequently shaped like a bird or small animal to make a whistling sound when the water was sloshed around inside the jar.

Another predominant type was the "effigy" jar. The heads and bodies of men, women, dogs, birds and a whole assortment of other creatures were modeled in clay on the top of the vessel. This type of pottery was common throughout the country.

The Peruvian's irrepressible instinct for decoration is basic to all his pottery, but it is the elegant polychrome ware of the south coast which is probably the most spectacular. Like the great majority of the pots, the Nasca vessels were utilitarian and generally small, decorated with multicolored faces and geometric patterns outlined in black.

Around 300 B.C., the north coast Peruvians began to use molds to make their jars. Vessels were made in several pieces, later stuck together with clay, and then smoothed to cover the seams.

Within a few years, the people stopped using the slower and clumsier hand methods, and eight to ten jars might be turned out of a single mold. As a result, there are very few "unique" pieces in today's museums. Even the famous "portrait jars" of real people have duplicates.

Still, the ancient Peruvian's wish to express himself managed to overcome the static aspect of molded pottery. Designs and colors continued to vary. Craftsmen made different versions of the same animal, head or face. Dawson displays two jars, dissimilar in shape but both topped by the upper half of the same man's body. In each, the face has a broken nose and depressed cheekbone, the same prominent forehead. But one artist saw this man as young and virile, the other as an older man with wrinkled skin.

Charges Denied

Larry English Hamilton, 25, of Mill Valley pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court today to two charges of receiving stolen motorcycles in 1967 and 1968. A jury trial was set for the week of Dec. 8.

Arnheiter Hurt In Fall During Hike

OAKLAND (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Marcus Aurelius Arnheiter, who was relieved in 1966 of his warship command in Vietnamese waters in a controversial case, was reported in fair condition today with injuries suffered in a 20-foot fall while leading a Boy Scout hiking expedition.

Arnheiter, 43, slipped on a rock and fell yesterday near Waterhouse Lake five miles northeast of Pinecrest in Tuolomne County, authorities said.

He was taken to the Oak Knoll Naval Hospital here with fractures of the right hip, leg and ankle, a dislocated shoulder and multiple contusions and abrasions.

Arnheiter, formerly a San Rafael resident, has been assigned to shore duty at the Treasure Island Naval Station in San Francisco since he was removed from command of the destroyer Vance. He was relieved after a variety of complaints by junior officers about disciplinary matters he instituted.

The incident and his appeals received wide attention.

Arnheiter was leading a group of Boy Scouts, including his son Jeff, 12, when he fell. The Boy Scouts administered first aid after the accident and Jeff hiked to Pinecrest for help.

A U.S. Forest Service helicopter rescued Arnheiter and flew him to Sonora. He was treated at Sierra Hospital in Sonora and later transferred to Oak Knoll.

Mrs. Judd Goes Back To Arizona

MARTINEZ (UPI) — Trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd today began the return trip to the Arizona mental hospital from which she escaped seven years ago.

Mrs. Judd, now 64, escaped from the hospital in 1962 for the seventh time and made her way to Contra Costa County where she held a variety of jobs as a baby sitter, companion, and housekeeper. She was arrested in June and unsuccessfully fought return to Arizona.

Gov. Ronald Reagan last week ordered her extradited to the Phoenix hospital.

Graduate Builds Own Racing Car

DETROIT (AP) — A graduate student at Wayne State University figures his master's degree project is worth $56,000. He designed and built a car for himself.

Using 1,200 pounds of special clay, lumber, fiberglass and other materials, 35-year-old Richard A. Petit of Allen Park and a cousin who works in a Ford Motor Co. design center built a prototype car with $8,000 cash.

But the two men value their time at $10 an hour.

"We each spent an average of 30 hours a week for 20 months in actual construction of the car,' Petit said. They figure their time to be worth $48,000.

The automobile—named Ginette G-12—has five forward gears. They will take it from 0 to 60 miles per hour in 6.5 seconds. Propelled by a four-cylinder in-line double overhead cam Lotus Ford engine, the car is capable of speeds up to 150 m.p.h.

Petit's creation recently won a blue ribbon in the industrial design section of a Wayne State University art exhibit. It also earned him his master's degree.

He has worked as a designer in Ford's Fairlane-Torin Studio in Dearborn, where he was recently assigned to a section handling advanced design concepts and special performance innovations.

Starting with a Ginetta chassis and a quarter-scale clay model in 1967, Petit arranged to borrow expensive design clay from Ford.

Working from drawings on each wall of the garage behind his home, Petit and his cousin, David P. Conley, 27, of Detroit, made 50 molds from polyester resins and fiberglass. The molded sections were fitted over a frame constructed entirely of tubular steel and then given a coat of red acrylic lacquer.

The car was an 90-inch wheelbase and independent suspension on each wheel. Total weight of the auto is 1,160 pounds. It is 40 inches high, 156 inches long and has five inches ground clearance.

"If it hadn't been for more than a year of planning, we'd really have been lost," Petit said, stroking his dream-car.

Police Asked For Silence On Murders

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Police in this university community have been asked not to release any information that might link John Norman Collins with the slayings of six other young women within the last two years.

Collins, a senior at Eastern Michigan University in neighboring Ypsilanti, has been ordered to stand trial on a charge of first degree murder in the strangling death of Karen Sue Beineman, 18, an EMU freshman.

Miss Beineman's nude body, mutilated and sexually abused, was found July 26 in a wooded gully on the outskirts of Ann Arbor. She was the seventh young women slain in a similar way and found within a 15-mile triangle that encompasses the two communities.

Michael Devine, chief administrative officer of the Michigan Supreme Court and liaison officer between the courts and the news media for Collins' trial, asked police not to make any statements that might link Collins to any of the other crimes.

Officials said the publication of such information might prejuidice Collins' chance for a fair trial.

Sanitation Asked In Detergents

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new cold water detergents do kill germs, but a built-in sanitizing agent would make them do the job better the Los Angeles County health officer says.

"We find no concrete evidence that disease has been transmitted from one person to another by . . . the use of cold water detergents," of the type the county has been testing, Dr. Gerald A. Heidbreder wrote the Board of Supervisors Saturday.

But he said the National Soap and Detergent Association should urge manufacturers to add a strong sanitizing agent to detergents.

UROC Slaps Nixon's Plan To Aid Needy

BURLINGAME (AP) — New resolutions by leaders of the conservative United Republicans of California criticize President Richard M. Nixon, the United Nations and the California Parents-Teachers Association.

The measures, adopted by 160 delegates at a three-day board of governors meeting that ended yesterday, are subject to review by local units of the 9,000-member volunteer organization.

The governors criticized President Nixon's proposed welfare program which would establish a $1,600 yearly minimum federal aid to poor families of four.

'GREATER EVIL'

The UROC resolution declared that the proposal was disguised "guaranteed annual income" and that it would "create a greater evil than the present welfare system."

A proposal to congratulate Nixon's appointment of Warren Burger as chief justice was defeated after members voiced fears that Burger might be "too liberal."

Nixon was called upon to "cease all activities that tend to give respectability and prestige to the Soviet regime."

Specifically condemned was the placing of a wreath on Lenin's tomb in Moscow by astronaut Frank Borman, because Soviet-made tanks are being used in Vietnam against American soldiers.

HITS U.N. PLAN

The UROC also urged the United States to oppose "pro-communist policies of the U.N." and see to it that food and medicine go to Biafrans directly without interference from Nigerians.

The P-TA came under fire for "seeking installation of family life and sex education courses without polling local members."

UROC urged the formation of rival parent-teacher groups locally with policies contrary to those of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the California P-TA.

Two GOP leaders announced their political intentions at the three day meeting, both calling for stricter law enforcement.

Los Angeles Dist. Atty. Eville Younger said yesterday he would not be a candidate for state attorney general.

Foursome Captures Marcus Bridge Title

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The team of Jack Titus, Jeanne Davidson, Midge Cutler, all of Dallas, Tex., and Walter Willson, Washington, D.C., yesterday captured the Marcus teams championship with 37 boards in the American Bridge Association's Summer Nationals.

In second place with 35 1-2 boards were Joe Silver, Eric Kokish, both of Montreal, and Mike and Kathie Cappellentti, Alexandria, Va.

The three-session President's Cup Pairs, restricted to players with less than 100 masters points went to Californians Marshall Schwartz, San Francisco, and R. Joe Wiley, Torrance.

Another pair from California ended in a deadlock for the title but a computation of carry over from qualifying rounds put David Wilczynski, Granada Hills, and Michael Nash, Long Beach, into second place with 496, 1-2 point behind.

In the Spingold Masters teams, Maury Genud, Los Angeles, forfeited a semifinal match to the Dallas Aces. The Dallas Aces will compete with the winner of today's contest between Ira Rubin, Paranus, N.J., and Howard Schenken, New York City, for the championship.

A mini-hen, one third the size of a normal layer, but capable of producing a normal size egg, is being experimententally developed by the University of Florida.

Dissatisfaction Over Tax Reform

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Nixon administration official says there is concern at the White House that the tax reform bill does not do enough to obtain more taxes from the rich.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Charles Walker cited the case of one oil millionaire who had salary and income of $1,200,000 but paid only $400 in federal income taxes.

Walker said that under administration proposals the man would have to pay about $400,000 in federal taxes, but under the bill passed by the House "would still be paying only a few hundred dollars."

Argentina Bars Pacifist Singer

MONTEVIDEO (UPI)—United States pop singer Dean Reed said today he is determined to get on Argentine television even if he can't get into Argentina.

Reed arrived in Buenos Aires Saturday but immigration authorities promptly deported him "for political reasons" to neighboring Montevideo, Uruguay.

Reed, a pacifist, was sharply criticized by right-wing groups on a visit to Argentina in 1965. The house where he was staying was smeared with red paint.

The 30-year-old singer said today he planned to tape a program for Argentine television and send it to Buenos Aires for showing.

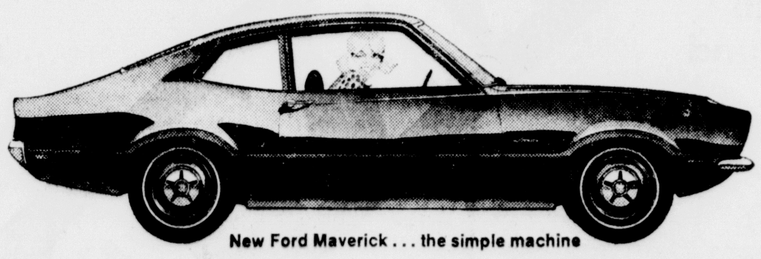
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 reasons why Maverick is the fastest-selling new car in automotive history!

Our little car is making a big hit. In its first 100 days Maverick has outsold every new car ever introduced. And every day more and more smart drivers are discovering the fun of owning the simple machine. Take a few minutes to find out why Maverick's so popular. Then take a test drive at your Ford Dealer's.



New Ford Maverick . . . the simple machine

1. LOW PRICE. Maverick is the best seller of the '70s at 1960 prices. And you get your money's worth. A complete car all ready to drive home.
2. LOW FUEL BILLS. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg. (Some Maverick owners report they get 25 mpg and better.)
3. 105 HORSES. Maverick's high-spirited Six gives you nearly twice as much horsepower as the leading import's engine. You get fast acceleration, easy passing.
4. PEOPLE-SIZED INTERIOR. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. Its front seat gives you nine inches more shoulder room than the leading import. Plus lots of leg room, hip room and head room.
5. EASY HANDLING. Maverick can outmaneuver the leading economy import. It can U-turn in a tighter circle, nip around corners and slide into tight parking spaces with amazing agility.
6. FEWER SERVICE CALLS. Maverick is actually easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import. Maverick oil changes come only once every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrications once in 36,000 miles. The leading import recommends an oil change twice as often and a chassis lubrication six times as often. (Maverick gives you economy without inconvenience!)
7. SIMPLE SERVICE AND REPAIRS. The Maverick Owner's Manual has 24 pages of instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You can change spark plugs, replace fuel filter, adjust ignition timing, and more. Even a smashed grille can be replaced in as little as 13 minutes.
8. WIDE-OPEN TRUNK SPACE. No more cramming in luggage just because you have a small car. Maverick gives you 10.4 cubic feet of luggage space—nearly twice as much as the leading import. (With Maverick, you can take it with you.)
9. SOLID DURABILITY. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. (And Maverick's 3-speed transmission is tough enough to handle twice as much horsepower as the engine turns out.) (Maverick may be little, but you don't have to treat it like a kid.)
10. BUILT-IN SAFETY. Unlike most economy imports, Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high. That means stability—mighty important when the road is wet or the wind is strong.

THE NATIONAL PICTUR

Criminologist Says Hoover's Report Exaggerates Situation

BERKELEY (UPI)—A University of California criminologist says J. Edgar Hoover's crime rate reports exaggerate the situation.

"One of my students has figured that at the present rate of increase, in 1990 everyone will either be in jail or a policeman," said Dr. Richard B. Hoffman.

And that would not end crime, said Hoffman, because crime tends to increase in areas, such as Latin America, with the highest per capita proportions of police.

The FBI's uniform crime report for 1968 showed a rate since 1960 increasing 11 times as fast as population. The rate is based on the nunber of reported incidents in seven categories—murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, auto theft and larceny of more than $50.

But Hoffman does not think these figures present the true picture. He believes the per capita number of persons committing crimes in American society remained about steady from the depression until the last five or 10 years when it began increasing — "but not as much as Hoover's figures indicate."

The FBI's total of 4.4 million serious crimes reported last year is deceptive, among other reasons, because of monetary inflation, Hoffman said.

In an interview, he noted inflation has doubled and tripled valuations of stolen goods. As a result, the larceny $50 and over category, which comprises 28 per cent of the total, now is swelled by petty larcenies never before included.

Auto thefts, which contribute 17 per cent of the total, are deceptive because a large but unknown proportion are cases of "joyriding" juveniles with no serious criminal intent, he said.

In Hoffman's view, part of the rise in the FBI rate is because of better reporting by local agencies, especially in rural areas. Each year he said they keep better records of crimes reported.

A reason crime is increasing, Hoffman said, is "we make crime so practical in America."

"Crime does pay. It pays a hell of a lot of people," he he said.

Citizens make their valuables easy to take, stolen goods are easy to sell, and "the probability of getting caught is low," said Hoffman.

His reason for the rising number of burglaries, which last year totaled 1.8 million or 34 per cent of the total, is that burglary has become more profitable.

"A couple of decades ago what was there worth taking in the average house, the toaster?"

Now the burglar is inspired by easy-to-carry-and-sell color television sets and stereo equipment. Auto breakins are motivated by expensive stereo outfits and bucket seats.

Other reasons Hoffman gave for the rising crime rate are public apathy, the increased number of persons in their 20s, the age when they are most apt to commit crimes, and the steady shift of population into high density urban areas.

In high density areas people don't feel responsibility for each other, the self policing of rural societies is absent, and its's easy for a criminal to get lost, Hoffman said.

Hoffman, a visiting professor from the University of Buffalo who specializes in police management, believes U.S. police departments are badly mismanaged.

"Police have changed their methods only slightly in the past 30 years," he said. "Yet AT&T figures that if it were still using its methods of 30 years ago, it would take all the women in the country to provide enough operators to handle the current volume of calls."

In one major police department Hoffman said detectives spend an average of only one hour a day "on the street. They're nothing but paper shufflers."

As often as not, he said police departments assign the most men to areas where they get the least calls and keep their rosters low on Friday and Saturday nights—when the most crimes are committed. Only 10 per cent of their calls are because of serious crimes while 70 per cent concern domestic disputes, drunks, noise and disorderly juveniles.

"Everything considered, including retirement, the real cost of a patrolman is $25,000 a year," he said. "Yet we make very poor use of him."

Hoffman suggests that patrolmen be provided male stenographers to ride along and write their reports. He forsees installation of computers in patrol cars for storage of information.

One thing Hoffman does not recommend is large increases in police department budgets. Extra money, he said, will lessen incentives of police bureaucrats to change their methods.

Long Delay On Hall To Be Explored

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will be asked tomorrow to demand swift completion of the Hall of Justice, now nearly a year late in opening.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows, in a letter to the board, said recent construction delays are unjustifiable.

The $11.7 million building was to have opened last November.

In other business at its all-day meeting, the board is scheduled to hear more reports on logging operations on Bolinas Ridge, review Coast Guard proposals for communications facilities and housing development in West Marin and hear an appeal by the Strawberry Recreation District against apartment development on Strawberry Cove.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the board chambers at the Civic Center.

DAY CAMPS for Girl Scouts throughout Marin have attracted large numbers of girls to participate in a variety of activities this summer. Here all eyes are focused on riding instructor Mrs. Harry J. Lehman of Fairfax during the special horsemanship day camp held at San Domenico School for Girls in Sleepy Hollow. Edie Lehman demonstrates the proper dismount and the girls learn by trying it themselves. Other day camps have been operated at Pacheco Ranch near Novato and at the Girl Scout camp, Sky Oaks, in Fairfax. (Independent-Journal photos by Roger Bockrath)

Marin Girl To Be Zoo Keeper In New Zealand

By MOLLY MARIN

Sue Senser of San Rafael will be on her way Wednesday to work in the Kinder Zoo in Wellington, New Zealand. She's the first female keeper ever hired by the zoo and her co-workers will be 17 male zoo keepers.

A June graduate of the University of California at Davis with a B.S. degree in zoology, Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Senser. Besides being in charge of the children's zoo she will care for young animals in the nursery and others that are hospitalized. She will also give riding lessons and work on two of the zoo's national conservation projects — preservation of Kiwai birds and Tuatara lizards.

She will leave by boat from San Francisco and expects to be there a minimum of two years.

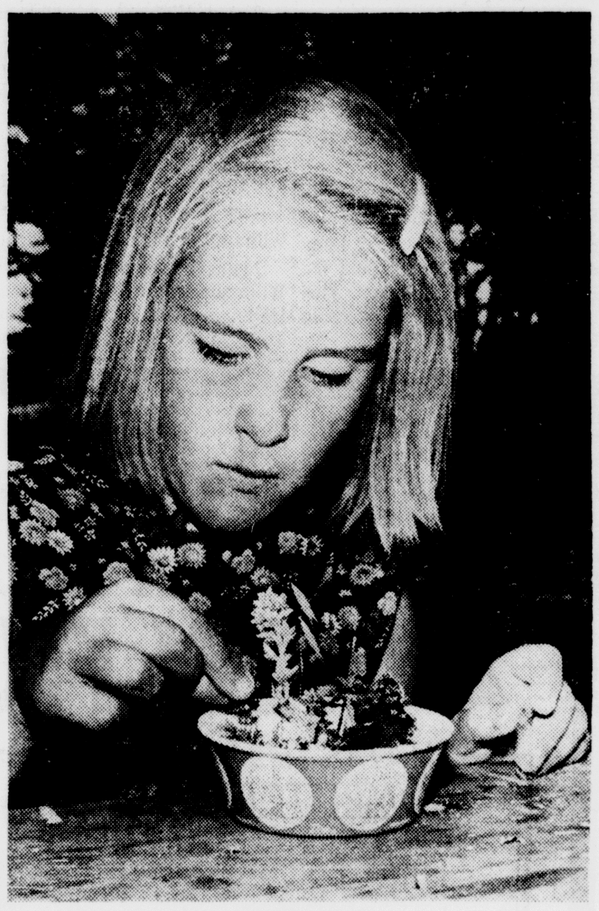
APPROXIMATELY 100 elderly persons, residents of the Hebrew Home for the Aged on Silver Avenue in San Francisco, spent an afternoon at the Belvedere Lagoon home of Mr. and Mrs. Lou H. Hymans last Monday.

The Hymans have a luncheon every year for residents of the home in honor of Evelyn Hyman's late mother and father.

BEING FETED at a number of bridal showers is Diana Marie House, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. House of Mill Valley, who will become the bride of Stanley T. Burnett of San Francisco on Aug. 24 in Stockton.

Last Monday a shower was given for Diana by one of her bridesmaids, Vicki Brassfield of San Rafael. The shower was held at the Mill Valley home of Elizabeth Pryer, who was co-hostess.

Showers have been given in Stockton recently by the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. John Harrison, with the matron of honor, Mrs. Stanley Coker, both of Stockton, and by Mrs. Frank Scott with Mrs. Ben Heim, both also of Stockton.



CAREFULLY PUTTING together a dish garden with plaster of paris, Elisibeth Minton selects dried plant material for the arrangement. Crafts are a part of the activities the girls have enjoyed at Sky Oaks during the summer day camp. Archery, spatter-printing from leaves and swimming at Boy Scout Camp Lilienthal were others. Mrs. Benton Bostick was camp director for the second session and Mrs. Wesley Page directed the first.

SISTERS Mary Ellen, O.P., and M. Gervaise, O.P., watch as Maureen Healy and Jackie Houweline, seated on fence, learn how to bridle a horse from the instructor, Edie Lehman. The horsemanship Girl Scout day camp was held at San Domenico School for the second time this year.

Where do GOOD FIGURES come from?

By HELEN BOTTEL

It Won't Lessen A Male Image If A Man Says 'I Love You'

DEAR HELEN:

I hope you'll print my letter, for my husband and other men who read your column, whereas they don't read women's magazines where this subject is often discussed.

Men don't seem to realize they could make their wives feel like queens with just a little consideration. It isn't their "uncaringness," but their "unshowingness" that sometimes makes us feel so alone.

My husband is typical of many. He's a good and wonderful man, a fine father. But he hasn't said "I love you" in five and one-half years. We've been married less than six years. I know he loves me because of the things he does for us, but how I long to hear those words, to get a friendly hug while I'm fixing dinner, an unexpected kiss that says, "You're terrific," a compliment that isn't fished for.

A few times the feeling grew so strong that I asked my husband if he loved me. He rebuffed me with, "Actions speak louder ..." and dropped the subject. Since then I don't ask any more. He's right, of course, but the longing is still there.

Many times I tell him I love him. Helen, women everywhere will empathize with me when I say it feels like you've given a very precious gift and the receiver tramples it into the ground, when he answers a deeply-felt emotion with an absent-minded "Uh-huh," or a flip remark. So the mood is broken for me and he isn't even aware that there was a mood.

Sometimes, when the housework and children get a woman down, a compliment from the one that means most to her — on how nice the house looks, or her appearance, or how good the children are — can make the sun come out. She'll work twice as hard to maintain that image.

Too often men don't realize that women aren't as physical in their love. They need a pinch of emotion to lift them to the heights. If they'd add that one ingredient to their marriage, they'd come out with a super prize-winning recipe.

I'm not downgrading men in the least: I think they're great! But can't they see that it isn't "unmanly" to show a little tenderness? — HOPING.

DEAR HOPING:

Sadly enough, many men associate tenderness with weakness, this because of the male image passed on from one generation to the next. Little boys are strong, brave, physical — remember. They hide their emotions, fearing they'll be called sissy. While girls learn the art of femininity from their mothers, few boys hear from their fathers how to become gentle men. Dad is too busy making a man out of the kid.

Perhaps more husbands, reading your letter, will see the importance of demonstrated love. Some in this generation already have — and they're passing the word on to their sons who are almost sure to reap the benefits. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

A mother of teens asked how to avoid being an answering service when her children were out of the house. The telephone company does not like to have people take the phone off the hook. However, they can install on the underside of your phone a small, effective and easily attached switch, by which, when it is turned off, no bell will ring; while the person haveing dialed your number hears a sound like your phone is ringing.

Several years ago we had this gadget put on our phone at a cost of around $3.00. It eliminated many nuisance calls, especially at night, and allowed free time for work or naps during certain hours of the day. — KONRAD

DEAR KONRAD

Thank you for the tip. I checked with our telephone company and found that the cost of these gadgets is now around $8.00 for installation and 75 cents per month service charge.

A tip to Ma Bell: Why not equip the switch with a red light so that users will remember to unflip it? — H.

Parents Honored On 50th Anniversary At Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Filippi of Mill Valley were honored Saturday on their golden wedding anniversary at a dinner party given by their children at Dominic's Harbor restaurant in San Rafael.

A native of Piedmont, Italy, Mr. Filippi came to this country as a child, and his wife, born of Portugues descent in St. George, in the Azores, also came to this country as a child.

They met in San Francisco, where Mr. Filippi had his own garage business, and on Aug. 16, 1919, they were married in the Church of the Holy Cross in San Francisco.

In 1928 they moved to their present home in Mill Valley, where Mr. Filippi opened the Elroy Garage and operated it until his retirement 12 years ago, when it was taken over by their two sons, Robert and Walter Filippe, both of Mill Valley.

The Filippis have an unmarried son, Richard Filippi of San Francisco, and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Pearse of Berkeley, who has four children, Caroline, Tommy, Scottie and Stevie.

The Robert Filippis have two children: Robert, who will soon enter military service, and Mrs. Justine Fernandez of San Rafael, whose son Sterling is the Filippis' only great grandchild.

The Walter Filippis' children are Janet, Paul, James and Regina.

The Filippis are members of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in Mill Valley. They say all of their interests center around four children, 10 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

When they moved to Mill Valley they say they could almost count the houses, and their most exciting memory is the great fire of 1929.

Some 50 relatives from Reading to Ontario attended the golden wedding celebration, including Mrs. Filippi's sisters, Mrs. Joseph Gliebe and Mrs. Emil Straessler, both of San Francisco, and Mr. Filippi's sister, Mrs. Mary Delagnes of Piedmont, and brother, August Filippi of San Francisco.

Two special guests were the Rev. John J. O'Brien of Sonoma, retired pastor of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church, and the Rev. Howard Rasmussen, pastor of St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae.

MUSIC REVIEW

Big Attendance Points To Inverness Festival's Status

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

An attendance of some 1,500 at the six events in the fifth annual Inverness Music Festival held at St. Columba's Church and amphitheater over the weekend attested to its growing importance and quality.

The climax of the festival, directed by Fae McNally, came yesterday afternoon and evening with two operas in which success was due mainly to several fine singers.

The first of these operas was the Mascagni "Cavalleria Rusticana" completely staged in the afternoon in the amphitheater.

Major virtues of this production were the excellent performance of soprano Mildred Owen in the leading role of Santuzza and the maintenance of dramantic excitement by McNally at the piano. Fortunately, all the principals had powerful voices.

Miss Owen's voice was beautifully produced throughout a wide range of pitch and dynamics and had the emotional warmth and depth to express the impassioned feelings of the abandoned peasant girl.

Richard Wagner as Alfio had a fine baritone and was very convincing in the role of the jealous husband of the village coquette Lola, but mezzo soprano Florence Bierman in that role lacked the vivacity necessary in both acting and vocal style, though her voice quality was most pleasing.

James Eitze's big tenor in the male lead of Turridu was very impressive at times — notably in his violent rejection of Santuzza — but it lacked security at the top. And contralto Arlene White was satisfactory as Turriu's mother.

The simple stage set by Nancy Blunk served the purpose of establishing the environment, and stage direction of Sam Shaffer was inventive occasionally but static for the chorus. Composed of some 20 voices, it was expected amateur level. Off-stage organ and piano music was well played by Nancy L. Bennett.

Star of the final event last night in the church was soprano Joan Smith for two reasons — first because she sang the demanding Contata No. 51 of J. S. Bach in the opening of the chamber music program directed by Darrell Parker, and second because she sank the leading role in the concluding Mozart comic opera, "The Impresario," brilliantly.

Both works are extraordinary tests of vocal agility, and she handled them with remarkable control, seldom altering the pure lyrical quality of her voice. The trumpet accompaniment of Mark Isham in the first and last passages of the cantata, however, was too loud, and also of the small string ensemble. When acoustic are as good as they are in the church, it is easy to exaggerate volume. Fortunately the string ensemble with organ was in much better proportion in the opera.

The opera was completely captivating and sparkling finale for the festival. Its simple plot, centering around two feuding divas, was so timeless that it hardly seemed dated at all though it was first performed in 1786.

Miss Smith, though lacking older makeup and without altering vocal quality, managed to suggest successfully the aging soprano Mme. Silverklang, and Elizabeth Hetternan's pert charm and fresh young soprano were just right for the ambitious soubrette Miss Sweetsong.

Baritone Robert Grant as Herr Eiler, the ambitious banker, was outstanding in his acting of the role. The speaking parks of the impresario and buff, an American stage manager, were well portrayed respectively by Douglas Saxby and Greg Norgaard.

Between the cantata and opera the talented husband-wife team of cellist Jean and violinist Lucien Mitchell played expressively some rarely heard duets for their instruments. These were works by Beethoven, Walzell, Hanning-Chroder and Dowland.

Melvin Newton Called By Jury

OAKLAND (AP) — Melvin Newton, brother of imprisoned Black Panther leader Huey Newton, says he has been subpoenaed to appear before the federal grand jury as chairman of the Huey Newton Defense Committee.

Melvin Newton, national finance chairman of the Black Panthers, told newsmen yesterday he was ordered to bring all committee records including names of contributors to an Aug. 27 hearing in San Francisco.

The defense committee was formed a month after Huey Newton was convicted of manslaughter in the Oct. 28, 1967, slaying of an Oakland policeman. Newton is now serving a two-to-15-year sentence.

Air Show Crowds Set At 8,000

Although the crowds at the air show Saturday and yesterday at Gnoss Field were not as large as expected, the show made a small profit, according to Chairman Burt Freeman.

The show, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Southern Marin and Novato, drew about 8,000 paid attendance while the clubs had hoped for 15,000, he said.

The stunt aircraft Citaba thrilled the crowd with its aerobatics. The sky divers also turned out to be one of the biggest attractions with the Diablo Sky Divers putting on the show, and radio-controlled model airplanes kept both children and adults spellbound as the little planes did loops and everything of which a big plane is capable.

It will take about a week to get in all the bills, so that the clubs know how much money they made. This profit will be used for charitable activities of the clubs, he said.

Man Booked On Drugs In Prison

A 21-year-old San Bruno man serving weekends in Marin County Jail was booked on suspicion of smuggling narcotics into jail and possession of narcotics early Saturday.

Deputies said Terry Perry had a small plastic bag containing 16 capsules on his person when he was searched before beginning his weekend in jail.

He was held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Girl, 4, Drowns At Home In Bath

A 4-year-old cerebral palsy victim drowned yesterday in her grandparents' bathtub while the mother of the girl was looking for her younger daughter, the Marin County coroner's office reported.

Yvette Monique LaBoube, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth LaBoube of San Pedro, Los Angeles County, was pronounced dead on arrival at Ross General Hospital at 5:20 p.m.

Death was attributed to drowning by Deputy Coroner Richard W. Madigan.

The LaBoubes, who three weeks ago moved from Novato to San Pedro, were visiting LaBoube's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. LaBoube at their home at 70 Brookmead Place, San Anselmo.

Mrs. LaBoube said she had put Yvette on her back in about three inches of water in the bath, then gone to look for her younger daughter, Christina, Madigan reported. She returned to the bathroom after a short time and found Yvette face down in the water. She administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and the child was rushed to the hospital.

Yvette was born in Marin County. She is survived by her parents, grandparents and sister.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Stewart Memorial Chapel, San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo. Inurnment is private.

The family would prefer memorial contributions to the United Cerebral Palsy of Marin or the Shriners' Hospital.

Innocent Pleas In Burglary Case

Two brothers, Jeremiah Jerome St. Martin, 23, and Michael Vincent St. Martin, 18, and George E. Myers, 22, all of San Rafael, pleaded innocent today in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing a San Anselmo antique shop July 21.

A jury trial was set for the week of Sept. 15.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson refused to reduce the younger St. Martin's bail from $6,000 when he learned that he also has three other pending burglary charges in superior court. The older brother is free on his own recognizance but Michael St. Martin and Myers are in Marin County Jail in lieu of bail.

Motorcyclists Hurt In Highway Skidding

Two motorcyclists were injured at 9 a.m. yesterday when their machines skidded off Shoreline Highway on a sharp curve south of Olema and went into a ditch, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Japan Releases Mill Valley Man

A Mill Valley man held for more than a month, according to Associated Press reports, by Japanese police on suspicion of violating the country's drug laws has returned home.

Thomas van Valkenburgh Chesnut, 50, of 120 Eldridge Avenue, was arrested June 13, AP reported, at Tokyo International Airport on suspicion of bringing $147 worth of marijuana into Japan. Last month, Japanese authorities said he was being held by narcotics officials in Tokyo, and that no trial date had been set.

Chesnut then on a round-the-world tour, is a former music director of the Ross School District, and taught at College of Marin. He declined today to discuss his experience in Japan.

Father, 27, Faces Charges Of Neglect

George Caldwell, 27, of 906 Scott Street, Novato, was arrested at 12:51 p.m., Saturday on Highway 101 and Olive Avenue, Novato, by Novato Police on warrants from Sonoma County charging child neglect and felony bad checks.

He was released from Marin County Jail on $565 bail to appear at 2 p.m., Aug. 27 in Sonoma County Municipal Court.

Pleads Innocent

Charles E. Lawder, 43, of Houston, Tex., pleaded innocent today in Marin Superior Court to charges of lewd conduct and committing an unnatural sex act with a 7-year-old Novato boy Aug. 5. A jury trial was set for the week of Sept. 22.

Woman Held For Plant In Window

A 24-year-old Tiburon woman who attracted sheriff's deputies attention with a plant on her window sill was booked in Marin County Jail early today on suspicion of cultivating marijuana, and possession of narcotics and dangerous drugs.

Frances Helen Kumin of 1805 B Centro West was held on bail of $2,500 to appear today in Marin Municiapal Court.

Deputies on patrol noticed the plant in the window and decided it looked like marijuana. They went to the apartment and also found a brown bag containing numerous pills and a brown substance believed to be hashish or opium, the report said.

Novato Driver's Condition Fair

A Novato driver was reported in fair condition in Novato General Hospital today with fractured ribs suffered when he was thrown from his pickup truck on Highway 101 in Santa Venetia Saturday.

William John Carnaghan, 54, of 632 Wilson Avenue, was tossed out of the truck as it entered the highway off-ramp at North San Pedro Road according to the California Highway Patrol.

Carnaghan told officers the door flew open as he started the turn. The truck then hit the guardrail and overturned.

Money Stolen

'BELLE-RINGERS'

Three Clean Girls Do Hull Of A Job

By SUZANNE WOOD

Skippers, need your hull cleaned?

Well, three energetic teen-age girls have converted a scuba diving hobby into a money making game and are cleaning boats for 30-cents a foot.

When Cathy Smoot of Corte Madera, Robin Hermann of Kentfield and Jean Peters, of Ross formed their little enterprise, they dashed off an ad to the newspaper. Then they weaved through the harbors in Sausalito and Tiburon distributing homemade leaflets which advertised themselves as "the three belles."

The three aren't very big, ranging in height from five feet, one inch to five feet, six inches. Dressed in jeans and barefooted, they toted their brushes, teflon sponges and wet suits in one large army surplus bag the other day as they trudged along the pier in Sausalito Yacht Harbor with 40-pound air tanks slung over their shoulders.

Then they struggled into the $70 wet suits, helping each other with the heavy zippers and tucking their long hair under the caps. Curious fishermen and boatsmen passed by on the dock, stopping to watch the girls transform into something a little less bewitching than a mermaid.

"Some people think we're frogmen, but soon notice we're just froggirls," said 16-year old Cathy, a pert blonde who is the veteran of the group with four years' diving experience, including some in Florida and Hawaii.

Boaters notice the trio flopping along the dock in fins and one, Rev. Edward Smith Jr. of Vacaville, called out to the girls to help him find a lost anchor rope. So Cathy lowered herself into the murky water, disappearing only for a few minutes to recover the rope.

The air supply in a tank lasts long enough to clean the barnacles and seaweed off six 25-feet boats. They can only work for about 45 minutes at a depth of about six feet for most ships.

With the protection of the wet suits, the girls didn't seem to mind the 54 degree water temperatures — or the chilling breeze after they crawled out of the suits. But they dislike the murky Bay water where they found visibility only about three feet and they often bump their heads on the boats.

"It's like being in a beautiful scenic area that's all foggy," they said.

The chatty teen-agers find the most difficult thing about being underwater is not being able to talk. But the girls have developed their own hand — and feet — signals to communicate.

Although a buddy system is used in most scuba diving, this trio works closely enough under the boats to swim separately.

All three are athletic Redwood High School students who are saving money from their scuba diving to ski this winter. They've had many jobs resulting from the newspaper ad and from boat owners just seeing them around the harbors.

Cathy's father's reminder that "behind every winning boat is a clean bottom" became a winning slogan for the lively teenagers whose greatest business is on Friday — sometimes four in an afternoon — when everyone wants a clean boat for the weekend races.

But they've also done an odd assortment of jobs from cutting ropes out of propellers to patching areas beneath boats.

The three girls, who began scuba diving with ten-week lessons, have interest in becoming marine biologists.

"The most frightening thing about the underwater at first was the fish," said Jean.

Paying For New Car And Getting Used One

How would you like to buy a spanking new automobile, park it in front of your home, and when you came back out find that someone had caved in one side, leaving a dent that could never be quite effaced?

Something similar to that happened to the City of Larkspur last week.

GHILOTTI BROTHERS of San Rafael widened Magnolia Avenue from the Woodlark Apartments to Bon Air Road and installed a new channelized intersection at Magnolia and Bon Air under a $130,840 city contract. The money came from Larkspur and Marin County gasoline tax funds.

Next day, Pacific Gas & Electric Co. cut a large, square hole smack in the intersection to install a vault for underground utilities.

In effect, the city's new Cadillac-grade intersection became a "runs good but needs body work" used car overnight.

PG&E, on completing its vault job, is putting a metal cover on the hole, surrounded by paving. Motorists who feel the slight bump as they drive over the cover can thereby be reminded of what happens to some of their gasoline tax funds.

WHAT HAPPENED at Bon Air and Magnolia in Larkspur was not unusual. The sight of a newly surfaced street being cut into by a utility company or a publicly owned utility district is far from uncommon.

Sometimes the cut is unavoidable. A water main may break unexpectedly, or — as happened last year on H Street in San Rafael — the telephone company may have a cable leak which necessitates repeated excavations to locate the source. In the current Larkspur case, however, there seems little reason for the new surface being cut, since PG&E had installed new underground lines as part of the street project and was thoroughly aware of what the city was doing.

Public Works Director Warren Mistron, proud of the intersection he designed, was understandably upset when he saw a PG&E crew cutting the hole. And here pops up a reason why such things happen so often and so easily.

PG&E, AND PRESUMABLY the other utilities, have blanket street-opening permits from the City of Larkspur. They have similar blanket permits in some other cities in Marin, also.

This is very convenient for the utility. It can open a street any time without asking permission. There is therefore no need for it to coordinate its excavation work with the city's own street-opening projects.

While convenient for the utilities, however, the practice is patently unfair to the taxpayers. They pay for new streets which are promptly turned into old streets — for very rarely is it possible to restore the surface without disfiguring the appearance or creating a rough spot.

The City of Larkspur, it would appear, has only itself to blame for issuing such blanket permits. The taxpayers, as too often happens, get shortchanged for the convenience of officialdom.

Neither Surprising Nor Reassuring

It should come as no surprise to anybody that the Air Force has nuclear weapons stored at Hamilton Air Force Base. The military of the United States has become so devoted to these weapons of terrible potential that it regards them as necessary wherever it has an installation.

How casually the military regards such instruments of destruction could not be better illustrated than by the assignment of a disturbed, unreliable airman to stand guard over them. Thus has familiarity bred contempt, and "security" become a nisnomer in more ways than one.

The nuclear weapons at Hamilton are not the only ones in Marin. We can only hope that the Army is more careful in its assignment of guards at the Nike sites.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Will 140 New 'Job Agents' Prove Boon Or Boondoggle?

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan has been justifiably proud of the fact that it has reduced the number of state employees throughout California substantially.

It has avoided activities which might smack of boondoggling, and although it has not as yet wholly eliminated such activities, it at least has made a good start.

But whether this original purpose in revising attitudes toward government is to be maintained appeals now to be questionable, as plans are under way to hire 140 "job agents" at approximately a quarter of a million dollars a year, whose stated purpose will be to "develop personal relationships and progress plan for individual case loads of hard-core unemployed."

THE PLAN was announced by Gil Sheffield, who was named six months ago by Governor Reagan to head the new California Department of Human Resources Development, which encompasses the department of employment, the service center program, the state office of economic opportunity, and the commission on aging.

All of these agencies are involved with filling jobs, and some with training for jobs which will make unemployables employable.

Sheffield says he wants a "new breed" of civil servant for the 140 posts of "job agent," with special emphasis on candidates living or working in poverty areas of California.

ALTHOUGH the new employees will receive all the rights and privileges of civil service employees, they will not be hired in the regular process of selecting civil service employees, in that the state personnel board is waiving written examinations.

The employees will be selected by an oral board of four members, two of whom will be from the area in which the employees will serve. Sheffield says he knows of no written test that can measure the "dynamic" qualities he is seeking for $842 per month, which is the starting salary for the 140 employees.

THE NEW employees, he says, will be "middlemen between society and the forgotten, and they'll try, through a series of motivational programs and job training and placement services at their disposal, to bring hundreds of men and women back to participation and productivity."

He wants as "job agents," he says, people who will be equally at home in the slums and behind a bureaucratic desk, or in the office of a corporate vice-president.

"At times," Sheffield said, "I think we're looking for two souls in a single body."

How much success he will have in getting this type of personnel at $842 per month remains to be seen. Aug. 26 is the deadline for applications.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Tax Fund Use Implication Seen

Re your note in reply to the letter from Mr. Sam Hanzel (I-J, Aug. 12), you state: "There was no suggestion of the use of public funds for Catholic schools . . ."

True enough — but, the impression I received, and as Mr. Hanzel stated: "This (article) implied a justification or desirability of aid through public funds."

I'm with you, Mr. Hanzel.

Mothers Have It No Better Here

Last night (Aug. 12), while reading your paper, I was somewhat amused, but not very, by an article, "Soviet Women Work Like Men" by James O. Jackson. The general tone of the article gave the impression that the Soviet working woman really has it so much harder than the U.S. working woman who probably really is only working for the fun of it and maybe a few extra dollars for spending money. He does mention in an off-handed way that there is no discrimination against Soviet women in the labor market, that no door is closed to them, that a great number are professionals, and that there is no wage differential as there often is here.

However, he laments the fact that after work their brutish husbands expect them to take over all the household chores, prepare meals, shop, etc.

So? This is different in this country? What a laugh! Besides, he neglects to tell that child-care is provided as a matter of course, often in nurseries operated by the factories, etc. in which the mother works.

Here the kids take their lumps along with the working mother and when things go wrong and they turn out less than good, guess who is to blame. You guessed! Mother. Not only is she blamed by the rest of society but the child often blames her, too. Never dear, old dad who drank up or gambled away the check so mother had to work in the first place. No wonder mother has become a dirty word.

I'm not trying to say that I know so much about women in the Soviet Union. I don't. But I sure know a lot about how it is to be a woman in this country and if I sound bitter it's only because I am.

Excluded Cities Once Bordered Bay

We read in your news report of Aug. 12 that BCDC — Bay Conservation and Development Commission — will exclude four "cities" in Marin from representation because they are not "bayside" communities.

The time was, within the 57 years of my lifetime, when at least one of these communities was washed by the bay waters, and I am referring to Larkspur before it elected (?) to throw away the precious heritage and convert their tidelands into those school and market sites that present somehow such a drear and sterile aspect — perhaps because they don't really belong there.

Again, when I was a student at Marin College in 1935, the bay waters nearly reached College Avenue, while in my father's day this locality was known as Ross Landing because vessels from off the bay did tie up there. Thus, by a course of greater wisdom through the years, both Larkspur and Ross — call it Kentfield if you must — might today be participating in uses of those vanished shores which must ever be regarded as more generally beneficial than sites for refuse dumps, corporation yards, super markets, and yes, schools as well.

Swallows Give Rise To Philosophy

Out on the point, the swallows are more wild and free.

In the dairy barns, the swallows fly in and rest on cow's back . . . catching a fly or two until cow swaps the flies with the tail. The dairy barn dwellers are very friendly.

Any new building or house erected in this rural area is soon investigated by swallows. . . . There is this great affinity for buildings . . . mutual dependence between life and things, life and life.

I think no oak would live for long, if the birds did not visit the oak.

I wonder about buildings in these parts, if the swallows did not visit. . . . Evolution at times, is more the phenomena of necessity . . . doors left open and the part we play with machines and being.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Aug. 18, 1959

20 YEARS AGO

Aug. 18, 1949

Mill Valley's tax rate was cut from $1.60 per $100 assessed valuation to $1.45, because of increased sales tax revenue.

Burger Brings New Activism To Role of Chief Justice

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The new chief justice of the United States, Warren E. Burger, is already showing himself an activist in major areas of law reform.

He is stepping forward to exert all the influence a chief justice can command to bring about crucially needed court reforms, prison reforms, and legal-education reforms.

Justice Burger may, as some say, prove to be conservative in interpreting the Constitution, but he is revealing that he is not at all conservative in the speed and range of reform he aims to help bring about in every major aspect of the nation's judicial system.

HE WANTS better justice and faster justice.

He wants better-managed courts.

He wants nationwide, top-to-bottom reforms in the whole long-neglected, outdated correctional system.

He wants the law schools to radically alter their teaching methods because they are not producing lawyers "with proper understanding of their role in society."

And the chief justice, who is chief administrator of all federal courts, wants major headway in all three of these areas to begin now and not stop until the reforms are made reality.

JUSTICE BURGER is not wasting any time delivering ceremonial speeches. In the past few days he has delivered addresses to different sections of the American Bar Association, and in every one he had something important to say and he said it very pointedly.

On the issue of the painfully long delays in the administration of criminal justice, Burger's blunt proposition is that the courts urgently need trained specialists to manage them efficiently, and he frankly says the judges are no more qualified to do this than doctors are qualified to manage hospitals.

He points out that "frustrated and angry citizens called for jury service find that 20 per cent of their time is spent in trials and 80 per cent just waiting." And the same with witnesses.

He warns that the "patienct of the American people with the processes of litigation is wearing thin." He points out that while NASA has produced 58 skilled astronauts in barely a dozen years, the judicial system hasn't produced more than a handful of skilled court administrators in a century. His answer: Begin a training program for court management specialists in 60 days.

BURGER IS ALSO calling for a comprehensive examination of the whole penal system — parole, probation, prisons, their staffs, their educational and vocational programs, their standards and procedures for release.

He suggests that the nation which grants criminal defendants more safeguards than any other ought to do better, rehabilitating more of those who are convicted and sent to prison. He makes the arresting suggestion that consideration be given to "separating the sentencing from the fact-finding function of the court."

The chief justice is not less outspoken in urging that the law schools get into the 20th Century. "The modern law school," he says, "is not fulfilling its basic duty to provide society with people-oriented and problem-oriented counselors and advocates to meet the broad social needs of our changing world." He makes this comparison:

"Perhaps we may shed light on the problem by asking whether we could train doctors simply by having them do autopsies for five years in medical school and then wind up with one course on how to examine and question and diagnose a live patient."

BURGER IS GOING to be heard from quite often — and to good effect.

Since Congress must play a decisive role in judicial reform, wouldn't it be valuable and fitting for Congress to invite the chief justice of the United States to address it on the state of the law?

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Thurmond's Role Cloudy In Choice Of Justice

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.'s elevation from southern obscurity to the limelight of the Supreme Court sheds little additional information on Sen. J. Strom Thurmond's influence in the Nixon administration.

It can be argued, with almost equal soundness, that the choice of Haynsworth is a rebuff or a coup for the segregationist senator, regarded as Nixon's top political ally south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

THOSE WHO TEND to discredit Thurmond's impact on Nixon can point to the record and show that Haynsworth was not the senator's choice.

On the other hand, those who remember Thurmond's role at the convention which nominated Nixon cannot overlook the fact that Haynsworth would be the first Supreme Court jurist from South Carolina since James F. Byrnes.

Both sides can make a good argument.

Although Thurmond did not recommend Haynsworth to Nixon, he did not block him and regards him as well qualified for the Supreme Court. There will be no objection from Thurmond when the nomination reaches the Senate.

Thurmond recommended Donald S. Russell, a former governor and senator and now a U.S. District Judge. That recommendation was somewhat surprising because Russell and Thurmond share neither politics nor philosophy.

ON THE OTHER side, it can be argued that the Nixon administration never really seriously considered Russell and that Thurmond's recommendation was really a throwaway.

What counted, this argument runs, is that Thurmond did not object to Haynsworth. In fact, a full-fledged endorsement from Thurmond might have been more damaging than helpful for Haynsworth.

Now Nixon can offer the nomination of the 56-year-old Haynsworth to the country, free of a Thurmond endorsement which might have made him non-acceptable to liberals in both parties despite his record.

Militant and self-righteous young, believing that they have personally discovered the notion of injustice, trumpet their contempt for the past — thereby proving only that they had not read the past. For had they read the past, they would have encountered their own mirror image a thousand times. — Stephen K. Bailey.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

There's a dare-devil racing driver at Le Mans who is also a bit of a punster. When his car crashed into a barrier he surveyed the wreckage philosophically and murmured, "Well, that's the way the Mercedes Benz."

OVERHEARD:

At the Nassau Club: "I'll tell you what I think of my wife's cooking. When I want to punish my kid so he'll really remember, I send him to bed with dinner!"

In a brokerage office: "I almost caught a beautiful girl's eye at a debutante dinner last night — but it rolled under the table."

Will Empty Courthouse Soon Become Newest Hippie Haven?

While everyone is wondering when the Hall of Justice will open, the real problem has been overlooked — disposition of the courthouse in San Rafael.

The building will be abandoned when the courts and allied offices move to the Civic Center, and efforts by the county to sell it have flopped.

The City of San Rafael reportedly is still interested, but is the city treasury able?

A breakthrough may come when the county closes the big doors of the courthouse behind it, because no plan has been made to protect the building from vandalism. No guards are to be hired — funds for them were eliminated from last year's budget. Window barriers could be erected, but who wants to look at plywood siding?

The thought of a disintegrating landmark smack in the middle of downtown probably has city officials and merchants trembling, but this is just what the county may be counting on.

"We're going to let the place run down, let the grass grow — turn it over to the hippies," said a county official, smiling mischievously. "Then we'll see what happens."

THE BUSINESS of the planning commission took a domestic turn at the last meeting when, during discussion on Richardson Bay development, Chairman Michael Praskzer wondered whether Alexis Tellis and Meriam Tellis, both of whom own property there, were related.

"Formerly," said Mrs. Tellis to the chuckles of the audience. (They're divorced.)

THE PAY CHECKS of Supervisors Michael Wornum and John F. McInnis were switched the other week, but it's not the type of situation in which one employee gets to find out what the other guy — usually a hated rival — is making. Each of the five supervisors makes $800 a month.

Rick Cullen, a high school student working in the county parks and recreation department this summer, found a radio at Paradise Beach Park in Tiburon and gave it to Jim Vande Weg, park development coordinator, who mailed it to the owner, a fellow from Saskatchewan.

The other day, Vande Weg received a letter of thanks from the man — and a souvenir $2 Canadian bill.

FUNNY HOW the spending mind thinks, isn't it? Two weeks ago, the board of supervisors quickly voted $20,000 in county money to give attorneys a place to work in the new Hall of Justice. This past Tuesday, the board about-faced and refused to spend $65 to help bring a promising applicant for an interview for the job of community coordinator under the Marin City 701 planning program.

Several of the supervisors felt the applicant lacked initiative because he wouldn't pay the full plane fare from Seattle himself. Funny, but we felt the same way about the attorneys.

Imagery In Story Writing– Much of It Is The Reader's

It's a hot day. Too hot to write. These August days I feel like a lizard lazying on a rock, and today is one of the most lizard days of all.

The temperature in the shady breeze-way is 96, in the direct sun it must be pushing 115! So if you'll indulge me, I'll try to squeak past my editor by writing an easy column and an easy column for me is to talk about writing.

A few days ago I was in the lobby of the Hyatt House Hotel in Los Angeles talking with a few friends. One of them mentioned a column I had written some time ago, one of the "story" columns I enjoy writing every now and then, and my friend began telling it to the others.

I LISTENED with increasing amazement. He told the story accurately enough, but he had taken my little tale that can be read aloud in less than five minutes and had dressed it up into a full-blown, colorful anecdote which took about 20 minutes to unfold.

He was a splendid raconteur. And as any fine weaver of stories will, he embellished it in his own style, elaborating on the characters, a deft touch here, a bit of with there. I found myself caught up in his story of my own story. What a pleasant yet strange feeling it was!

Later, thinking about it, I marveled at his mastery of the art of story-telling. He had expanded the yarn in his own way. He had seen in it much more than I had hoped. His imagination had taken hold and had added dimensions to my story which I know I hadn't intended to be.

IT IS THIS sort of imagery excited by a novel which frequently causes the motion picture based on it to be disappointing to those who have read the book. The commonplace remark that "the movie was not as good as the book" is often the failure of the motion picture to leave anything to the imagination, or it does not live up to the imagery the book succeeded in creating in the reader's mind.

A skilled novelist or short-story writer depends on the reader's fancy to amplify and to fill in the spaces, while the motion picture, on the other hand, often distorts his imagery or restricts it.

The story teller's ability to evoke the reader's imagination and allow it to expand is the refinement of his talent and to the reader it is a disarming and illusionary quality, leading him to believe that he could have written the story himself — so simply is it written. But this is a mirage, an illusion. The deceptive reality is that the more simply told the story is, the more successfully does it perform its function and the more difficult it is to write and to rein the urge to explain and to tell all.

THE WRITER fails when he underestimates his reader's imagination and tries to dot every literary i and cross every figurative t for him, a fault all too evident in many neophyte writers.

Hemingway's short stories are classic examples of restraint and brevity. His readers fill in where filling in is needed. Stephen Crane's work provides excellent models which supply just the right springboard for the reader to take the plunge into his own imagination — where the story comes alive.

Teen-Age Trio Receives Minor Auto Injuries

Three teen-agers suffered minor head injuries yesterday when their car struck a parked car along Eliseo Drive in Greenbrae, swerved through a center divider and hit a garage door.

California Highway Patrol officers said the car driven by Steven Dale Tannehill, 16, Ross, was northbound on Eliseo Drive, north of Via La Cumbre, when it struck a parked car owned by Ruby Smith of 10 Eliseo Drive, at 3 a.m.

The car crossed the divider and into a garage door at the home of Thomas R. Harriman at 15 Eliseo Drive, officers said.

Tannehill suffered a head cut. One passenger Bradley Twoomey, 16, of 51 Via Navar-Larkspur, suffered a head cut, and another, Kent A. Harrington, 16, of 314 Via LaPaz, Larkspur, sufered a head bruise.

They were treated at Marin General Hospital.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Special Microscope A Boon To Delicate Ear Operations

VAN DELLEN

Thanks to advances in surgical technics and improved hearing aids, most people who are hard of hearing are able to compensate for their handicap. Using a special microscope, the ear specialist repairs and reconstructs tissues no larger than a pea. Antibiotics control infection, thus increasing the safety of these delicate procedures. Physicians also have expanded their knowledge of the anatomy of the hearing organ and have a better understanding of acoustics.

Conductive hearing loss is caused by an obstruction or defect in that part of the anatomy that relays sound to the inner ear. Beyond this, sound is transmitted by sensory structures in the inner ear and the acoustic nerve. Deafness due to defects in this area is not correctable via surgery; sound amplification and lip reading minimize this handicap.

SOUND ENTERS the ear through the outer canal leading to vibrations of the drum. The energy created here is transmitted along a lever mechanism (malleus, incus and stapes) and impressed into the small oval window where contact is made with the sensory and nerve centers of hearing.

Any abnormality in the outer and middle ear may interfere with the conduction of sound. Most of these defects respond to surgery. Some babies are born without an outer ear canal, and if the inner ear exists, a new canal and drum are created. Surgery of this type is not done when hearing is normal in the other ear. Other abnormalities of the ear canal and drum also are correctable.

HEARING PROBLEMS caused by injury from explosions, penetrating objects, or fractures from a blow also can be corrected. This is true of chronic infections of the mastoid and middle ear as well as hearing losses from failure of the eustachian tube to open during swallowing. Otosclerosis, last on the list of remedial defects, will be discussed tomorrow.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

PANTS ON CLIMBING

A reader writes: I'm 65 years old and thorough physical checkups indicate that I am in perfect condition. But whenever I climb a flight of stairs, I get all tuckered out. How do you explain this problem?

REPLY

Being healthy at 65 does not mean that your heart and lungs are in the same condition they were when you were 15. Panting usually is due to lack of reserve in these organs, which can be restored through graduated exercises — even at 65.

A FAT PLUG

F. C. writes: What is a fat embolism?

REPLY

A piece of fat that sloughs or breaks off into a vein and is carried to the lungs. It travels until it reaches a vessel that is too small to permit further progress. The pulmonary vessel becomes plugged by the embolus from this point on.

Cross-Examining In The Bible

Cross-examination is very old. People have always questioned a speaker to try to judge the truth of what he says.

The Thirteenth Book of Daniel tells the story of Susanna and the elders. The two elders tried to win Susanna's affection, but when they failed they tried to condemn her before the tribe, claiming that she had accepted a young man's attentions. The tribe was about to kill her when Daniel said: "Are ye so foolish, that without examination or knowledge of the truth, you have condemned a daughter of Israel?"

Daniel took each of the two elders aside and questioned them. Their conflicting stories absolved Susanna and condemned her accusers.

In a modern trial the opposing lawyer can cross-examine each witness to test his memory, his bias, and his knowledge and to bring out the whole story. Cross-examination may show the witness has an interest in the outcome of the case, or has prejudice about it which casts doubt on his credibility. Each party can have witnesses excluded during another's testimony. The judge will also order them not to discuss their testimony before trial. Each witness should testify free from the influence of other witnesses.

Often a lawyer loses his case on cross-examination when he unintentionally brings out facts which destroy his own case, or when a witness he is trying to impeach gives answers that sound convincing.

The denial or curtailing of cross-examination impairs a fair trial, the right to confront witnesses. When this occurs, a higher court often reverses such cases.

One cross-examination method is "impeachment." There the questioner intends to show that the witness may have made contradictory statements before. If so, his earlier statements or those made in the course of discovery (questions asked in proceedings before trial) may be produced in court. Inconsistencies may cause the jury to doubt or to disregard what he says.

Horse Policeman Injured In Toss

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A mounted policeman was reported in improved condition today after suffering a hairline fracture when he was tossed from his horse while chasing two robbers in Golden Gate Park.

Officer Terence M. Ryan, 24, and his horse, Jumbo, were both injured when the animal slammed into the rear of a moving car during the chase Saturday.

Richard Martin, 23, who had just arrived from Jamaica, was walking through the park when two men grabbed him and dragged him into the bushes. Martin was beaten and robbed of $12 and a wrist watch.

Girl, 14, Dies In Crater Lake Fall

CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK, Ore. (UPI)—Tina Bazzett, 14, yesterday was walking along a popular trail on the rim of Crater Lake in this Oregon park. She was headed for the boat launching area for a boat trip around the lake.

But she apparently lost her balance and fell 100 feet to her death on the shore of the lake.

The Stockton, Calif., girl was walking with her home town companion, Charlotte Miller, on Cleetwood Cove trail, a path the acting park superintendent Paul Larson, said is "fairly well used."

A doctor at the scene said the girl died upon hitting the ground.

Cyclist's Injuries Minor In Collision

California Highway Patrol officers said Arsenault's westbound cycle collided with a southbound car driven by Fred Louis Swan, 54, of 1261 48th Avenue, San Francisco, at 5:20 p.m. Arsenault told officers he would be treated by his own doctor.

Train Loaded With Poison Gas Is Near Destination

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Railroad police guarded a train carrying 210 tons of poisonous gas today as it sat at a secluded siding on the outskirts of the city waiting to take the last four-and-one-half-mile leg of a cross-country journey that stirred widespread controversy.

The train was to be moved to the VanDeMark Chemical Co., which uses the gas in the production of pesticides, dyes, pharmaceuticals and plastics.

The gas — surplus phosgene from World War I — is part of two shipments to different sections of the country from the Army's Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Colorado. The other shipment was to Geismar, La.

State Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-Buffalo, had called the canisters in which the gas was being transported unsafe. He said they were corroded.

A VanDeMark spokesman, however, said the canisters were in good condition.

Auto Is Looted Of Guitar, Clothing

Gary Motchwick of 760 Corona Road, Petaluma, told police yesterday that a guitar and clothing had been stolen from his car while parked at the rear of the Spa Tavern, 18 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Taken was a guitar valued at $200, eight shirts, six pairs of slacks, two sport coats and an electric iron.

The Perfect Children's Program

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—The perfect children's program, if such a thing exists, should also attract adults to the tube and all networks spend a lot of time seeking the elusive point at which the interests of the generations coincide.

On a school playing field in Ridgefield, Conn., one sunny day recently Jacqueline Babbin helped rehearse a group of subteenagers for a scene in one of the plays of "CBS Children's Hour," the program her network hopes will enthrall offspring and parent alike.

BETTER ADVENTURES

Mayhem is, of course, the easiest way to capture the small fry audience but this year, with Washington's censorious eye on their product, the networks are trying to appeal to the better natures, if any, of the little darlings.

"This is a fascinating project," said Miss Babbin while the children took their places as players and spectators at what will appear on the screen as a school baseball game. "There's nothing else like it at all. It's not the cartoon route. It's not the sweet route. It's not entertainment for the sake of entertainment. We've got some suspense and some laughs to keep kids glued to their sets but at the end of it we hope they'll also feel they've learned something."

The hope is that mum and dad will not say "sit and watch that," but "let's sit and watch that."

FIRST OF THREE

The first of the three plays Miss Babbin is preparing was "Summer is Forever" by Broadway playwright Alvin Boretz. It stars Gary Merrill as a Maine lobster fisherman and it is intended, according to Miss Babbin, to convey the thought that dreamers can also be doers and that friendship is a form of cooperation.

The second, "Toby," being filmed at Ridgefield, is the story of a 9-year-old near-genius who learns that his brain may be adult but his heart is that of a small boy. It stars Robert Hennessy.

McLain Calls Charley Finley 'Bush'

OAKLAND (AP) — Pitcher Denny McLain of the Detroit Tigers celebrated his 19th victory of the season by launching a verbal blast at owner Charles O. Finley of the Oakland Athletics.

An hour after yesterday's 9-1 win, McLain was still angry over what he termed "bush" tactics by Finley, who ordered Oakland Coliseum organist Lloyd Fox to play loud music while McLain was pitching in the first inning.

"I expected elephants to come marching in from center field with Charlie O. — the man not the mule— leading the way," McLain said, "I don't know if Finley wants to own a baseball team or a three-ring circus."

Finley had promised he would use organ music to upset McLain and he lived up to the boast. It bothered McLain to the extent that he gave up the two-run homer to Oakland's Reggie Jackson in the first inning, his 43rd of the year.

"That's the kind of stuff that is bush," McLain said." You don't hear peoople talking when musicians are playing and I don't expect musicians to play when I'm pitching.

He complained to plate umpire Bill Stewart about the organ music and Stewart called Oakland Manager Hank Bauer out of the dugout for a talk. After that the music stopped.

"I don't think Bauer liked it either," McLain said "He has some good ball players. If Finley wants to do that bush stuff, he should buy one of those Global League teams."

Writers covering the game couldn't hear the music in the press box because of the acoustics of the stadium.

"You guys didn't miss anything," McLain said to writers.

Jackson was the only other player who commented on the music. "It bothered me the first time I was up," he said, "I couldn't concentrate."

Jackson tried to get the orgainist to stop playing by waving his bat at him.

Sunday's defeat dropped the A's two games behind the Minnesota Twins in the American League West race.

CAROLAN HURTS KNEE; TO UNDERGO SURGERY

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A key injury had the Kansas City Chiefs, winners of three straight pre-season football games, worried today.

A Chiefs spokesman said that tight end Reg Carolan of Novato would undergo knee surgery to repair damage sustained in Kansas City's 23-7 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals Saturday night at Jackson, Miss.

The surgery is expected to sideline Carolan, former Drake High School star, for most of the season. He had moved up to the No. 1 position this year when Fred Arbanas moved to tackle.

Thank Goodness For The Grass

I'm indebted to the City of San Francisco's Parks and Recreation Department for reseeding the playing surface of Kezar Stadium. Unveiled yesterday for the first time this season, the gridiron was a beautiful blanket in two shades of green, the darker shade representing the newer turf. Three cheers for the gardeners.

A crowd of 33,894 nature lovers turned out yesterday afternoon to watch the new grass grow. It was the most excitement of the day.

The germination process was hampered however, by a bunch of helmeted grown trespassers dressed in funny outfits with numbers on their shirts, pants not quit long enough, knocking each other down and clumsily playing catch with an oblate spheroid known as a football. There were called the San Francisco 49ers and the Dallas Cowboys.

But Why Spoil It?

Why they would have to spoil the exciting spectacle of growing grass is beyond me, but the promoters billed their performance as a pre-season game that has to rank as the dullest two and one half hours 33,894 paying suckers have ever spent. I've seen more action in the consolation semifinals of the Sausalito Pattycake Tournament.

The fact that Dallas won a 20-17 decision shouldn't send 49er filberts rushing to the bridge rail. Coach Dick Nolan stuck to his game plan of testing his younger talent. It wasn't exactly a Who's Who lineup San Francisco fielded; more like Who's That?, particularly on offense with a lot of youngsters getting their chances.

The Niner defense was dominated by veterans and they did a capable job against the offensive-minded Cowboys who used their number one quarterback, Craig Morton, most of the game.

Brodie In First Half

Nolan, meanwhile, used numero uno QB John Brodie only for the first half, during which old moneybags salvaged a 10-10 tie and completed 11 passes, 3 to Dallas. Two weren't really his fault, though, as a gust of wind spoiled one and a fallen receiver the other.

The second half saw the demotion of George Mira from second string quarterback to third string, changing positions with Steve Spurrier. Mira also changed places with Brodie as Kezar's No. 1 Boo Bird. Now John-John's only a half-harassed quarterback while the mere mention of Mira's name excites an unfriendly roar from the grandstands after his second straight odiferous performance. He played all the third quarter and briefly in the fourth, completing two passes for eight yards. The five passes he missed were poorly thrown.

For the second straight Sunday Spurrier showed he can move the team, but in both cases, it must be remembered, he was operating against a "prevent defense" which concedes short passes. Nolan will probably give him a better test against the Brocos in Denver this Saturday night.

Top Picks Used Sparingly

San Francisco's two top draft choices were used only sparingly. Flanker Gene Washington caught one pass for four yards and injured an eye; tight end Ted Kwalick payed the second half but they didn't throw to him because the late arrival hasn't learned the system yet.

Rookies Bill Wondolowski from Eastern Montana and Gene Moore of Occidental were the principal pass receivers with four and three catches, respectively, but they don't figure prominently in the future.

I think most fans will be patient with Nolan's slow process of eliminating excess baggage from the squad. These games are only for funsies. When they start playing for keepsies on Sept. 21 the Niners will be contenders. In fact, I think when they play the Raiders in Oakland on Aug. 31 you will get a preview of what the real 49ers will look like in 1969. They'll be contenders, alright.

Meantime, give a few cheers to the Kezar gardener for averting a totally wasteful day.

49ERS LOSE

A Rookie Runs Wild

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—If Dallas rookie running back Calvin Hill becomes another Jim Brown or Ollie Matson, the San Francisco 49ers can at least claim they helped discover him.

The former Yale star captured the fancy of a partisan crowd of 33,894 fans at Kezar Stadium yesterday in a Dallas exhibition victory not as close as the 20-17 score indicates.

The 6-foot-4, 227-pound Hill, who is deceptively fast, gained 106 yards in 16 carries for a 6.6 average. His longest gain was 27.

NULLIFIED

Hill also hauled in a 60-yard scoring pass that was nullified by a penalty, and caught three other passes for 28 yards.

"I saw today what we drafted No. 1," smiled Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who brought up the comparison with Matson, former University of San Francisco and pro running great.

"Matson looked quicker," added Landry, "but Hill stretches for four yards at a time."

"Our type of play is tailored for him," he said. "He dosn't have the quick moves of a smaller runner, but he's dangerous in the open."

MARGIN

The margin of victory turned out to be one of Mike Clark's field goals for Dallas. He booted one for 22-yards for the first score of the game and broke a 10-10 halftime tie with a 21-yarder early in the third quarter.

In between his kicks, Dallas' Mike Gaechter returned a pass interception 25 yards for a touchdown, San Francisco's Tommy Davis booted a nine-yard field goal and 49er quarterback John Brodie scored on a one-yard keeper.

San Francisco's Steve Spurrier sparked a late 80-yard drive, hitting rookie receiver Bill Wondolowski of Eastern Montana State on passes of 17, 11 and 19 yards.

Spurrier threw three yards to rookie Gene Moore of Occiental for the final 49er score with 28 seconds left.

"We had our second defensive unit in during the last drive," commented Landry, "but it's always hard to take your first team out. I was proud of our defense in the third quarter," when Spurrier and George Mira were handcuffed by strong rushes.

"I thought Brodie played a good game," despite three first-half interceptions, said Nolan. "On Gaechter's interception, the ball popped out of Bob Windsor's hands."

Giant Hurling Earns Split

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Consoled by a pitching renaissance in their weekend series with the hard-hitting Chicago Cubs, the San Francisco Giants began their final eastern swing of the season.

The Cubs, comfortably ahead in the Eastern Division, mustered only nine runs in the four-game series yet emerged with a 2-2 standoff that left the clubs tied 6-6 at the conclusion of their season play.

San Francisco's bullpen, a sore spot all season, didn't allow the Cubs a hit in 7 2-3 innings yesterday, but Chicago won the second game of a doubleheader 3-1 after the Giants took the opener 5-3.

Willie Mays' three-run homer gave starter Bob Bolin a lead in the first game, but it took Frank Linzy's dazzling relief and a two-run, seventh-inning single by Bobby Bonds to produce the win.

Linzy, 10-6, held the Cubs hitless for 3 2-3 innings, allowing only one ball to reach the outfield.

Cubs' starter Dick Selma, 12-4, and relievers Rich Nye and Phil Regan collaborated on a four-hitter to give Chicago the split of the twin bill.

Singles by Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Ron Santo chased Bolin in the sixth. With Mike McCormick pitching, Beckert stole third and scored on catcher Dick Dietz' overthrow for a 3-3 tie. That brought in Linzy.

Selma walked the bases loaded in the first inning of the nightcap but survived the scare

PGA Champ Learns A Lesson

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Ray Floyd, one of the young rising stars on the professional tour, says he learned a lesson from his one-stroke victory in the 51st PGA Championship.

"After today, I know I'll never play safe again. It's not my game," he said after edging slick Gary Player for the coveted title.

The 26-year-old native of North Carolina skidded to a 74 yesterday for a 72-hole score of 276 en route to his third tour victory and his first major triumph in an eight-year career. He was eight-under par for the distance.

'LUCKY'

"I feel lucky," said the handsome, curly-haired pro. "It's a good thing none of the others had a hot round. I can only remember five or six shots I was pleased with."

San Rafael Braves Win; Retain Lead

San Rafael Braves had to struggle from behind to win the first game and breezed through the nightcap yesterday, sweeping a doubleheader from Watsonville to stay on top of the San Jose Traveling Semi-Pro Baseball League.

The clutch hitting shortstop Dave Edson and great relief pitching by Ben Burch and Braves a 4-2 first game victory in eight innings while Wayne Burd and Art Blunt starred at bat behind Jim Lavick's five-hit pitching in a 9-1 second game victory.

10-2 RECORD

The results gave San Rafael a 10-2 won-lost record in league play with only two games remaining next Sunday in Monterey.

The Braves, who now have nine consecutive victories and a 30-7 season record, had to come from behind in the opener at the

El Molino Nine Captures DiMaggio Tournament Crown

El Molino of Forestville, a team with an ocean-deep pitching staff, is the champion of the regional Joe DiMaggio League Tournament which wound up at Albert Field in San Rafael yesterday.

El Molino roared past Best Products of San Francisco, 9-4, in the final game yesterday to cop the trophy and a trip to the state finals at Billy Hebert Field in Stockton Thursday through Sunday.

El Molino used five different starters in winning four games and losing a 1-0 decision to Best Products yesterday.

Myers Safety Switch of San Francisco, unbeaten prior to Saturday, drew a complete blank, losing to El Molino, 5-0 — with Walt Sweeney of Petaluma High School throwing a no-hitter for the winners — and 2-0 to Best Products.

Best Products, after losing its opener to El Molino Thursday, 4-2, came back to down Annex Motors and Meyers Safety Switch Saturday, and took a 1-0 must game from El Molino yesterday, only to lose the final game.

Bruce Blackman hurled a two-hitter in Best Products' 1-0 win over El Molino, driving in the winning run by drawing a walk with the bases loaded in the bottom of the sixth inning.

It was no contest in the final game, as El Molino roared off to a 9-0 lead in the first four innings behind the pitching of Bob Lefor. Lefor held on to a shutout for six innings before the losers erupted for four runs in the final inning.

Sweeney walked three and struck out six batters in his no-hitter.

Annex Motors got only three hits against Best Products. The team was in the game briefly when Dewy Forry walked, stole second and scored on an error in the second inning for a brief 1-1 tie.

Mistakes Cost Both Raiders, Chargers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers' inability to score touchdowns is getting to be a psychological hangup.

That was coach Sid Gillman's view Saturday night after his Chargers scored their second preseason success in three games, a 10-7 decision over the Oakland Raiders. In 12 quarters of play, San Diego's offense has produced just one touchdown.

"We'll get our offense going," Gillman said. "When we go back to camp I am going to take them to the goal line and show them that there is no big fence around it."

Charger quarterback John Hadl added: "The team is beginning to jell but everytime we get near the goal line something happens to ruin the drive, like penalties or mistakes."

The Chargers lost the ball once when Dick Post fumbled and Oakland's Ike Lassiter recovered in the end zone. Leslie Duncan's 69-yard punt return, which would have put San Diego inside the Oakland 10, was nullified by a penalty.

The Raiders also were hurt by penalties, losing touchdowns for infractions during George Atkinson's 62-yard punt return and Daryle Lamonica's 14-yard end zone pass to Warren Wells.

"You can't expect to win when you lose three touchdowns and miss three field goals," Oakland coacch John Madden said.

Besides the plays nullified by penalties, Madden said he thought Rod Sherman was in the end zone when he caught a pass from Lamonica in the third quarter.

The official ruled otherwise and Oakland had to attempt a 17-yard field goal. George Blanda's effort was wide of the mark, as were his kicks from 37 and 38-yards out.

Defense saved the day for San Diego, as linebacker Rick Redman scored the go-ahead points in the third quarter by returning an intercepted pass 24-yards for a touchdown.

The Raiders had taken the lead on a 32-yard touchdown pass from Lamonica to Wells, and San Diego didn't get on the scoreboard until 20-seconds were left in the first half on Dennis Partee's 33-yard field goal.

Madden was not vocally upset over the loss.

"Two good things: We were able to use Tom Keating for three or four series in the second period. Also, Hewritt Dixon was able to run, block and catch passes."

Defensive tackle Keating and fullback Dixon have been hampered by injuries.

and had a no-hitter until Bonds blasted his 22nd homer with one down in the fifth.

Rookie Ron Bryant, 2-1, made his second start of the season and was touched for Chicago's scoring in the fourth and fifth.

Billy Williams' walk, Santo's single, Ernie Banks' sacrifice and Bryant's wild pitch opened the scoring in the fourth. Kessinger's two-out single, Beckert's double, Williams' single and an error added two runs in the fifth.

Selma was lifted after Bonds and Ron Hunt singled with two out in the seventh. Nye took over and used only two pitches before pinch-hitter Jim Hart grounded to the mound.

FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Some Long Faces In New York Area

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The reddest faces belong to that army of National Football League die-hards, who argued in January after Joe Namath pitched the American League New York Jets to a Super Bowl victory over the NFL kingpin Baltimore Colts that Namath wasn't really for real and that the Jets played far over their heads.

The Giants, who occupied the New York football throne for nearly 4½ decades and saw it crumble beneath them in less than three hours yesterday, will vouch for the fact that Namath is very much for real and that the Jets deserve their status as pro football's world champions.

HUGE CROWD

Some 70,874 spectators jammed Yale Bowl in New Haven, Conn., and watched the Jets clobber the proud Giants 37-14.

Namath insulted the Giants pass defense by completing 14 of 16 tosses for 188 yards and three touchdowns.

So, once again, the cocky and controversial Namath, as he did in the Super Bowl, made good his pre-game boast:

"I don't think too many people are going to take the Giants seriously any more."

In yesterday's other exhibition games, the Atlanta Falcons bombed the Boston Patriots 34-16 and the Dallas Cowboys nipped the San Francisco 49ers 20-17.

OTHER SCORES

Seven games were played Saturday night. The Cleveland Browns downed the Los Angeles Rams 10-3, the San Diego Chargers edged the Oakland Raiders 10-7, the Chicago Bears ripped the Green Bay Packers 19-9, the Kansas City Chiefs routed the Cincinnati Bengals 23-7, the St. Louis Cardinals tripped the Pittsburgh Steelers 27-13, the Philadelphia Eagles defeated the Miami Dolphins 14-10 and the New Orleans Saints stopped the Denver Broncos 28-12.

Friday night's only action saw the Baltimore Colts squeeze by the Houston Oilers 33-29 and the Detroit Lions beat the Buffalo Bills 24-12.

PAYOFF PITCHES

Namath's payoff pitches were a 29-yarder to George Sauer, 20 yards to Bill Mathis and two yards to Pete Lammons. Rookie Mike Battle of Southern California got another Jet touchdown when he rembled 86 yards on a punt return. Fran Tarkenton passed for both Giants touchdowns, 13 yards to Aaron Thomas and 48 yards to Bobby Duhon.

Jim Butler scored twice in the Falcons' conquest of Boston, once on a 76-yard gallop. After spotting the Patriots a 6-0 lead on Gino Cappelletti's 23-yard and 50-yard field goals, the Falcons assumed command and led 17-6 at halftime.

Floyd Says He Learned A Lesson

African bidding for his second PGA conquest, finished with a 70 for 277. He started the day five strokes back, rallied to within one shot going to the 16th hole but missed a six-foot putt for a crushing bogey while Floyd was rolling in a 35-footer for a birdie.

Player, apparent target of civil rights demonstrators Saturday, finished second for the fifth time this year.

Threats of further disturbances aimed at disrupting the tournament failed to materialize. Not one single incident occurred on the rugged par 71, 6,915-yard NCR Course, which at times resembled an armed camp with about 125 special security officers bolstered by some 90 uniformed policemen from Dayton and other cities. Floyd and Player, paired in the last playsome, were accompanied by a cordon of eight uniformed police officers.

PICKETS

About a dozen pickets from a Dayton organization, all white, marched at the entrance of the country club course, but they were orderly.

The muscular bachelor's winnings, $35,000, boosted him from 14th to fifth place on the money list with $109,469. He had scored triumphs at Jacksonville and Akron.

Jim Turnesa, 55-year-old former PGA champ, spiced final action with a hole-in-one, using a five-iron on the 176-yard No. 8. It was the first PGA ace since George Knudson rang one up in 1965 and the 12th hole-in-one on the tour this season.

Pedlar Triumphs

San Rafael Braves Retain League Lead

host Watsonville team held an early 2-0 lead. The Braves halved the deficit in the fifth inning when Paul Lee singled, stole second and scored on Carl Gordon's double.

With one out in the seventh, the last regulation inning, Edson started his batting heroics by singling, stealing second, and scoring the tying run on a pinch single by Oscar Matthews.

BURCH SHARP

Burch struck out the side in the bottom of the seventh and after a walk to Art Blum and back-to-back doubles by Edson and Mark Newsom gave San Rafael two eighth inning runs, he retired the side in order in the bottom of the eighth, two by strikeouts. Burch, who pitched just the two innings, now has an 8-1 record.

The nightcap was a breeze as the Braves backed Lavick's 11 strikeout pitching with 14 hits, including a pair of two run 375-foot home runs by Burd, two singles and a double Blunt and two singles apiece by Rocky Shone and Edson. The latter, filling in for absent shortstop Tom Corder, also starred afield.

SOME AIR, PLEASE—Mike Burton of the Arden Hills (Sacramento) Swim Club, gulps for air as he nears the end of his record-breaking swim in the men's 1,500-meter freestyle race in the AAU National Swimming and Diving Championships at Louisville, Ky. Burton broke his own world record in winning on a 16:04.5 time.

U.S. Swimmers Show Their Power

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — On the basis of performances at the 1969 National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships here, prospects for American domination of aquatic event at the 1972 Olympic Games appeared splendid.

Seven world swimming records were shattered by Americans in the five-day meet, which ended last night.

Gary Hall, 18, a Californian who is headed for Indiana University this fall, led the way by setting three new world marks in the men's 200-meter individual medley, 200-meter backstroke and 400-meter individual medley.

Hall's performance and a world record in the men's 400-meter freestyle by Hans Fassnacht gave the men's AAU team title to Phillips 66 of Long Beach. Fassnacht, from Mannheim, West Germany, attends California State College at Long Beach.

The Arden Hills Swim Club, Carmichael, won the women's AAU team title. The Santa Clara Swim Club, champions in both the men's and women's competition for the past five years, finished second in both divisions at this year's meet.

UCLA's Mike Burton, at 22 one of the oldest competitors, set two world records. Burton, who won a gold medal in the 1968 Olympic Games at Mexico City in the men's 1500-meter freestyle, bettered his own world record in the event yesterday.

His times of 16:04.5 and 8:28.8 for 800-meters snapped the marks he set last year.

Debbie Meyer, who won four gold medals in Mexico City, broke her own world mark of 17:31 in the women's 1500-meter freestyle yesterday. Miss Meyer's time of 17:19.9 was only one-tenth of one second ahead of her Arden Hill's teammate, Vicky King.

The other new world record came Thursday in the women's year-old Susie Atwood of the Lakewood Aquatic Club covered the distance in 2:21.5.

Miss King added the women's platform title yesterday to her earlier victory in the women's three-meter springboard event. The 25-year-old Miss King from Torrence also finished second in one-meter diving.

That title was won by Cynthia Potter, an Indiana University student from Houston, Tex.

Henry, a senior at Indiana University, did nearly as well as Miss King as he won both the men's one-meter and three-meter springboard titles. He finished fourth in the platform event, captured by Dick Rydze of the University of Michigan.

Fifteen-year-old Sue Pedersen, who won the women's 100 and 200-meter freestyle races, received a special award yesterday.

The California miss was presented with the J.H. Pickett award as the swimmer who scored the most points this year in the indoor and outdoor AAU meets.

Pickett was the Yale coach who led five American teams into the Olympic games.

Hub Softballers Take Opener

HEALDSBURG — Sohner Tree Service softballers trimmed Yates and Cochran of Napa, 6-2, yesterday in opening round play in the Windsor "Tournament of Champions."

The San Anselmo club will play tonight at 9 o'clock against either Vallejo or Santa Rosa.

Bill Archer's two-run homer in the first and Jess Munyon's run-producing double in the fourth gave the Treemen a 3-0, lead but the Napa champions rallied for two runs in the sixth to make it close.

Sohner iced the game in the bottom of the sixth on singles by Munyon and John Brookman, an infield out and Denny Coleman's two-run homer.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Race Is More Like War

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It isn't a pennant race in the National League West, it's a war, and the team that makes it to the playoffs will be a survivor, not a winner.

The race became close enough yesterday to throw a handkerchief over it as first-place Cincinnati lost to Pittsburgh, 8-5, while Los Angeles rallied to beat Montreal, 9-3, and move within a game of the Reds.

TRADE BLOWS

San Francisco, Houston and Atlanta continued to trade blows, each 2½ games off the pace, as the Giants split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning, 5-3 and losing, 3-1, the Astros edged Philadelphia, 3-2, and the Braves lost to St. Louis, 5-3. In other action, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader from San Diego, 3-2 and 3-2.

Rookie Bill Sudakis ignited a seven-run Dodger rally in the ninth inning to beat Montreal.

The Reds were beaten despite homers by Alex Perez, Pete Rose, Johnny Bench, and Bobby Tolan, because the Pirates had a three-run homer from Gene Alley and solo blasts by Al Oliver and Willie Stargell, plus a little more pitching than Cincinnati.

SACRIFICE FLY

Mike Shannon's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the seventh provided the winning run for the Cardinals after the Braves had stormed into a 3-3 tie on back-to-back home runs by Hank Aaron and Rico Carty in the sixth.

Sandy Valdespino stole home in the first inning and Doug Rader hit his ninth home run of the year for the Astros, who snapped a streak of 39 scoreless innings by Philadelphia pitchers when Valdespino scored with two out in the first.

Duffy Dyer hit a three-run homer in the seventh of the opener and Bud Harrelson tripled home two runs in the seventh of the nightcap to lift the Mets to a four-game sweep over the sagging Padres, the only team not involved in the torrid Western Division race.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Cowan Misses Bunt, Then Hits Homer

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Somewhere in the mumble, jumble of coach's hand signals, the word had gone out. Billy Cowan was supposed to bunt.

Jay Johnstone, leading off third base, knew it. Manager Lefty Phillips, in the dugout knew it. Coach Mike Roarke, who flashed the signal from third, knew it.

Just about everybody who had to know about it, knew about it. Everybody that is, except Billy Cowan.

GOOD SPOT

California was trailing Cleveland 6-5 in the eighth inning with runners on first and third and Cowan was pinch hitting for Bill Voss. A good spot for the squeeze, decided Manager Phillips.

Johnstone broke from third on Juan Pizarro's pitch and Cowan, realizing too late that the squeeze was on, missed his hurried wing and Johnstone was an easy out.

Cowan then smacked Pizarro's next pitch for the two-run homer that won the ball game for the Angels, 7-6.

In other American League games yesterday, Detroit battered Oakland 9-4, Baltimore tripped Seattle 4-1, Boston shut out Kansas City 1-0, New York dropped Chicago 5-2 and Minnesota edged Washington 4-3 in 13 innings.

SECOND ONE

The homer was Cowan's second of the season and the fifth of the game, tying a club record for the Angels.

Rick Reichardt had opened the eighth with his second homer of the game, narrowing Cleveland's lead to one run. Bubba Morton and Jim Spencer also connected for the Angels.

Ker Harrelson had a two-run shot for the Indians.

Tom Phoebus pitched Baltimore to its fifth straight victory and 11th in the last 12 games as the high-flying Orioles remained 16½ games in front in the East Division by whipping Seattle.

HOME RUNS

Dave May, Don Buford and Brooks Robinson all tagged home runs to account for all the Baltimore scoring. Don Mincher had three hits including a homer for the Pilots.

Boston's Vicente Romo, making only his third major league start, got relief help from Sparky Lyle and Sonny Siebert and the Red Sox blanked Kansas City.

Singles by Mike Andrews and Reggie Smith sandwiched around an infield out in the sixth inning accounted for the game's only run. Lyle rescued Romo from an eighth inning jam and Siebert shut off a ninth inning Royals' threat.

Jimmie Hall tied the game with a two-run homer in the fourth and then cracked a double that started New York's three-run winning rally in the seventh as the Yankees whipped Chicago.

A good time was had by all at the annual Board Meeting of Sincerity Products Corporation—a six-million-dollar concern.

Board Chairman Douglas Craig decided to raise his products' prices without improving his products.

The staff understood the decision as Craig explained the need to keep up with a rising economy. He also explained his desire for more potted palms in the lobby and a major renovation of the two-year-old building's decor.

This is one case of piggyness.

This is one cause of inflation.

Inflation can be stopped. Of course, Government must do the big part. But, as shoppers, voters, wage earners, and businessmen, each of us can help.

So let's do it.

Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council and The International Newspaper Advertising Executives.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Aug. 18, the 230th day of 1969 with 135 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1856 the Patent Office approved condensed milk but doubted it would ever be of much commercial value.

In 1914 Germany declared war in Russia.

In 1940 the United States and Canada established a plan of joint defense.

A thought for the day: Miguel de Cervantes said, "Fortune may have yet a better success in reserve for you, and they who lose today may win tomorrow."

Lunar Homesteading Applications Already

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Two Tulsa University students have filed homesteading and mining claims with the Bureau of Land Management for land in the Sea of Tranquility area of the moon.

They sent along photos taken by the Ranger 8 moon craft, and contended that as U.S. taxpayers they are part owners of Ranger 8. They based their claim on the fact they were first to apply, but were turned down because of a clause that applicants must establish residence for six months before filing a claim.

South's Bidding Yields Clue For Correct Line Of Defense

Is there a sound when a tree falls in a forest from which all animal life has departed? Or is there a sound only when there are ears to hear it? The problem sometimes arises in a bridge hand, where the average player has no ears to hear the lead that the bidding shrieks for.

GOOD EARS

When today's hand was played, West had a good pair of bridge ears. His unorthodox lead of declarer's side suit defeated the contract.

West knew that South had five hearts and four spades since South had bid hearts before showing the spades, this is done in standard bidding systems only when the lower suit is longer than the higher suit.

KNEW OF HEARTS

West knew also that dummy would show up with at least three hearts since North had raised hearts. This accounted for eight of the 13 hearts, and West had three more in his own hand. East could have only two hearts at most.

West led the ace of hearts and continued with a heart. No matter how quickly South tried trumps, West was sure to get in with the king of spades in time to lead a third heart that East could ruff. Then the ace of clubs provided the setting trick.

ORTHODOX LEAD

The average player would miss the clues provided by the bidding and would make the orthodox opening lead of the jack of diamonds. This would pose no problem to declarer, who would promtply draw trumps. South would lose one spade, one heart and one club, making his game contract.

When your partner bids, you are expected to understand what he is trying to tell you about the length of his suits. No law forbids you to listen to the opponents.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one club, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ 8 6 5 3
♥ J 10 9
♦ K Q 4 3 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond. Since you have six points in high cards you can afford to respond to your partner's opening bid. Show your suit and shut up shop unless your partner makes a jump in a new suit. Your hand is worth only one response.

Sun Keeps On Shining In St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—The City of St. Petersburg proudly boasts that its nickname is the "Sunshine City," and there appears little room to challenge this.

On Feb. 9, 1969, the city recorded its 731st consecutive day in which the sun had not failed to shine, and began its third year on a sunny note.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Young Building Firm Enjoys Rapid Growth

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have a few thousand dollars which I would like to invest in an over-the-counter stock. Could you give me your ideas? — W. M.

A. Although Mouldings, Inc. has been approved for American Exchange listing, it has, since initial offering last January, traded over-the-counter.

Since its founding in 1964, sales have risen from $408,217 to $25.4 million in the April, 1969, fiscal year. Earnings have also increased consistently from 2 cents to 92 cents a share, based on shares outstanding at the year-end. Sales of the company's prefinished wood mouldings are 50 per cent to mobile home manufacturers and industrial builders and 50 per cent to do-it-yourself consumers. A plastic pregrained moulding, introduced this year, has been readily accepted. Allied product lines and mouldings fabriciated from materials such as compressed wood fibers are being developed.

Profit margins broadened in fiscal 1969 to 8.9 per cent from 6.9 per cent. Seven acquisitions, for 38,677 Mouldings shares and $240,150 in cash, have been completed since August, 1968. Aquisitions from date of purchase—contributed an aggregate 19 cents cents a share to 1969 earnings. Current asset ratio is a healthy 2.7 to 1 and about 30 per cent of this is cash and marketable securities.

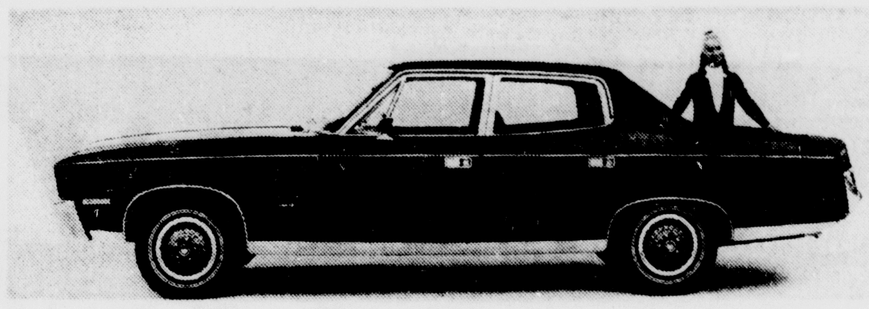
With 71 per cent of the shares family owned, the floating supply of stock is thin and the multiple rather rich at 38x 1969 fiscal results. Use caution in acquiring shares.

Q. I have been requested to exchange my shares of Kentucky Fried Chicken for another company of that name in Delaware. What should I do? — G. S.

A. Exchange them. The company originally incorporated in Kentucky is requesting holders of these original shares to accept an equal number in its newly incorporated Delaware company. The old shares are to be delisted when the number of round-lot holders drops to under 900. Six-months earnings of 85 cents a share, up 70 per cent, were achieved on a 60 per cent gain in gross income to $93 million. Full-year estimates of $1.20 to $1.30 are "reasonable," according to the company president.

Bonds For Projects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. will sell $20 million in 30-year first mortgage bonds Dec. 4. Proceeds will be used for construction projects and to reduce bank loans.



NEW REAR STYLING FOR AMBASSADOR

American Motors' Ambassador sedans and hardtops are longer to accommodate styling changes. Station wagons remain at 207 inches overall. Seven models in the 1970 Ambassador lineup include four-door sedans, two-door hardtops and station wagons. Air conditioning continues to be standard. Cars will go on sale Sept. 25 at Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley; Dexter Rambler, San Rafael, and Anderson Motor Co., Novato.

Stock Market On Stronger Side In Moderate Trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks closed strong today in moderate trading. Carryover demand from last week and an easing of some short term bankers' acceptance rates helped support the list.

Issues on the upswing included steels, rails, electronics and several chemicals and oils. The stronger tone was described as an extension of last week's late demand.

Among the most active isues were Natomas, Eastern Gas & Fuel, Texaco and First Charter Financial.

Reading & Bates, a drilling firm, also attracted demand, while the balance of the oil group generally traded in narrow ranges in the absence of corporate news.

Several electronics ranged about 1 to 2 higher, but such favorites as General Electric, RCA, Honeywell and Sperry Rand for the most part moved in narrower ranges and in both directions.

Steels added small amounts, as did many chemicals. Motors and airlines were mixed.

Employee Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Allied Chemical Corp. has announced it intends to buy up to 200,000 shares of its own stock for use in employee benefit plans and for other corporate purposes.
